Myrtle Smith Asks Divorce—Myrtle B. Smith, a stenographer, has started suit for divorce against J. Sidney Smith, a real estate dealer, in district court. The petition was filed and immediately withdrawn from the files by Amos E. Henley, attorney for Mrs. Smith.

Exchange Meeting Off for Week—The Real Estate exchange will not hold its regular weekly meeting today because Omaha day at the state fair is taking so many of the members out of town. The meeting that should have been held today was to have been the first of the meetings since the vacation season closed, but now it will be postponed for another week.

Ouster Suit to Be Heard at Lincoln

Hearing of the state ouster suit against Fire and Police Commissioners Joseph Pivonka and John J. Ryan of South Omaha, charged with dereliction of duty and misconduct in office, will be completed before Referee Silas Holcomb in Lincoln this week. The hearing, which was begun in Omaha, will be resumed in Lincoln Thursday morning.

The state will place on the witness stand Chief of Police John Briggs of South Omaha and endeavor to elicit from him testimony damaging to the defendants. The defense will offer testimony in support of its contention that the extension of the terms of office of South Omaha officials by the state legislature was illegal; that they now are re-elected and the evidence of their acts in a former term of office cannot be used against them now.

Excavation has been started for a Swedish club house at 1609 Chicago street. This building will be 60x100 feet. A large auditorium is to be on the third floor for dances and other meetings. The rooms of the other stories will be used for club rooms and lodge rooms, while there will be a few stores on the first floor. The building is to be completed by May 1, next. The structure is being built by the Swedish Building association.

THE SOCIETY OF THE BEE-HIVE

By MELLIFICIA.

Omaha, September 3.

THE BRIDES-TO-BE are just about the busiest people in Omaha—busy making the money fly in the preparation of their trousseaux. I hear that this season's brides are getting especially elaborate outfits; that not only in gowns, hats and dress accessories of all sorts, but also in lingerie and household linens, everything is as fine and complete as the fortunate bride-to-be could desire.

One of these young women, who is getting everything that the heart of a bride could wish in the way of finery and furbelows, indignantly denied that she was extravagant. She declared that her outfit is practical and that the trousseaux of her friends who are to be married this fall, are very practical, too.

I happened to be standing beside one of this season's brides-to-be the other day as she was buying at the lace counter in one of the local stores. The first lace she bought was $12 a yard. My interest was roused when I saw that this was merely a starter. The next lace she selected was $19 a yard. The climax came when she ordered several yards of lace at $21 a yard. And she gave her order without the slightest twinge of conscience so far as I could discern.

The bill for the laces which this pretty young bride-to-be ordered in less time than it takes to tell it and in the most matter-of-fact manner, amounted to $350. $350! I began to try to figure out how much that young woman's whole trousseaux would cost if the laces, which are but a small part, cost $350.

Large Church Wedding.

A large church wedding will be that of Miss Elizabeth Hamling, daughter of Mrs. Frank M. Hamling, to Robert Keeney of Warsaw, N. Y. The wedding will be solemnized Saturday evening, October 5, at the North Presbyterian church. Miss Lucile Patterson will be maid of honor; the bridesmaids will be Miss Doris Keeney, sister of the groom; Miss Gladys Lobeck and Miss June Grevy. The best man and ushers, schoolmates of the groom, will come from the east. The wedding will be followed by an informal reception, when only the wedding party and the relatives will be present. Mrs. Hamling has given up her home and will shortly move to the Hotel Rome.

Police Kick When Movies Hold Them Up to Ridicule

Because so many of the motion picture films insist upon making policemen scapegoats of their plots, certain sensitive Omaha police officials are highly incensed and want to prevent the objectionable films being shown here.

Police Sergeant Samuelson is responsible for voicing the newest complaint against the movies. Several days ago he visited a Farnam street nickel show. A regular tear jerker film was being reeled from the machine when he entered, and the principal figure in the plot was a 10-year-old girl, the only daughter of a multi-millionaire. Kidnaped by a villain in her infancy she is forced to sell papers on the streets. A real tough looking fellow with stage whiskers is leaning up against a telegraph pole near where little Guldtrude is peddling her wares. As she counts her pennies, the receipts of a hard day's work, the villain swoops down and snatches the money.

Of course, when Guldtrude goes home, the wicked old Italian padrone who kidnaped her, kicks her from the shack when she tells him her troubles. Guldtrude then goes out on the streets and sells matches. The picture does not show where the matches came from, but nevertheless Guldtrude sells matches. After many disappointments, the little heroine falls asleep on the sidewalk and a copper comes along.

Right here is where the Omaha police object. The policeman in the picture, all dressed up in a trick hat and a new uniform, sees the little huddled up figure on the sidewalk. Instead of reaching down in his pocket and slipping her a dime, telling her at the same time to go out and have a good time with it, this low-lift peeler pulls back his club and gives Guldtrude a "hotfoot." He laughs gleefully into the lens of the motion picture and passes out of focus.

The next scene shows Guldtrude asleep on the grave of the only friends she ever had—a woman who gave her a cookie one cold wintry day. While she sleeps, an old man with withered cheeks and snowy white locks, but who has a suspiciously youthful tread, comes solemnly along through the graveyard. He has in his hand a big bouquet of flowers and he is going to decorate his wife's grave. Suddenly he stoops over and picks up sleeping 10-year-old Guldtrude.

"My Gawd!" his lips seem to say. "It's my long lost daw-tah Guldtrude." Then his curlicue and peanuts. Sergeant Samuelson came out of the theater with several hundred other bleary-eyed witnesses of the film drama. He lingered long enough to lodge a protest with the manager of the theater.

"Now that was a mighty fine picture, but I have one objection," said the officer. "In all of those 2,000 feet of film that it took to make the play, there were three villains: the padrone, who kidnaped Guldtrude; the tough guy who stole her pennies and the policeman who hot-footed her. Now why do they have to make the copper the worst son-of-a-gun in the lot?"

"Little children see the picture and they immediately are fearfully afraid of an officer. Then if they get into trouble or get lost, instead of asking help from a policeman as they should, they shun him. That's one good reason why this kind of film should be abolished. Then another reason is that the children see the bad light in which the policeman is placed in, and when they meet the children of an officer, they immediately make fun of them because their father is in the police department. In this way it makes our own children fear us and it is not a pleasant feeling."

Sergeant Samuelson's complaint is shared by many of the men under him and his idea for a call-down may be laid before the city commissioners.

Masten's Successor Arrives in Omaha to Take Up His Work

James L. Stice, who succeeds John M. Masten as superintendent of the railway mail service, fourth division, has arrived in Omaha and will enter upon his duties this morning. Colonel Masten, who has been promoted to the superintendency of the fifth division, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, will leave for that place probably Thursday night.

Mr. Stice comes to Omaha from Spokane where he has been postoffice inspector in charge for some time. His home is in St. Louis. Mr. Stice, according to Mr. Masten, is an expert of postal affairs. He was appointed to the railway postal service in 1884. He has held every office connected with this department besides several other postoffice positions. He has worked from the bottom up and is considered by Postmaster General Hitchcock as one of the most reliable men in the service and will be a great factor in building up the fourth division.

When you have a bad cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to cure it with as little delay as possible. Here is a druggist's opinion: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for fifteen years," says Enos Lollar of Saratoga, Ind., "and consider it the best on the market." For sale by all dealers.

POLICEWOMAN HAS NO FEAR

Mrs. Drummy Says She Was Never Frightened in Her Life.

HAS NO REVOLVER NOR BILLY

Thinks Star Will Be All She Needs—Has Been Assigned to the Night Shift to Watch Bad Dances and Mashers.

Mrs. Katherine Drummy, Omaha's first policewoman, will wear a star, but she has declined to burden herself with a billy or a revolver, believing the policeman's badge is all the "moral support" she needs.

When asked if she didn't think she'd need a billy, a "sap" or a revolver occasionally, she admitted she never "shot a revolver in her life," but wouldn't be a bit afraid to.

She thinks she could shoot a revolver as straight as most women throw a base ball.

As to the billy Mrs. Drummy knows she could use it effectively, for she has reared ten children and five of them were boys who put the family to considerable expense for hair brushes, because they didn't have a woodshed.

Never Frightened in Her Life. "I never was frightened in my life," Mrs. Drummy declared, "and often when I've been downtown at night I wanted to be a policewoman and make arrests or speak with some authority back of me to little girls I saw wandering about in knee dresses without escort."

When a big masher gets fresh Mrs. Drummy says she will not walk up to and bat him on the head with a billy, but show him her star and lead him to the police station.

"Of course I can do it," she said confidently replying to a question. "And if I can't, why, there'll be policemen to help. I go on duty tonight and I think I'll have Mrs. Gibbons, the police matron, go around with me."

"After a while the work will be easier for they'll understand that I mean business."

Just now Mrs. Drummy is studying danceology. She is learning to differentiate between the bunnyhug, the bear cat, the moochy and a regular, decent dance.

"There is a great field here for a policewoman," Mrs. Drummy says, "and while one woman can't be expected to do everything that is necessary she can be of great assistance to the police and the juvenile workers."

"In New York, I believe, they have policewomen, and they are making good. In time I think we'll have more than one woman in the police service here and they will earn their salaries."

Police Commissioner Ryder has detailed the new policewoman to night work. She will visit dance halls and other "questionable places" and see that boys and girls as well as grownups behave themselves. Mrs. Drummy is in the prime of life, has a fine physique and is large enough to awe any senescent young person into submission whenever it is necessary.

Assignment of City Employees' Salaries is to Be Headed Off

City Comptroller McDonald and Commissioner Butler yesterday instituted a rule that no assignments of salaries by the city employees would be accepted by the comptroller's office.

Mr. McDonald says at least 100 employees have habitually assigned their salaries to creditors, despite the fact that legislation has been attempted to prevent and the city commission has passed a resolution condemning the practice.

City employees who continue to assign salaries will be dismissed at once. The heads of the several departments of city government are co-operating to stamp out the practice.

DARKEN THE HAIR NATURALLY WITH SIMPLE REMEDY

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however, handsome it may be, makes a person look old. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others, simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your hair youthful color and beauty in a few days' time?

Most people know that common garden sage acts as a color restorer and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Hair and Scalp Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other vegetable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or constantly coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair.

Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

Pere Marquette May Become Part of the Great Western Road

Omaha men have received advices of the appointment of S. K. Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western, as receiver of the Pere Marquette. Many of them are inclined to the belief that this bodes considerable good for Omaha. The Chicago Great Western, they contend, is a Morgan road, controlled entirely by Morgan interests, and at the same time they know that it was the Morgan interests that forced the receivership of the Pere Marquette. Taking this view of the case, they say they would not be surprised to see Morgan reorganize the last named road and eventually bring it and the Chicago Great Western into one system and under one management.

Railroad men say that Morgan looks upon Felton as a wonderful man in building up bankrupt and unprofitable railroads, and that for this reason the Pere Marquette has been turned over to him.

TESTIMONY AGAINST "RED MIKE" GIVES HIM BAD NAME

Testimony that "Red Mike" Wallace, who is fighting to establish himself as a sheriff's deputy, was receiving money from two women at the same time was offered yesterday in Judge A. C. Troup's equity division of the district court in the hearing of Wallace's mandamus action to force the Board of County Commissioners to approve his bond as deputy sheriff and place him on the county payroll. Police court records, testimony of detectives and others was offered.

Worst Stomach Trouble Ended

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Five Minutes After Taking "Pape's Diapiesin."

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapiesin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

AGED TO PERFECTION

SOMETHING HAD TO BE DONE. I was Fat, Uncomfortable, Looked Old, Felt miserable, suffered with Rheumatism, Jaundice, Neuritis. When I worked or walked, I puffed like a Porpoise. I took every advertised medicine I could find. I starved, sweated, exercised, dieted and changed climate, but I ruined my digestion, felt like an invalid, but steadily gained weight. There was not a single plan or drug that I heard of that I did not try. I failed to reduce my weight. I dropped society, as I did not care to be the butt of all the jokes. It was unbearable to have my friends tell me I was getting stout, as no one knew it better than myself.

I began to study the cause of FAT. When I discovered the cause I found the remedy. The French Method gave me an insight. I improved on that. Removed the objectionable features, added more pleasant ones, and then I tried my plan on myself for a week. It worked like magic. I could have SCREAMED WITH JOY at the end of the first week when the scales told me I had lost ten pounds by my simple, easy, harmless, Drugless Method. It was a pleasure then to continue until I regained my normal weight in size. I feel fifteen years younger. I look fifteen years younger. I can walk or work now. I can climb a mountain. I am normal in size. I can weigh just what I want to weigh. I am master of my own body now. I did not starve, but eat all I wanted to. I did not take sweat baths. I did not fast. I used no Electricity, or harmful exercises, but I found the Simple, Safe, Common Sense WAY of reducing my weight and I applied it. I have tried it on others. My Doctor says I am a perfect picture of health now. I am no longer ailing. I am now a happy, healthy woman. Now I am going to help others to be happy. I have written a book on the subject. If you are fat, I want you to have it. It will tell you all about my Harmless, Drugless Method. To all who send me their name and address I mail it FREE, as long as the present supply lasts. It will save you money. Save you from Harmful Drugs. Save you from Starvation Diet, Harmful Exercises, possibly save YOUR LIFE. It is yours for the asking without a penny. Just send your name and address. A Postal Card will do and I'll be glad to send it so that you can quickly learn how to reduce yourself and be as happy as I am. Write today as this advertisement may not appear again in this paper.
