Make Tour of Europe in an Automobile

Dr. and Mrs. B. B. Davis and their son, Herbert, returned yesterday from Europe, where they spent the greater portion of three months motoring, covering more than 6,000 miles.

They landed in Liverpool and from there motored over the greater portion of England, zigzagging across the country, getting pretty well up into the northern portion, visiting the rural districts and going about, seeing points and places of interest. From England they went into France and to Paris. After this they motored into Germany and down the Rhine, going through the Black Forest and thence over the Alps into Switzerland.

After doing Switzerland, they motored to Dresden, Berlin and Hamburg, sailing from there to Copenhagen.

The roads of Europe, according to Dr. Davis, are incomparable. Thousands of miles of them are well kept and as smooth as the Florence boulevard in Omaha.

Through England the roads are of macadam, the same being true of most of them in France and Germany. The governments spending millions of dollars annually in keeping them in perfect condition. In the Black Forest of Germany, really a mountain range, the doctor found about the best roads on his trip. There for long distances they are blasted out of the side of the mountain, the wearing surface being solid rock. They are looked after in the same manner as the railroads in this country. Gangs of men have regular sections which they cover daily, filling in any little hollows that may appear and keeping them as smooth as a floor.

Through the Alps the doctor found splendid roads, even at an elevation of 6,000 and 7,000 feet. These roads, too, are blasted out of the side of the mountains and wind around the high points, thus attaining an easy grade.

The automobiles have become so numerous that all over the country gasoline filling stations and comfortable hotels have been located, so that it makes motoring a most delightful pleasure. All over the countries visited the doctor met a large number of Americans, but not once did he see a Nebraskan. The nearest he came to it was when he was in Paris. He was there at the same time as was Senator Millard.

Of all the numerous vacation trips that Dr. Davis has taken, this was the most enjoyable and restful. Neither he nor the members of his family were sick a day, and while away they spent the time in sightseeing. They did not hurry and stopped for rest when they felt like it. Although he enjoyed himself hugely, the doctor says that Omaha looks pretty good and that he is glad to get back home.

Savory Roly Poly.

Mince together very finely one pound of fresh ham and one pound of fresh lean beef, add one pound of bread crumbs, pepper, salt and marjoram or any other flavoring of herbs. Mix all well together, bind with two well beaten eggs and form into a roll. Roll in a cloth and boil for three hours, and when ready take out of the cloth, cover with bread crumbs and brown lightly in the oven. When cold this makes an excellent dish and is delightful when served with salad at tea time.

Cottage Cheese Salad.

Add rich cream to the desired quantity of cottage cheese; place a spoonful on a lettuce leaf, and sprinkle over the top some finely cut onions.

Pineapple Sherbet.

Put one can of grated pineapple in a bowl, add strained juice of four lemons, pour one quart boiling water over all. Sweeten with one-half cupful sugar and set aside to cool. Then freeze.

Hungarian Coffee, Iced.

Get ready some strong black coffee and add to it sugar and cream to taste. It should be iced thoroughly, and a spoonful of vanilla ice should be placed at the bottom of each tall glass, and the coffee be poured on the top and then served.

Cream of Onion Soup.

Chop seven medium sized onions. Cook in two tablespoonfuls butter for eight minutes; add three cupfuls cold water, cook thirty minutes and rub through a sieve. Melt one heaping tablespoonful of butter, add four tablespoonfuls flour, two cupfuls of scalded milk, seasoning of salt and red pepper, cook five minutes. Combine mixtures, add yolks of two eggs slightly beaten and two tablespoonfuls grated cheese.

Macaroni.

Cook until thoroughly heated through in a double boiler and season with salt and pepper if desired.

Tips to Jelly Makers.

Use good fruit which is a little under-ripe.
Use the best granulated sugar.
Do not make large quantities of jelly at one cooking.
Heat the sugar in the oven before adding it to the fruit juices.
If the juice must be boiled down, always do so before the sugar is added.
The jelly will be clearer and finer if the fruit is simmered gently and not stirred during cooking.
Do not allow the syrup to boil rapidly, or crystals may appear in the jelly.
Always make jelly on a bright, clear day.
Wash the jelly glasses in hot water and set them on a folded cloth wrung out in hot water.
Set the jelly in a sunny window for twenty-four hours, then cover with melted paraffin and set in a dry, cool place.

Soft Molasses Cookies.

Work three-fourths cupful of lard and three-fourths cupful of brown sugar together until creamy, using a wooden cake spoon; then add three-fourths cupful of molasses, two eggs well beaten, three-fourths cupful of sour cream mixed with one tablespoonful of soda, one tablespoonful of salt, one-half tablespoonful of ginger, and flour to make a soft dough. Put in ice box or cold place to chill. Toss on a slightly floured board and pat and roll to one-half inch in thickness, using half of the mixture at a time. Shape with a round cutter dipped in flour; put on a buttered sheet one-half inch apart and bake in a moderate oven.

Chicken vol au Vent.

This is quite an aspiring dish, but not troublesome to prepare.
A vol au vent case can usually be ordered at the bakery; for one does not want the fatigue of making and the heat of cooking pastry in summer time. Have ready a cold chicken, cut it into neat pieces, dip each into a thick mayonnaise sauce and arrange in layers alternating with lettuce, cucumber and tomato and half portions of hard boiled eggs. Pour over all a top dressing of mayonnaise and decorate with chopped egg and gherkins. This, as you will see, is a dish that, given the pastry case, is quite easy to prepare, and even an inexperienced cook can venture on such a vol au vent with complete success.
Small pastry dishes may be filled with creamed lobster or salmon or with a savory hash of chicken, vegetables and mushrooms with a thick rich sauce, the vol au vent in this case being heated in the oven.

Codfish Balls.

Take one and a half cupfuls of shredded codfish, cover with water and let lie overnight. Then put into a dish with three cupfuls of sliced raw potatoes. Cover with boiling water and cook gently until the potatoes are soft. Drain off all the water and mash thoroughly with a potato masher. Add a little pepper, two tablespoonfuls of milk, a tablespoonful of butter and beat up with a fork until creamy and light. When cool flour the hands and mold in cakes, flatten on both sides. Fry them in deep fat in a wire basket or saute them in a little butter.
