ANNUAL FEAST AT MITCHELL

Corn Palace This Year Promises to Outdo Former Efforts.
RECORD CROPS IN THE STATE
Value of Output of Farms is Estimated at More Than Two Hundred Millions of Dollars.
MITCHELL, S. D., Sept. 7.—(Special.)—For the fourteenth time Mitchell will entertain the people of the northwest with its corn palace. The date is September 23 to 25. The corn palace this year promises to outdo all former efforts in the way of entertainment of the general public and the display of agricultural products and vegetables. The latter will be accomplished through the work of the surrounding counties, also some from the more remote parts of the state. It is expected that from twelve to fifteen counties will have a display of their products at the palace, and it will be an array of grains, grasses and corn, which have the effect of showing what the state has produced.

Crops Worth Two Hundred Millions.
Immigration Commissioner John G. Deets has been making a thorough investigation of the crop situation in the last ten days, receiving reports from the more remote portions of the state where he was unable to make a personal visit. From threshing machines yields and the splendid condition of the corn crops at the present time, the state's commissioner has issued a conservative report of the average farm products of the state for this year, and which can be relied upon as being practically correct. He places the products of the state for the year at approximately $200,000,000, and making a per capita production of $500, and an average for each farm of $2,500. Mr. Deets makes the following estimate on the state's production:

Table with 2 columns: Crop and Value.
Wheat, 45,000,000 bushels, $3,250,000.
Oats, 47,000,000 bushels, 15,450,000.
Barley, 19,000,000 bushels, 9,890,000.
Flax, 4,000,000 bushels, 7,200,000.
Rye, 750,000 bushels, 427,000.
Potatoes, 4,000,000 bushels, 2,000,000.
Speltz, 3,000,000 bushels, 900,000.
Hay, 3,000,000 tons, 15,000,000.
Dairy products, 1,500,000,000.
Horses, 35,000, 1,000,000.
Wool and hides, 1,000,000.
Mineral, stone, clay products, 10,000,000.
Poultry and eggs, 600,000.
Dressed meats, 500,000.
Alfalfa, 500,000.
Live stock, 50,000,000.
Fruit and vegetables, 1,500,000.

Total products for 1912, $200,000,000.
Mitchell has made a big improvement this year which will add materially to the success of the corn palace. The main street of the city, extending from the Milwaukee to the Omaha depot, a distance of eight blocks, has been paved with concrete, and this will insure a dry street in case there should be a rainfall of heavy proportions during the week, which has been the case in former years. The paved street will permit all the street attractions to be carried on and will afford a much larger place for the fair, while the regular trains will afford splendid accommodations for the visitors. The fare for the round trip will be low, and that with the days of the train service will be announced later.

The dates for the palace this year are a trifle earlier than last, and will cover a period from September 23 to 25, inclusive. With the harvest excursion on at about the same period, the information comes from the east than many expect to make the trip out to South Dakota at the same time, for the corn palace county exhibits will give them a fine opportunity to see what has been produced.

Grandsons as Pallbearers Bear Body to Grave in Bailey Cemetery in Sarpy County—Investigating Morgan Fire.

Funeral services for Abner W. Trumble, the veteran financier who died Wednesday morning from a stroke of paralysis, were held at the home of his father-in-law, Judge Gates, in Sarpy county yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Fully 300 business friends and old settlers of Sarpy county accompanied the casket from the residence to the Bailey cemetery, where interment was made. Rev. Charles W. Savidge of Omaha conducted the services. In a brief but impressive sermon he extolled the life of Mr. Trumble, telling of his great assistance to the financial as well as moral welfare of the people at large. At the time of his death Mr. Trumble was president of the Packers National bank, to which high position he had worked up from a minor office in the bank. He was beloved by all his business associates and was noted for his integrity and honesty. During the funeral the bank was closed in honor of its dead president. The pallbearers were all grandsons of the deceased. They were: Amos Gates, Fred Gates, Harold Gates, Charles Trumble, Harold Gramlich and Howard Gramlich.

Annual Report.

Unprecedented, at least as far as can be ascertained from the records at the city hall, was the action of the city council Tuesday night in refusing to allow all of the annual report of the city treasurer to be published in the city annual. It is the way the democratic organ expressed its view of the action of the members of the council in not permitting the city treasurer to take up a large part of the book in telling of his ability to handle his office and the injustice the council has worked upon him in not allowing him two deputy tax collectors. Each page in the annual will cost the city $1, and not only that, but the part of Gillin's report objected to by the council has no bearing whatever with the matter contained in a report of this kind. The members of the council think that Gillin's report, at least where he goes into an extended explanation of how he refused the tax collectors and the efficient and wonderful way in which he has handled the affairs of the people, is also unprecedented in the annals of the city hall.

Tom Altou, one of the democratic councilmen, was the one who suggested that the superfluous matter in the report be expunged. The other councilmen sided in with Altou. Never before has a city treasurer devoted nearly all the pages of the annual report to extolling himself and explaining what might have been accomplished if so and so had been the case. According to one councilman, all the members of the council were against printing the entire report.

Investigating Morgan Fire.

Deputy Fire Warden Trouton and Fire Chief McKelke are investigating the origin of the fire in the Frank Morgan home at Twenty-third and Polk streets on Thursday night which did $100 damage, and arrests on an arson charge may follow. The fire started in the kitchen of the little three-room cottage. In one corner a pile of half-burned clothes saturated in oil was found. Whether oil was poured on the clothes and lighted intentionally or they became ignited by accident is what Trouton is endeavoring to uncover. Morgan accuses neighbors of setting fire to the house. He says they have tried in various ways to force him to move from the neighborhood, and set fire to the Prayers and temperance lectures are inadequate to accomplish the downfall of king alcohol, according to Mrs. George W. Covell, organizer for the Douglas County Woman's Christian Temperance Union, speaking before the annual convention of the union in Hanscom park yesterday.

KENNEDY FILES HIS ANSWER TO EPPERSON

John L. Kennedy, former chairman of the republican state central committee, from whom Ambrose C. Epperson, the Roosevelt claimant to the chairmanship, reclaimed the committee's property, has filed answer to Epperson's replevin suit in district court. Kennedy's answer admits that he formerly was chairman, but no longer is. It asserts that he has no claim upon the property and has no interest in the matter, the controversy being one between Epperson and Frank L. Currie, the regular republican claimant to the chairmanship. Mr. Kennedy asks that the case be dismissed as to him, since he has no interest in it, and that Currie be required to interplead so that the court may determine whether Currie or Epperson is the rightful claimant.

University of Omaha is in Excellent Shape to Receive Students

When classes assemble at the University of Omaha on September 11 many improvements will be noticed about the grounds and buildings. Chief of these will be the practical completion of the gymnasium, which has for the last two summers been used as an assembly and class room for the missionary summer school and conference and for basket ball last winter. The entire building is being plastered and four rooms have been put in condition so that they may be used for class room purposes. In the basement lockers and showers for both the men and women have been provided and a new steam heating plant is being installed, which will be extended to heat some of the rooms in Redick hall, which prior to this time has had little or no heat. The old heating plant in Redick hall is also being completely overhauled.

Another new branch at the university will be the night classes for work in psychology for teachers. The night law classes have already been announced, and to this list the board is adding commercial law and general economics and sociology. Dr. D. E. Jenkins, president of the university, will conduct evening classes in social phases of industrial problems. The regular law electives will be given during the day at the university.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE

Continuous Advance in Trade Activity Tenor of Week's Reports.

CONFIDENCE STILL GROWING

Large Number of August Failures Legacy of Now Disappearing Disturbances, and They Contrast with Bank Clearings.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says: Continuous advance in trade activity is the tenor of the reports from the principal manufacturing and distributing centers this week. The advance is both in actual volume of transactions and in that confidence which is the basis of healthy business. But with the advance there are still certain indications indicative of passing conditions of depression, coupled with other developments indicative of present optimism. The large number of August failures, with their heavy aggregating liabilities, is a legacy of the now disappearing disturbances and they contrast sharply with the big August bank clearings which are a development of present activity and buoyancy. Rates of money are hardening in all parts of the world, a plain response to the greater movement of trade and commerce, and bigger demands of new enterprises.

BRADSTREET'S TRADE REVIEW

Every Prospect Pleases and Business Continues Onward March.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Bradstreet's today says: Every prospect pleases and trade continues its onward march. Cumulative strength appears to be the order of the day. The quickening impulses of better things are extending to sections that heretofore have been relatively backward and what is most significant, garnered crops contribute higher yields than were anticipated. While it is evident that there are to be gathered-corn and cotton-giving evidence of astonishingly good progress. The crop situation is such as to generate optimism, the influences of which on trade are clearly apparent all over the west. Jobbers of dry goods have enjoyed a good trade despite the hold-back, waiting buyers still being in evidence and road sales are larger, while business for spring is opening in a good way with first hands. University of Omaha Classes in the Gym

The question of housing the students at the University of Omaha during the coming year has been solved by the board of trustees fitting up temporary class rooms in the gymnasium. The rooms were originally intended for the use of the department of physical culture. Four rooms on the east side of the building and one on the west are being plastered and put in readiness for class room purposes. These rooms and the entire gymnasium are being plastered and a new steam heating plant is being installed. Lockers and shower baths, with running hot and cold water, are being placed in the basement. The young men of the school will not be the only ones to enjoy this feature of the school life as provision for work in physical culture for the young women has been made.

In accord with the general policy of the founders to meet the needs of the students who are employed during the day several night classes will be conducted this year, chief of which will be psychology, teachers' course, ethics, economics, commercial law, and a special course under Dr. D. E. Jenkins in the social phases of industrial questions.

He was not bothered any more by the press representatives and was allowed to retire to the privacy of his car without further interference.
