Auction Bridge Tournament. Mrs. Jerome Magee, who is one of the most original and charming hostesses of Omaha, will be the first to give an auction bridge tournament here.

Next Tuesday Mrs. Magee will entertain a number of her friends at an all day tournament, play starting at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and a buffet luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Magee is a member of one of the auction bridge clubs, the eight members of this club being among the best bridge players of the city, and it is expected that one of this club will probably win the tournament.

The affair will be given at the spacious home of Mrs. Magee on South Thirty-eighth avenue.

Bachelor Prefers Omaha Girls. "Omaha girls are not only the best looking, but they are the most sensible," declared a young doctor of medicine, who has recently returned from a vacation visit to different cities, where he called upon several steamer acquaintances, attractive young women from other cities.

He visited Kansas City, where the young woman had recently purchased a new motor car, which she was trying to drive. After nearly going over an embankment, the young man decided to run the car for her.

He then visited the St. Joseph young woman who had been so winsome on the steamer. He had decided to spend several days there. When he arrived the young woman met him and carried a small pet dog under her arm.

The afternoon they motored, but the dog seemed to take all her attention, and even the conversation seemed to revolve about the dog.

He decided to cut his vacation short and returned home by the next train.
