WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.-Senator Penrose renewed his attack upon Colonei Roosevelt in the senate today, under questions by Senator Reed. Colonel Roosevelt's statement of yesterday making public a letter in which he had directed George B. Cortelyou to return John D. Archbold's $100,000 contribution was under discussion. "The information I had," said Senator Penrose, "was that after Mr. Roosevelt had been apprised that the $100,000 had been spent, he wrote the letter to Mr. Cortelyou, directing its return, in order to make the record good."

Senator Reed, in questioning Senator Penrose, mentioned reported contributions of $100,000 each made to the campaign of 1904 by the Missouri Pacific and the Southern Pacific railways. Senator Penrose said that while he had no direct knowledge regarding such contributions, he believed from the information at his disposal that "those interests had contributed heavily."

Will Resume Investigation. Senator Penrose today asked the senate to direct the Clapp committee, investigating campaign contributions of 1904 and 1908, to investigate the charges contained in his sensational speech of yesterday in connection with the Penrose-Archbold correspondence. He asked that the committee be directed to call as witnesses "all persons mentioned" in his speech. Will Ask Subpoens for Roosevelt. "I intend to amend my motion made this morning so that the committee will be directed to subpoena the men mentioned in my statement. I do not intend to have it as a mere matter of invitation, added the senator.
