the Fury of Fiends.

The pity of it all was manifested by the shocking scene on that battlefield the next day. This hitherto quiet spot of earth was devastated and covered with the slain, weltering in their own blood.

Men in hundreds, killed and wounded together, were piled in hideous heaps—some bodies, which had lain for hours under the fire of battle, being perforated with wounds. The writhing of the wounded beneath the dead moved these masses at times; while often a lifted arm or quivering limb told of the horrible agony which the owner suffered.

It was during this fearful battle that Grant sent his famous dispatch: "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." For full account of the battle, photographs taken on the fields of action and portraits of the actors in the tragedy—secure

Summer Shows

Burlesque at the Krug. Many critical eyes were in the audience at the Krug yesterday when the "Jardin de Paris" girls opened the 1912-13 burlesque season in Omaha. These eyes wanted to see whether the western wheel shows were better. And it only remains to be said that if the other shows on this circuit have been touched un like the "Jardin de Paris Girls" production then the improvement is wonderful, for the opening Krug show is a dandy. The local show censor, with his badge, was there, and even he said that the show was good. The applause yesterday, and it was mighty hot in a theater for applause, was greater, more prolonged and more enthusiastic than any that was heard at the Krug last season. people received their money's worth of fun-clean fun, too-and they were willing to try the applause route for an extension of the show. A quartet, the "Tierney Four," appeared in the olio, and made such a hit that the audience insisted on four encores. The living art models, also a part of the vaudeville bill, served to bring many hands. The main course of the show ran through a burlesque on life at Brighton Beach and on the Great White Way.

A fair-haired little tot, listening with her mother to Conway's band at Manawa yesterday, clicked her chubby feet together rythmiclly when the band played dance nusic and clapped her hands in glee when Ulrich Gingras with his piccolo seemed to make birds sing in the trees o her. But her mother was the only one distracted by her. Everybody else sat still drinking in the music. Conway is not of the gymnastic or spectacular type of a bandmaster. The magnetic Irish director is quiet, forceful, inspiring and wields the baton with the reserve strength of one who is a potent leader with a company of skilled musicians in his control. When the encore comes-and it alwrys comes-Conway's handsome face lights up as he bows and a popular air follows. Charles Randall, trombone soloist, Gingras, the piccolo soloist, and John Dolan, cornetist, were the stars on Sunday's programs and each won a re-demand. Donlan getting a double call. Sunday from about 2,000 at the first and second to about 6,000 at the third, when the main part of the reserved seats were filled and, of course, all the free seats. It was the largest Sunday Manawa has ad this season.

Large numbers of musicians who have known Conway's band only by reputation were there to hear and congratulate the director and his men. One said, "it is a fine band," and another, "It is great," and a third, "There is no hot air about that bandmaster."

Mexican Joan of Arch Takes Possession of Old City.

WOMAN YOUNG AND BEAUTIFUL

Dashes Into City and Collects Followers and Booty-Vigilantes Are Now on Duty.

JUAREZ, Mexico, Aug. 19.-For a few hours today a Mexican Joan of Arc was the dictator of this town. With ten rebel soldiers marching at the heels of her horse, she rode up to the police station and disarmed the provisional chief of police and six of his men. The rebels rode away mounted on the police horses. The The woman fearlessly entered stores and demanded and received provisions and then shortly before daylight she rode out of town with her admiring followers.

The woman, young and beautiful, is said to be the wife of Colonel Lazro Alanis, the rebel commander, who is operating around Palomas along the border to the west. It is believed that this militant spouse goes to jom her husband after her raid on this town, which is unprotected but for a few police installed at the departure last week of Orozco's rebels. Cloaked in a khaki riding suit instead of a coat of mail and mounted astride a snow white horse, Senora Alanis dashed here and there through the town collecting the stragglers from the rebe ranks. Her dashing raid on the police station early this morning was an utter girl, who sang character songs, in one of surprise. The police meekly surrendered their arms. Tonight a vigilance guard composed of forty citizens armed with all manner of evening she gave such interpretation to antique weapons is patroling the streets to prevent further outbreaks of any maids or matrons of Juarez.

Sending Out the Women. EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 19.-Word was received today at the headquarters here of the Mormon colonists of Mexico that a strong force of rebels is nearing Colonia ing performances. Tonight will be de-Morelos, sixty-five miles south of the border at Douglas, Ariz. The Americans of Morolos and two subordinate colonies of Sonora remained at their homes at the time of the evacuation of the colonles in Chihuahua.

Arrangements are being made to send out the American women and children. It is said that the settlers, who are heavily armed, may decide to remain in view of the losses to fellow colonists who left their homes.

Rebels Near Capital.

MEXICO CITY, Ang. 19.-Made singhtly apprehensive by the appearance of small ands of Zapastas near the suburbs of the capital at different times last week, the government today assigned mounted police patrols to the adjoining territory. Lookouts Arrested; Police Have Chance

A "union" was effectively broken up by the police last night at 11 o'clock. The "union" is composed of nearly all of the women of the street and the "dues" go to pay "watchmen," whose duty it is to warn the members of the approach of the police.

Lee Merchant, a messenger boy, and Otto Watson, a dishwasher in a Douglas street restaurant, were arrested by Patrolmen Eagen, Nichols and Murphy, and as soon as they were out of the way, nearly a score of women, who had always successfully eluded the police, were also picked up.

The police say that the "watchmen' were equipped with small pocket flashlights. When an officer approached, the "lookeuts" would flash their lights and the women would all flee.
