OLDEST SON OF THE OULD SOD

Wisconsin Patriarch a Dozen Years Over a Century.

FINE GARSOON IS TIM SULLIVAN

Talks About Old Times, Old Ways and His Own Way in Out-running Father Time—Heard O'Connell.

"He's a broth of a f'y." is "Daddy" Tim Sullivan, age 112 of Williams Bay, Wis., who was the guest of honor at the annual picnic of the United Celtic-American societies of Chicago, on the 8th inst. "Daddy" Sullivan, as he is called by the people of Williams Bay, was "discovered" by a Chicago scout and taken out of Wisconsin, where he has resided for sixty years, and given the best of everything at the picnic and days of sight-seeing followed. And the way he talked about old times and the "ould sod," was a caution. Listen to some of it caught by the Tribune: "What's that? Do I remember the night of the big wind in Ireland? Why, to be sure, it was in January, 1833. I remember it as well as if it was yesterday. Sure, I was about 40 years of age at the time. Indeed do I remember the big wind. It carried the roof off my father's house and set it down in a bog about two miles away. "I was born in the parish of Castle Gregory, County Kerry, which everybody knows is the best county in Ireland. Are there any County Limerick men here about me? I'd be afraid to make any boast if there was a Limerick or a Mayo man in the crowd. "I was speaking about the big wind. It came in from the Atlantic ocean right at the heads of Kerry, and it swept several counties. But there was no one killed. It was 'Little Christmas' night, and the candles were burning in honor of St. Stephen saved the lives of the people from the storm, Terranouns, man, but it blew a gale. Some parts of Kerry were found the next day in the county of Limerick. That's why some parts of Limerick are all right to this day.

gallon of whisky in all my life. But I used to be a great smoker. Thirty years ago I quit tobacco, after using it for about sixty-five years.

"I'll tell you how I happened to give up the pipe. One day, it was in the fall of the year and we had the thrashers with us. It was just after dinner, and I was going out to the barn. I was smoking my pipe when some of the hot ashes flew and set fire to a small pile of straw. I put the fire out, but it was a narrow escape. I got thinking to myself how easy it would have been to have been burned out of house and home, and so I threw the pipe away.

"I remember hearing the folks in Ireland tell about the battle of Lake Erie at Put-in-bay, which was fought ninety-nine years September 19. That's a long while ago, isn't it? Of course, we were glad to hear of Perry's victory. It was thirty-four years after the battle that I first saw America. I came over in a sailing vessel and landed in Boston. I lived in the east a few years and then went to Canada. There I met a colleger from the County Carlow and we were married. She was a grand woman, even if she didn't come from Kerry. "We went to Wisconsin and raised a family. She died years ago. I have two sons and a daughter, and I live with the girl, who is married. "For the last four or five years I've been taking life easy. All I have to do is to fish, and I don't have to do that unless I want to. I caught one this year that weighed thirty pounds, but he got away."

that he merely wanted all the arms and ammunition aboard the train.

Cars Are Burned. After taking what few arms and cartridges there were, the engineer was compelled to run the train to Aguazaca, where there was a bridge. The mail, baggage and second-class cars were placed on the bridge and set on fire. Telegraph wires were tied to the engine and torn down when the train started. Only the first-class coach and sleeping car escaped destruction.

News of the holdup was brought here tonight by six members of the train crew who made the trip to Nogales on a hand-car. A switch engine was immediately dispatched south to bring back the passengers and coaches not burned. All the baggage of the passengers was burned. Campa sent word by the returning train that he intended to continue south and take possession of Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora, on September 16, Mexican Independence day. He notified the Southern Pacific officials that he would burn every bridge and station and piece of equipment unless the company quit transporting federal troops.

MARFA, Tex., Sept. 11.—Contradicting earlier reports that Ojinaga, Mex., across the border from Presidio, Tex., had been taken by the rebels, an official dispatch tonight to the Mexican consul here said that federal troops are still in possession of the little city, although General Sanchez and 180 of his men abandoned the town and crossed the border into Presidio.

Denial of the report that the city had fallen, came with the restoration this evening of telephonic communication to Presidio, interrupted as a result of a severe rainstorm. According to tonight's information, Sanchez, when he crossed to Presidio, left 100 men of his command under Licon and Pino to defend the city and the little band is fighting gallantly, although short of ammunition. According to an eye witness of the battle, who arrived from Presidio late today, the rebel loss has been heavy. Repeated charges up the hill leading to Ojinaga, he declares, was met by withering fire from the federal trenches and the attacking forces driven back to the foot of the hill, left their dead and wounded lying on the open plain.

Battle Still in Progress. MARFA, Tex., Sept. 12.—The battle of Ojinaga still is in progress, according to reports received here today from border towns. The federals defending the town have almost exhausted their ammunition supplies.

Onawa Elevator Burned. ONAWA, Ia., Sept. 12.—Special Telegram.—The Farmers' elevator here burned last night. The loss is $11,000 with insurance $5,000. The cause is unknown.

Iowa News Notes. CRESCO.—W. C. Strayer, well known resident, is dead at his own hands. He arose at 5:30 in the morning, went out in the alley and sent a bullet into his body which resulted in instant death. ELDORA.—The Rialto general store at Radcliffe, Hardin county, was entered last night and valuable silks, dress goods and furs of a value of $400 were stolen. The loot was hurried away in an automobile. There is no clue. GRUNDY CENTER.—Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dubois, one of the best known of Grundy county couples, yesterday celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage. Mrs. Dubois is 79 and her husband is 83 years of age. Both are in good health.

MARSHALLTOWN.—George W. Curtis, Jr., owner of the Ferguson bank, who was indicted on the state university, $1,000 of the school funds of the Ferguson district while he was treasurer, was released from jail on a $5,000 bond. CRESTON.—Warren T. Spies of this city, a sophomore at the state university, and two friends are making a 500-mile canoe trip down the Iowa and Cedar rivers from Osage to New Boston. They are using a seventeen-foot canoe, carrying it out on the banks and hunting and fishing along the way. They expect to make the trip in ten or twelve days. The boys are on the Iowa state university to take up the year's work at the beginning of the school year.

OSKALOOSA.—More than 300 delegates and double that number of visitors gathered at Oskaloosa this week to attend the Iowa Christian convention, in session here. Among the distinguished visitors present are Royal J. Dye from Belong, Africa, in the Belgian Congo. He has been stationed at that place for the last fourteen years and has gathered a congregation of 1,400 members and has an organized Christian Endeavor of over 600 members, said to be the largest in the world. Another of the noted visitors is Rev. A. S. Cory, who came to this country for the purpose of raising $1,000,000 for the mission work. During the few months he has been in this country he has succeeded in securing pledges for the work amounting to $200,000. Rev. Mr. Cory was at one time pastor of one of the Christian churches at Oskaloosa.

CRESTON.—Colonel Scott, who was tried on the charge of criminal assault in the district court and convicted on the charge of assault and battery, was fined the limit the law allows for this offense, $100 and costs, and was severely scolded by Judge Maxwell when the fine was imposed. Scott, who had been several charges of bootlegging cases yesterday and those held under the charges were released—Curt Cooper, J. F. Goben and Frank North, who were arrested and returned against G. A. Ellis and John Arnold for furnishing liquor to a minor. Al Ballinger was cleared of one charge against him and indicted on another. Ben Carling was cleared of the charge of criminal assault and the young girl who was the complainant was ordered to the removal of her name from the list of names of persons who were proved to be incorrigible. A jury trial was begun against Jacob Shook yesterday on a charge of criminal assault.

The Case Against the Six Fraudulent Presidential Electors in Nebraska

Preamble and Resolutions Adopted by the Republican State Committee in Declaring Vacant Six Places on the State Ticket.

After a recital of the nomination of separate and distinct presidential tickets and adoption of separate and antagonistic platforms by the several political parties: Whereas, At a primary election held on the 19th day of April, 1912, in the state of Nebraska, the following named eight persons, to-wit: A. V. Pease, W. J. Broach, George S. Flora, W. E. Thorne, A. R. Davis, Allan Johnson, Wesley T. Wilcox and Alfred C. Kennedy were nominated as republican presidential electors for the state of Nebraska, to be voted for at the ensuing November election; and Whereas, The said eight persons' so nominated as republican presidential electors did, as a condition precedent thereto, as required by law in that behalf, cause to be filed with the secretary of state petitions by them respectively wherein it was set down: We, the undersigned qualified electors of.....county, in the state of Nebraska, hereby request that the name of.....county, Nebraska, be placed upon the official ballot of said party for the primary election to be held on the 19th day of April, 1912, as a candidate for the office of.....county, Nebraska, at large; and Whereas, Each of said candidates for presidential electors did file over their respective signatures and acceptance of their said respective nomination containing the following: To the Honorable Secretary of State, Lincoln, Nebraska.

and of the United States, and that in the acceptance of their said respective nominations as presidential electors they accepted the same in behalf of and in the name of the republican party of the state of Nebraska and of the United States, with the intention and purpose on their part, if elected as republican presidential electors, that they would continue to be and remain members of the republican party, and would vote for the nominees of the national republican convention for president and vice president of the United States, to-wit: William Howard Taft for president and James S. Sherman for vice president of the United States, and which said petition and which said acceptance by the said presidential electors respectively above set forth was a pledge on their behalf, respectively, that if they were nominated and elected as presidential electors they would cast their votes for William Howard Taft as president and James S. Sherman for vice president of the United States, respectively, the duly nominated candidates of the republican party, and that they would not vote for the nominees for president and vice president of either the democratic party or the nominees of the progressive or bull moose party.

Whereas, Six of said eight persons nominated as republican presidential electors, to-wit: A. V. Pease, W. J. Broach, George S. Flora, W. E. Thorne, A. R. Davis and Allan Johnson, have since the filing of their certificates of nomination, and since the filing of their acceptance of their said respective nominations for presidential electors on the republican ticket, and since the holding of the said primary election, declared their intentions, respectively, to affiliate with the progressive or bull moose party, and have since their nominations as republican presidential electors declared their intentions, respectively, if elected as presidential electors, to vote for the nominees of the progressive or bull moose party, to-wit: Theodore Roosevelt for president and Hiram U. Johnson for vice president of the United States, respectively, and have thereby repudiated their allegiance to the republican party and have thereby repudiated and revoked the certificate of their respective nominations filed with the secretary of state by which they were nominated as republican presidential electors, and have thereby repudiated their several acceptances of the said nomination wherein and whereby they accepted of the same as republican presidential electors, and wherein and whereby they have respectively betrayed their trust as republican presidential electors, and therein and thereby betrayed the republican party which had heretofore reposed trust and confidence in them respectively, and which said trust and confidence on their part, if carried into effect, would, to the extent of power in them vested to defeat the election of the republican nominees for president and vice president, and to defeat in the administration of the government the enforcement of the principles of the republican party as set forth in the republican national platform; and Whereas, The republican electors of the state of Nebraska have a constitutional right to exercise at the coming election the privilege of voting for presidential electors who, when elected, will vote for the nominees of the republican party for president and vice president of the United States, to-wit: William Howard Taft and James S. Sherman, respectively; and Whereas, If the six nominees for presidential electors last above named shall be permitted to have their names upon the ballot at said election as republican presidential electors, the same would result in a fraud and deception upon the republican voters of the state of Nebraska wherein and whereby the said six named persons would obtain votes of the republican voters of the state of Nebraska, and thereafter use the authority vested in them as presidential electors to betray the republican party and to betray the republican voters of the state of Nebraska, by casting their votes for nominees of a distinct and independent party, to-wit, the bull moose party, and all of which would deprive the republican electors of the state of Nebraska of their constitutional right to express their own choice for president and vice president of the United States through their ballot for electors for that purpose; and Whereas, The said six named presidential electors, A. V. Pease, W. J. Broach, George S. Flora, W. E. Thorne, A. R. Davis and Allan Johnson, by their declarations have betrayed their obligations to the republican party and the trust which had been reposed in them by the republican party, and have violated their certificate filed with the secretary of state for nomination, and have violated their pledge given when they accepted said nomination, and have declared their purpose to co-operate or affiliate with, and if elected as presidential electors, not to vote for the nominees of the republican national convention for president and vice president, but to vote for the nominees of the progressive or bull moose party for president and vice president of the United States, and by which they would be casting their ballot likewise in favor of the enforcement in the administration of governmental affairs of the declaration of principles set forth in the platform of the progressive party as distinct from the declaration of principles set forth in the platform of the republican party, and all of which would be as much in violation of the trust heretofore reposed in the six named presidential electors as if they should vote for the nominees of the democratic party, and for the enforcement of the declaration of principles adopted in the democratic national platform; therefore September, 1912, that A. V. Pease, W. J. Broach, George S. Flora, W. E. Thorne, A. R. Davis and Allan Johnson are no longer entitled to be considered as candidates for presidential electors on the republican ticket, and that by their conduct hereinbefore set forth, and for various other causes and reasons, their right to continue to be or remain candidates for presidential electors on the republican ticket has become forfeited and is terminated and vacated. Be It Further Resolved, That the republican state central committee proceed to choose, select and nominate six persons affiliating with the republican party to fill such six vacancies in the office of presidential electors on the republican ticket.

HANDS CRACKING AND BLEEDING

With Eczema, Watery Blisters, Disfigured and Sore. Could Not Put Them in Water, Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

St. Clair, Mo.—"My trouble began about fifteen years ago. It was what some called eczema. The form the disease worked under was a breaking out with watery blisters on my hands which would then dry and scale, and then would follow the trouble of cracking and bleeding, also itching and hurting. My hands were disfigured at the time, and sore. The trouble was very annoying and disturbed my sleep. This last February it was ever so much worse than before. I did not do all my work on account of the condition of my hands. I could not put them in water without making them worse. I tried a lot of home remedies, also salves and liniments that claimed to be a cure for the trouble, but I did not obtain a cure. "At last I saw the advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a sample. I thought they would cure, so I sent for a fifty-cent box of Cuticura Ointment and some Cuticura Soap. A doctor advised me to keep ahead with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they cured me completely. No trace of the trouble remains." (Signed) Mrs. Mary Taylor, Mar. 29, 1912. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

BLUE WAX

When O. Henry, the famous short story writer who died not long ago, located in Texas he evidently was not very favorably impressed, for this is what he wrote back to his North Carolina home: "If you see anybody about to start to Texas to live, especially to this part, if you will take your scalp-pouder and sever the jugular vein, cut the brachialpouder and hamstring him, after he knows what you have done for him he will rise and call you blessed. This country is a silent but eloquent refutation of Bob Ingersoll's theory; a man here gets progressively insane, melancholy and unreasonably inane, finally dies of lead poisoning in his boots, while in a good old land like Greensboro a man can die as they do every day, with all the benefits of the clergy."

Sherman's March To The Sea

Breaking Loose from His Communications and Burning the City of Atlanta, Sherman Started With 60,000 Men for the Atlantic Coast. In Five Weeks He Marched 300 Miles, Reached the Sea, Stormed Fort McAllister, and Captured Savannah—The Effect of This March Can Hardly Be Over Estimated. A Fertile Region, Sixty Miles Wide and Three Hundred Miles Long Was Destroyed. Three Hundred Thousand Men, Women and Children Destroyed. Immense Supplies of Provisions Were Captured and the Already Suffered Confederacy Was Dealt A Blow That Hastened the End of the War. In the Great 11th Section

Brady War Photographs

(Illustrating Elson's New History of the Civil War) you can see pictures after pictures taken on the spot. Several of them show the very scenes of the fight taken on the same day the torch was applied, while the story of Sherman's march in this section is like no tale you have ever heard. It is absolutely different from any book you have ever read. It is interesting, thrilling, surprising. Some of the War Photographs are: The Atlanta Bank Before the March to the Sea.
