Victory for Taft, Bankers' Prophecy

William Stuefer, president of the West Point National bank, former state senator and former state treasurer, is one of the many attendants at the bankers' association convention who are strong supporters of President Taft. Mr. Stuefer said yesterday that the third party sentiment and the bull moose sentiment are rapidly dying out in Cumming county. "Mr. Taft is not a politician," said Mr. Stuefer, "and that is all that can be said against him. President Taft is a man that does not advertise his achievements as some of the others have done in the president's chair; but he is a good and wise statesman and an able president. Many things have come up recently that have lost Roosevelt lots of his strength in the state."

Enjoin Rate Boost of Pythian Knights

A temporary injunction was issued yesterday by Federal Judge William H. Munger restraining the supreme lodge of the Knights of Pythias from increasing insurance rates. The order was made in the case of George W. Covell and others against the supreme lodge. Mr. Covell, a man 75 years of age, carries $2,000 insurance in the order. The lodge has attempted to increase the rate of his insurance to such an extent, as alleges, as to make it almost prohibitory to him. Mr. Covell brought action in the district court of Douglas county, alleging that when the lodge was reincorporated some years ago it adopted a constitution and by-laws that materially raised the rate of monthly payments. He alleged that the act of the defendant body was void and prayed for a temporary restraining order. The case was then re-

Issues Outlined in First Day's Sessions

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 27.—The Transmississippi Commercial congress, sometimes called the "vanguard of legislation," was fairly launched upon its twenty-third annual session when the delegates retired tonight after a strenuous day of three meetings, in which were outlined the issues the congress proposes to decide in the interest of the west. Past President Fleming of Kansas City demanded that the machinery that made the Panama canal be used to make better waterways for the United States. He and others urged that congress give a few million to the Panama Pacific exposition, whether the exposition wanted it or not. Resolutions were turned in for the application of the interstate commerce law to water carriers, for the extension of scientific farming by lesson and example and for other international improvements.

Kansas Council for Roosevelt Electors

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 28.—By a vote of 80 to 62 the republican party council late tonight defeated a resolution to force the Roosevelt electors onto an independent ticket. The result of the vote means that the Roosevelt presidential electors chosen in the recent state primary will appear upon the republican ballot in the fall election unless the supreme court of the United States which is considering the case rules against them. The defeated resolution was introduced by Robert Stone of Topeka. It requested that the Roosevelt presidential electors get off the republican ticket and get into the independent column.
