

PLANS FOR FLOWER PARADE

Two Expert Decorators Will Establish Headquarters in Omaha.

VALUABLE PRIZES OFFERED

Decorators Have a New Plan of Embellishing Automobiles So That the Parade Will Not Be Marred.

Special decorators, well versed in the art of embellishing vehicles with flowers and varied designs for parades, will soon establish headquarters in Omaha in preparation for the big automobile floral parade to be given Tuesday afternoon, October 1, as a feature of the fall festivities.

Charles D. Beaton, at the instance of the board of governors of Ak-Sar-Ben, has authorized two dealers in such decorations to come to Omaha.

These men, says Beaton, have made a special study of composing and arranging floral decorations for pageants and Omaha auto owners need have no fear that their cars will be incapacitated for a week or more, as heretofore, because of the use of paste in adjusting the work.

Improved Methods Used. In former years these decorations were put on canvas and pasted on the cars, with the result that the floral parade committee this year has met with objections from automobile owners because of the possibility of marring the cars.

Improved methods have been brought into use since the last floral parade in Omaha and this year the decorations will come by the yard on material that can be fastened to the cars without marring them. The decorations can be removed within an hour's time, they being attached by wires.

The floral parade committee will arrange for a place in which the automobiles may be prepared for the parade. It has been estimated that the cars can be decorated at small cost, for about $15 each.

The prizes are as follows: Touring Cars, Limousines and Runabouts—First prize, cash, $200; second, cash, $100; third, cup, $75; fourth, cup, $50. Electric—First prize, cash, $100; second, cup, $75; third, cup, $50.

Trucks—First prize, cup, $75; second, cup, $50; third, cup, $25. For the Most Unique Design—First prize, cash, $100; second, cash, $75; third, cup, $50.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS SELL FLOWERS TODAY

Flowers will be sold on Omaha streets today by the Epworth league and the Sunday school of the McCabe Methodist church, who are seeking to defray the $5,000 expense of remodeling the church and the Sunday school rooms. The work only recently was completed.

The McCabe church provides Sunday school privileges for the children of the Child Saving institute. The unusually large numbers of the Sunday school necessitated most of the remodeling. The sale of flowers has been adopted as one means of meeting the expense.

JUDGE BAKER PASSES UP A CHANCE FOR A CLIENT

Judge Ben Baker has lost the opportunity of a client. Jerry Howard is heart broken because he says his minimum wage bill, introduced in the Nebraska legislature in 1909, has been stolen by Theodore Roosevelt as a part of the platform. Approaching Judge Ben Baker, Mr. Howard said, "Judge I want you to take up my case against Roosevelt for stealing my plank."

Competition Keen for Prize Banner

Facsimile copies of the banner for which all divisions of the Northwestern's maintenance department are competing, have been received at local headquarters. This year the banner is held by the Wisconsin division, and last year it was in the custody of the Sioux City division.

The banner, for the possession of which there is such a sharp competition, is a large silken affair, bearing the inscription in gold, "Awarded for the best record for safety in work and travel on Northwestern lines."

This year the Nebraska and Wyoming divisions are making extra efforts to win the prize and bring it west of the Missouri river. While there is a keen rivalry between the men of the two divisions, it is said that with them it does not make so much difference which wins, so that it is wrested from the eastern men.

Westergard Coming Over Omaha Route

A. L. Westergard, representative of the American Automobile association and employed by the United States government to report on a transcontinental highway to be built and maintained by the government, has written to H. E. Fredrickson, chairman of the country roads committee of the Commercial club, asking to be taken over the Omaha-Salt Lake Pioneer trail.

Fredrickson will go to Salt Lake City soon to meet Westergard and return with him over the trail through Omaha to Chicago. The result of this trip probably will mean the placing of Omaha on the transcontinental highway.

Omaha Contractor Prize Fisherman

Frank X. Dellone, 2508 Poppleton avenue, retired contractor, has been voted the champion fisherman of Fox Lake, Ill., where he spent a two weeks' vacation with his brother, Fred Dellone, assistant building inspector.

The story has waffled its way into Omaha and is to the effect that Mr. Dellone caught two fish on one hook, while angling in the choppy waters of Fox lake.

Mr. Dellone and his brother Fred had a contest as to who could catch the most fish in a given time. The two men fished and honors went about even until the last few minutes of time, when the elder Dellone hauled in two fish on one hook, and Fred Dellone threw up his hands, accusing the fish with conspiracy against him.

One of the two fish was a crappie and the other a good-sized bluegill. Frank Dellone explains it as follows: "You see, the first fish, a crappie, became hooked through the side of the mouth. There was a little bait still left on the point of the hook, so the second fish grabbed it and both fish were landed."

Frank Dellone is 78 years young and his hobby is fishing. He is well known to Omahans, having built the Omaha General hospital, which originally was the Dellone hotel. He also built the old Union Pacific headquarters building and the Continental block. He has not been actively engaged in his profession for some years.
