AUTOISTS TO USE KEROSENE

Standard Oil President Says Gasoline Supply is Shortening.

OIL FIELDS ARE PLAYING OUT

Alleman Declares Kerosene Will Be Just as Good and Much More Economical Than Gasoline

for Autos.

"The high price of gasoline, due to the insufficient supply in the oil fields, will mean that automobiles will eventually be run with kerosene instead of gasoline, said President Alleman of the Standard Oil company of Nebraska. "There are more heat units in kerosene than there are in gasoline and the only difficulty is that we cannot start automobiles with kerosene, as it is not volatile enough.

"Automobiles will have to have a little auxiliary gasoline engine to start the machine and after that kerosene can be used to go ahead with the work of driving the car. There are hundreds of stationary gasoline engines in Nebraska today that are being operated with kerosene oil and are giving perfect satisfaction. This has come about on account of the high price of gasoline. These engines are started and run for about three minutes with gasoline and are then switched over to the use of kerosene, being operated at a profitable saving of quantity and price.

Kerosene Exported. The supply of kerosene, Mr. Alleman said, was not so likely to run out, as the Standard Oil company is constantly exporting millions of gallons of kerotene and not exporting a single gallon of gasoline. This shows that the demand at that vast quantities of it are exported. Besdes the mid-continent crude oil is producing II per cent of gasoline while it is producing 36 to 40 per cent of kero-

"The advance in the last year in the pirce of gasoline," said Mr. Alleman, his last one costing $650. is due to nothing other than the advance in the price of crude oil in the vanishing off fields. No new fields are being discoveted that amount to anything, and these old ones are not meeting the demand. The automobile business, of course, has a great deal to do with this increased demand for gasoline in the inst several years."

Automobile gasolia is now selling at 1614 cents per gallon, while what is known as the Pennsylvania gasoline costs 18 cents here. Mr. Alleman says there is neally no difference except the difference in freight which goes to the railroad companies, for he says the mid-continent oil serves the purpose for automobiles as well as does the Pennsylvania, but that some people always demand Pennsylvania oil and, of course, they have to have it and have to pay the difference Both these varieties are about 5 cents higher than they were a year ago.

A Cure From The Forest

Nature in her wisdom and beneficence has provided, in her great vege table laboratory, the forest, a cure for most of the ills and ailments of humanity. Work and study have perfected the compounding of these botanical medicines and placed them at our disposal. We rely upon them first because of their ability in curing disease, and next because we can use them with the confidence that such remedies do not injure the system. Among the best of these remedies from the forest is S. S.
