Modern Woodmen Camps to Vote on Extra Session.

WILL PUT IT UP TO ALDRICH Attorneys Interested in Rate Case Believe Governor Will Not Pail to Reed Desire of Majority of Organisation.

Confident that the fight of the rank and file against the attempt of the officers of the Modern Woodmen of America to raise the insurance rates will succeed. Attorney J. J. Breen of this city, and Jack Barnett of Omaha, returned yesterday from Lincoln where they spent Wednesday in consultation with the state executive committee of the Modern Woodmen of America. Mr. Breen stated that the article published in The Bee on Wednesday relative to the visit of himself and Mr. Barnett to the capital had brought in large numbers of other fighters from the state. He stated that their discussion of the proposed rates with the executive committee had been entirely

After a long session of the committee and insurgents it was announced that the committee would forthwith take a vote in all of the camps of the state relative to the advisability of requesting an extra session of the legislature. The purpose of the call is to enact a law making it illegal for any or all officers of an insurance society to raise the rates without the consent of a majority of the members. The executive committee assured the men who are making the fight for their right to remain in the organization without paying extortionate rates, that it was only anxious to do the will of the majority. The delegates sent to confer with the committee have therefore returned feeling elated that their fight is practically won.

As to the probable call of the extra ession of the legislature Attorney Breen said if the demand were made the session would be called. He added significantly that Governor Aldrich would stop to remember that there were over 217 .-000 members of fraternal insurance organizations in Nebraska before refusing to call the extra session.

The dissatisfaction of the taxpayers is deep and it is now said that the stock yards and packing house interests of South Omaha will not oppose the measure any longer, but on the contrary, have agreed upon the advisability of the move in view of the conditions brought to light by evidence in the two suits now being heard in Omaha. Except for the professional politicians who are still determined to fight annexation unless they are "taken care of," a vast majority of the population of the city is in favor of being annexed to Omaha. Some of the bitterest fighters against the measure in former days say they are for annexation now and are only anxious that the legislature make ample provisions for all the needs of the southern section of Greater Omaha. Real estate men and business men who formerly fought annexation, are now out fighting for it on the score that property and business both will be bettered by the Officer Gillin's Reduction.

Among those who have kept tab of the vidence adduced at the ouster hearing of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, the prompt removal of Officer Mike Gillin from the plain clothes squad to the uniform rank has caused considerable comment. Gillin deposed on the stand Thursday that the law was observed in South Omaha. Attorney Ringer said publicly that Gillin had made advances to him for his support-in case the two commissioners should be ousted and asked Gillin embarrassing questions on the stand. Gillin is a patrolman and nourishes ambitions to be a captain. Recently he was thought to be in line and for no apparent reason was taken off a beat and put in plain clothes. Immediately after his deposition in Omaha he was ordered back to a beat. It is not known whether the evidence brought out in Omaha had anything to do with his

the Board of Directors of the Alton-Taxes on Roads Are Doubled.

En route to the trout streams of Idaho Judge R. S. Lovett, chairman of the executive committee and the recognised nead of the Harriman system of roads, passed through Omaha yesterday noon His car was attached to the Los Angeles Limited from Chicago and from here he went out on a special train, after a stop of half an hour. From Omaha west, Judge Lovett was ecompanied by President Mohler of the Union Pacific. At the station he was met by the official heads of the Union Pacific and Luther Drake, an old friend. Asked as to what was the meaning of the Harriman interests going into the

But the Alton is in no sense to become a part of the Union Pacific system, or to enjoy preferential treatment as a common car

Judge Lovett refused to discuss politics from any angle, stating that he is not in the game in any shape or form. head. Judge Lovett said.

The gross earnings of both the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific systems for the fiscal year just ended were greater than in any previous year in their history except 1930 and 1931, which for a number of reasons were phenomenal; and this notwithstanding crop failures in Union Pacific territory, shortage of the citrus fruit crops in California and heavy reductions in rates by commissions—state and interstate. But expenses and taxes and additional interest charges for capital expended in the construction of branches and extensions, earnings on branches and extensions, earnings on which are not yet fully developed, and or betterments and additions, reduced our net. In a single year taxes increased 200,000 on the Union Pacific and $770,000 on the Southern Pacific, and in five years have doubled, jumping from $2,069,734 in 1907 to $4,365,785 in 1912 on the Union Pacific, and from $2,896,501 in 1907 to $5,621,239 in 1912 on the Southern Pacific, all of which, of course, comes off the net.

BELLICK SKIDS ON HEAD AND LETS RED BLOOD FLOW

Arthur Bellick and his pal exhibited pair of cracked heads at the police station early last night and told varying stories as to how they acquired them. The po lice surgeon took several stitches to close up the gap in the back of Bellick's head and then dressed a long red gash on his forehead. His pal simply had the blood washed out of his hair and escaped without having any needle work done. Bellick insisted that he and his pal had stumbled and both fell at the same time His first story was that his head had struck a telephone pole. Later he said it struck the sidewalk and then skidded along until it struck the telephone pole He lives at 1741 South Twenty-seventh street. Both were sent on their way when Bellick's head had been duly encased in white bandages.

STOUT HAS FUN IN ANSWER Omaha Boys Compile Information About Refers to Hamilton Apartments as Tenants.

SAY THEY ENCROACH ALLEY Also Names Stylish Apartments as "Rooming House" and Says It is Intended as Commercial Hotel. Keen blades of satire are naively thrust ing ready sale. into the sides of the owners and tenants of the fashionable Hamilton apartments in an answer to the Hamilton Improvement company's suit against the Independent Auto Repair company. John F. Stout, of Stout & Rose, counsel for the repair company, is the autor of the answer. It is presumed by friends of suburbs. It is the most complete volume Stout that he is chuckling over the effect his answer will have upon the Hamilton owners and tenants, even if he does not know how the court will view it. Some weeks ago the Hamilton Improve ment company started an injunction suit against the repair company, which occuples property just across the alley from the apartments. The improvement company alleged that the noise and fumes from the repair shop irritated and annoyed the sensitive tenants. One had left and others were threatening to. Mr. Stout in the answer denies that the noise and fumes are an annoyane and declares the repair business is egitimate one and cannot be estopped. But Mr. Stout does not refer to the apartments is apartments. No indeed. They are tenements, according to his answer. Throughout the three pages frequent reference is made to the "aforesaid tenements," the aforesaid "rooming house," and so on. Mr. Stout says the Hamilton is intended for a commercial hotel at some future time, but now it is In a cross petititon Mr. Stout averthat the Hamilton company has encroached upon a foot of alley space and dumps quantities of coal in the alley, preventing the repair company from enjoying any use of the areaway. He asks for equitable relief.

Just how it jumped out of the frame and just why the map cannot be found is a puzzle.
