RICKETTS IS SENT TO JAIL

Judge Foster Changes Penalty for Disorderly House Charge.

PLACE RAIDED FOUR TIMES

Many Others Fined for Conducting Disorderly Places, While Many Inmates Are Also Given Heavy Fines.

Police Magistrate Foster broke all precedents in police court yesterday when he sentenced Oscar Ricketts, proprietor of a chit parlor at 316 North Sixteenth street, to thirty days in the county jail for conducting a disorderly house.

Four inmates were fined $10 and costs, one $5 and costs and eleven were discharged.

Three inmates arrested in the raid upon Frank Dinuzo's place at 311 South Thirtieth street were fined $5 and costs, five forfeited $10 cash bonds and six were discharged.

L. A. Rahm was fined $40 and costs for conducting a disorderly house at 611 North Sixteenth street. One inmate was fined $5 and costs, one forfeited a $10 cash bond and three were discharged.

Jim Smith was fined $25 and costs. His place at 513 North Fifteenth street was raided by the police Sunday night.

Burlington Reports on Crop Conditions

The Burlington's crop report for last week is at hand and now estimates on the corn condition are made. Corn on the Omaha division is placed at 92 per cent; Lincoln, 90; Wymore, 92, and McCook, 88. These figures are on a basis of 30 per cent.

On the Alliance division, well up toward the mountains where farmers do not expect a corn crop every year, the report indicates that corn is from six to eight feet high and is in the milk stage.

Up through the territory of the Sterlings, Alliance and Sheridan divisions, wheat is well under way. Wheat is running from twenty to forty-five and oats from thirty-five to sixty bushels per acre.

Everywhere throughout Nebraska, Wyoming and Montana, says the Burlington's report the range and fall pasturage is the best in fifteen years.

Masher is Given Heavy Fine—Calls Woman a "Chicken"

J. T. Galligan was fined $25 and costs in police court for insulting Mrs. John Olson on Sixteenth street Sunday evening. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

W. P. Gallaher was fined $25 and costs for begging and insulting women. He begged from house to house and when refused money he would use profanity and make slurring remarks to the women.

Railroad Man Wins from Money Lender

E. V. Wells, a Burlington railroad employe, won a fight with a money lender in district court when he was given a decision in a friendly suit against the railroad.

Having lent Wells $40 and having collected from him $66 in a year, the National Loan company wanted him to pay $66 more, Wells alleged. The company, it appeared, had been acting as the agent for J. Richards, who lends much money through such concerns.

When Wells refused further payments the lending company filed with the road an assignment of his wages. Wells sued the Burlington for his wages in full, asking that it be ordered to disregard the assignment. He won on the showing that he had paid his debt and plenty of interest.

Ryder Has Decided on New Police Chief
