reason, except the wanderlust, leaves his home. His wife is compelled to earn a living and care for herself and two small children. This she does to such an extent that the rise of the first curtain finds her the owner and business head of the biggest printing establishment in the territory. The children have grown up and are enmeshed in a comfortable home, thanks to the effort of their mother, when the wandering Hiram returns unannounced, apparently surprised that there is no demonstration of joy at his home-coming. Then issues the battle of wits between husband and wife, at the end of which we find Hiram offered employment in his wife's home and as accepting. The next two acts deal with the town gossips and their various opinions relative to men servants, the love affair that has sprung up between Fortia and Roland Preston and the final triumph of the man, brought about by his love for his first child, Mary Jane.

At the Boyd theater three days commencing tonight with a popular matinee Tuesday, the attraction will be "Within the Law," Bayard Veller's new play, presented under the managerial direction of A. H. Woods. In this thrilling drama Mr. Veller has placed on the stage the career of a young woman who has served a prison sentence for a crime unjustly fastened on her. Upon being freed she finds that the penitentiary taint cannot be shaken off and is compelled to take to the pavements or develop a new mode of life along criminal lines, but just out of reach of the officers of the law. Ann Davis, a young actress of engaging personality, appears as the harassed and beset young woman, while the rest of the cast includes Howard Hall, Joseph Rawley, Susanne Villa, Maud Burns, E. M. Dresser, Lewis Cody, Rose Maurice, Henry Douglas, Charles Gerard, George Cameron and others.

Bernard Daly, young Irish singer, will be the attraction at the Boyd for three days commencing Thursday, September 12, presenting his romantic Irish comedy drama, "Dion O'Dare," under the management of the Broadway theater company. The play is purely Irish in locale and a sweet love story runs through the piece of an Irish girl, whose birth is of higher degree than O'Dare's, but all ends well and Dion comes to Dublin as the honored guest of the lord lieutenant general and finally wins his sweetheart, Mr. Daly sings several songs especially adapted for his play, among which are "Many Years Ago," "Rose Serenade," "See-Saw," "Call of the Wind," "Maouahla" and the latest compositions, "The Rose of Yesterday" and "Love is Like a Shoozy-Shu." Daily matinee will be given and popular prices will prevail, as this is one of the Co-Operative companies' attractions.

"A Romance of the Underworld" comes to the Boyd next Sunday for four days with Holbrook Blinn in the star role. It is a vivid, realistic drama, which the author, Paul Armstrong, has constructed from his famous vaudeville sketch of the same name and in its new four-act form deals with a number of interesting types that are known to most theater-goers only by hearsay. In addition to Mr. Blinn the cast contains several players of reputation to insure a splendid presentation. Among them are Catherine Calvert, Charles Mylott, James Marcus, W. Tammany Young, R. J. Moya, George Miller, Benjamin Piazza, Ralph Theodore and Norman Phillips.

At the Orpheum this week the headline attraction will be "The Palace of Orpheus," a Prismatic Creation of Colors, a family of eight instrumentalists. Over fifty instruments, many of which are entirely new to America, will be used. The company composes one of the few saxophone bands in the world. "The Palace of Orpheus" is a beautiful production. The Savonas family, although making their first tour of America, are well known in Europe, where they have been general favorites in the London music halls for many years. "The Lad from Larymore," a delightful Irish comedy, will be given by the Seamus MacManus players. The sketch has an interesting plot, bright, witty lines, and well developed characters. Ed Wynn, the "boy with the funny hat," and Edmund Russon, the English comedian, will introduce an amusing sketch called "Joy and Gloom." The Wilson brothers will present a new skit called "Go Out." Adele Ferguson and Edna Northlane, who played the part of Gus Grouch, will bring his new Beauty, Youth and Polly company to the popular Gayety theater this week, starting this afternoon. A new two-act satire, called "The Blue

James E. ("Blutch") Cooper, who has for a long time been identified with the Jersey Lilies company, in which he played the part of Gus Grouch, will bring his new Beauty, Youth and Polly company to the popular Gayety theater this week, starting this afternoon. A new two-act satire, called "The Blue

L. Dorsey, Lew Heelin, Harry Waitien and Misses Amy Thompson and Ruby Marlon. The chorus makes twenty changes of costume, and there are four complete stage settings with a very elaborate tableau. One of the little features of the show is the "Beef Trust" pony ballet, consisting of eight husky young soubrettes who tip the scales for a total of 1,700 pounds. All of the numbers and the special scenes have been staged in a manner that cannot fail to please the most exacting.

That the Airdome, with its fresh, cool air and high class motion picture entertainment, has proven the popular amusement place of Omaha has been made particularly evident during the heated spell of the last two weeks. New illustrated songs and four new motion picture reels will be run nightly this week as usual. Monday night will be amateur night as usual. There will be three cash prizes and a dozen young amateurs of Omaha have entered their names as contestants for the prizes.

Benson Throws Hot Coffee in Wife's Face

John Benson was given a thirty-day suspended sentence in police court for throwing a pot of hot coffee on his wife Friday afternoon while under the influence of liquor. His wife appeared against him and testified that he was a drunkard and frequently abused her. She said her husband accidentally threw the coffee on her.

Neighbors testified that Benson came home drunk and started a quarrel with his wife and intentionally threw the scalding contents of the coffee pot on her. Mrs. Benson's face was badly burned.
