OMAHA. Sept. 6, 1912

The crop figures given out on this side of the ocean yesterday had a bearish influence in the foreign markets. The weather conditions over the northwest are most favorable. There appears to be nothing in sight to prevent a heavy run of spring wheat. Some of the experts are figuring that southern Minnesota and south Dakota will find it profitable to head some of their wheat towards Chicago in the near future. beeves and closing quotations are all of 10G15c higher than a week ago, So few cornfed cattle have been coming that a reliable line on prices is difficult. Good to choice beeves solling around $8.00 and above are very soarce and quotably about as high as any time, while the short fed and warmed-up cattle seiling from $7.25 to $8.25 are not seiling quite as well as a week ago, on account of the increased competition from western rangers.

What few cows and helfers were offered today sold readily at good strong prices and values are all of 10G15c higher than they were at the close of last week. The proportion of cows and helfers in the receipts of late has been comparatively small and this fact has had a stimulating effect on the demand as well as on prices. Veal calves, buils, stags, etc., have found a very good outlet all week and prices show no material change.

tone to the trade in both sheep and lambs from yesterday and buyers seemed to be anxious for anything that would make desirable killers. The favorable conditions surrounding the eastern mutton trade has a good effect on the market.

As compared with a week ago trade in good to choice lambs shows an advance of fully 2kc, other kinds selling very little, if any better. Choice killers were in good, active demand all the week. Up to today the market for fat sheep has also been in satisfactory shape, ewes. wethers and yearlings all showing an advance of 10015c. The advance on the heavy grant lamb and the strong and the same process of the strong and the same lamb and lamb an has been pretty general as the choice heavy grades improved equally as much as the prime handyweights. Bulk of the fat sheep coming to market of late has shown considerable weight, the handy-weight stuff being in small supply. Although a comparatively small supply of feeders were on sale trade was not any too active, though a considerable volume of business was done on most days and good clearances were the rule. Feeding lambs are quotably 10@15c higher, while ewes and wethers and yearlings are while ewes and wethers and yearlings are little better than steady. It was a good active market throughout, a clearance of the offerings being made in fair season. Prices generally were steady to a dime higher on both sheep and lambs. Several cars of range lambs brought $7.10 and some western ewes sold as high as $4.25. As the total acceleration were not very large the supply ewes sold as high as $4.25. As the total receipts were not very large the supply of feeders was limited. There was a good demand and most of the sales were steady with Thursday.
