CUMING STREET LINE EXTENSION IS LAID

The Omaha Street Railway company has completed track laying on its Cuming street extension and men are now engaged in putting up the poles and stringing the overhead wires. Service will not go onto the new line until the completion of the paving, the contract for which has been let.

The Cuming street extension of the street railway extends from Fortieth to Forty-sixth street, one block west of the Belt Line tracks. Three blocks of the distance is double track and the balance single. The character of service has not been decided upon. There are two plans under consideration. One is to run it as a stub line, connecting with the Walnut Hill line at Fortieth and Cuming streets and the other is to run the Fortieth and Cuming cars to the end of the line, instead of turning at Cuming street as now.

JEFFERIS IS RETAINED IN WATER MAIN CASE

Attorney A. W. Jefferis has been retained by Twenty-eighth street property owners, who will ask the courts for an injunction, restraining the Water board from laying the forty-eight-inch Florence water main along Twenty-eighth Avenue instead of Twenty-seventh street.

At a meeting Friday night money was raised to defray the expenses of the suit. Principal objection will be based upon the extra cost of the main on Twenty-eighth Avenue instead of Twenty-seventh street, which is about $15,000, according to the Water board.

PUBLIC WANTS THEIR BOOKS

Presidential Candidates Spring into Favor with the Readers.

OMAHA'S LIBRARY HAS THEM

Published Works of Taft, Wilson and Roosevelt Sought After Even More than Popular Fiction.

Although the works of the various presidential candidates can scarcely be called "hot weather reading" the interest in the coming campaign has created a demand for the books of these prominent statesmen and writers beyond that of popular fiction. The public library has attempted to make an exhibition of the works of those writers whose names will head the various party tickets, but the steady demand leaves the shelf almost empty most of the time. A few titles may well be mentioned, although many more articles are to be found in periodicals and many speeches in such works as Reed's "Modern Eloquence."

Mr. Taft's "Present Day Problems" is a collection of addresses delivered on various occasions and although the book was published in 1908 it is still of great interest, as it deals with much that has not yet been accomplished. "Four Aspects of Civic Duty" is by the same writer and gives papers on the duties of citizenship viewed from the standpoint of a recent graduate of a university; the standpoint of a judge; the standpoint of colonial administration; and the standpoint of the national executive.

"The History of the American People" is the most popular of Mr. Wilson's works, and although it is in five volumes, does not seem to be more than the average book borrower can undertake to read on the history of his own country, this interest being largely due to Mr. Wilson's ability to tell the story in a way to satisfy both the scholar and the casual reader. Mr. Wilson has written several other works on American history, also several volumes of literary essays, the most popular of which is "More Literature."

Of Mr. Roosevelt's writings there appears to be no end, but the works which deal with hunting are without question the most popular. "The Wild Hunter," "The American Hunter," "Big Game Hunting," "Hunting Trips of a Ranchman" and "American Game Trails" being the best of these works. It is unnecessary to mention Mr. Roosevelt's histories, as they are so well known, but the literary essays, also the political and ethical lectures which have been published in book form have always attracted a great deal of attention. One little volume entitled "Applied Ethics" has been particularly popular.

Of the other candidates for the pres-deny the library has no books, but many articles are to be found in the magazines which are on the shelves of the reference room.

Harte Declares Contractors Are Being Overpaid

More trouble over completion of the new Douglas county building developed at a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners yesterday. Commissioner A. C. Harte, who recently declared his belief that the county cannot hold the general contractors, Caldwell & Drake, for any penalties for delay of completion of the building, declared that in his opinion John C. Latenser, county building architect, has overestimated the work so far done and the contractors have been overpaid. Sam Hind of Fuchs, Son & Hind, who have the interior decoration contract with the provision that the mural paintings shall be purchased from Phillipson & Co. of New York City, told the board Phillipson & Co. have made little progress with the murals. He asked the board to amend the contract so as to permit Mr. Fuchs or some other persons to make the murals.

The result of the consideration of county building matters was the calling of a conference with the architect for Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Harte said there remains about $20,000 worth of work to be done on the new building and with but $15,000 with which to pay for it, unless the county breaks into the 15 per cent reserve, which is not supposed to be touched until the building is completed and delivered.

Commissioners Lynch and Elasser said they believed Mr. Latenser had not made any such errors as suggested by Mr. Harte and Mr. Latenser would be able to make it clear. The board tried to get the architect into the conference, but Mr. Latenser was not in his office and rather than wait for him to return the commissioners decided to wait until Wednesday.

Mr. Harte said he believed some of the work in the new building is inferior, but he refused to be more specific in this regard.

CREIGHTON OPENS TOMORROW

All Departments Will Be Open for Registration Then.

COURSE INCREASED ONE YEAR

Rev. Eugene Magevney Will Again Be at Head of University With Rev. F. X. McNamara as Vice President.

Creighton university will begin its thirty-ninth annual session Monday morning, September 2, when the medical, pharmacy, dental and law departments open for registration. Regular classes will begin on Tuesday. The College of Arts and Sciences will open for registration on Wednesday and will begin classes immediately. An enrollment of more than 1,000 students is anticipated.

Rev. Eugene Magevney will again be at the head of the university, with Rev. F. X. McNamara acting as vice president. The heads of the various departments are the same as last year, although several minor changes have been made. Prof. L. C. Arledge, formerly assistant to Prof. Kremer in the Philadelphia Pharmacy college, has been added to the list of instructors at the pharmacy college.

In the arts department Prof. William Paruzynski and Aphonso Schmidt will replace Prof. Aloysius C. Kemper S. J., and Joseph M. Kroeger, S. J., who will finish their studies for the priesthood at St. Louis. Mr. Mark Ryan, A. B., class '12, will supplant Francis P. Matthews, A. M., as professor of English and the classics.

Beginning this year the regular course at Creighton university will be eight years instead of seven, as in the past. The college course has been made four years, where formerly it was three. In addition to the change in the length of the course the student now has a choice of three different courses upon entering the school. He may either take the arts, science or the literature course, each of which has a separate list of studies outlined.

LITERATURE AND DETAILED INFORMATION FURNISHED ON REQUEST. H. PELTON Phone Doug. 3301. 2803 Farnam Street Lincoln Representative—E. E. Mockett Auto Co.

Compare Their Values---Plus Their Reputation

Here are two Regal Cars that stand out in competition as being not only the best values—car for car—upon the market, but automobiles that have stood the test of service and won great reputation

WE CALL YOUR ATTENTION to the now famous Regal Model T. The "25" Horse Power "Underslung" touring car that is without parallel in automobile values today. The usual crop of 1913 announcements has shown no car that can displace this remarkable automobile from the place it won in 1912 for being not only exceptional as an example of advanced motor car construction, but a revelation of enduring quality and lowest price.

MATCH ITS VALUE—IF YOU CAN. Hundreds upon hundreds of these cars have been sold upon comparison. A roomy car—a beautiful car. An enduring car, a "down-to-the-minute" equipped car. An "Underslung"—all the advantages of safety, economy, flexibility, easy riding ability, comfort, which this advanced, more costly construction method makes possible. Speedy, powerful, silent-running, with its well known owner's reputation of perfect service, low cost of upkeep, satisfaction, behind it. A reputation that is making this car the "biggest seller" in every community where it is for sale.

READ THE SPECIFICATIONS. They are not only the most generous for the purchase consideration, but equal those of a score of cars that are many hundreds of dollars higher in price. Nickel-plated trimmings throughout—Electric lights (gas headlights optional)—Presto-o-Lite tank. Electric Horn. Then consider the wheel base—108 inches—the bore and stroke of the motor—the tire equipment. When you visit our showrooms and see this car, when you have ridden in it, tested its hill climbing abilities, the silent, powerful operation of its power plant, the question—"What car shall I buy?"—will be settled.

THEN—THE PRICE! This is an age of seeming miracles in the realm of manufacturing. To every intelligent investigator of this Regal Model T the thought naturally suggests itself: "How can such a car be built for $950?" The performance is there; the record of endurance service is there; the quality is there—but this low price? The manufacturing experience of many years, the concentration of a great factory, the knowledge that thousands of these cars will be purchased, were all determining factors in our ability to sell this car for $950. Our profits are small—the difference in dollars we could reasonably ask the purchaser for this car we share with every man who buys it. The car itself attests this fact.

The Regal "Underslung" Roadster has outsold every other Roadster made

THERE ARE MANY REASONS why the Regal Model N "Underslung" Roadster is the most popular Roadster in the country. One look at this automobile creates instant desire to own it. Without question it is an ideal car. Built a roadster, every inch of it, together with the racy, beautiful lines that the "Underslung" construction makes possible, there is an ensemble of Roadster qualities which will appeal to every prospective purchaser of this type of car. Fast as an express train, comfortable, safe, economical on gasoline and tires, most distinctive in appearance, it supremely meets every purpose for which it was designed.

IT HAS STOOD THE TEST OF TIME. When you buy this car you are certain of its good qualities. Like the Model T, it has stood the test of rigorous service in every state in the Union—several thousand are everywhere in daily use. We could not add a single improvement to the chassis, but we HAVE made additions to the equipment which place the value of this car in a class by itself. Electric Lights, Nickel-plated trimmings, Presto-o-Lite tank, Electric Horn, etc., are some special features. Read carefully the specifications.

THIS ADVERTISEMENT is published to solicit your attention. We cannot say here all the good things these two Regal cars will demonstrate to you when you call to see them. It would sound too much like flattery. One must be remembered: Our ideal in business is to make our cars a combination of supreme quality and moderate price that will prove our product an enthusiastic investment to every Regal owner. That is the basis of our great business growth. The Regal Model N "Underslung" Roadster at $900 has a value and a reputation of which we have every right to be proud.

Our organization is at your immediate service for demonstration of Regal Motor Cars.
