LAST OF ALLEN CLAN CAUGHT BY OFFICERS WHO FOLLOW FIANCEE

Virginia and North Carolina for about a month, and then got over into Kentucky, going to Louisville where they spent several days. Their next stop was in St. Louis, and here they remained a week. They had sufficient money for their needs and traveled as first-class passengers on the trains.

"I don't know why we came to Des Moines," said Allen to the Associated Press, "unless it was that I thought we would be safer here. Several years ago I was in the Klondike, and I figured that the officers would think I had gone back there. So we came to Des Moines, and I got work as a carpenter and expected to remain here until it was safe back home."

"I would have given myself up long ago, if I had thought we could get a square deal. But you see what they've done to Floyd, my brother, and Claude."

Allen declared that the court house tragedy was the fault of the officers, who, he said, began the shooting. He said: "We had heard a few days before Floyd Allen's trial began that Sheriff Webb had bought 100 rounds of cartridges and had made the remark that he was going to show that Allen gang some 'real court.' But we did not expect trouble that day, and there would not have been any if the officers had not begun it."

MINERS FIRE UPON PICKETS

Bloodless Battle Fought in Dark at Holley, W. Va.

MARTIAL LAW TO BE EXTENDED

Rumor that General Fight Between Contending Factions of Miners is Now in Progress at Hughestown.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 14.—Military outposts were fired upon during the early hours today at Holley, in the heart of the territory under martial law because of the miners' strike. The pickets replied and for a time the exchange was brisk, but a careful search of the wooded hillside where they came from, showed no evidence that any bullets had taken effect. When the shooting was reported to military headquarters, Companies A and E of Parkersburg and Company I of Fairmont were ordered to the place.

This is payday in the unionized section on the north bank of the Kanawha river, where the men struck last week, but returned to work on Tuesday. It was signalled at Hughestown by a fight which began at 3 o'clock, the shooting being general. It is reported here that contending factions of miners were engaged, but the result of the fighting is not yet known.

Military authorities are of the opinion that martial law will be extended north of the Kanawha river, where rioting is said to be increasing. It was stated today that Governor Glascock had ordered an investigation with that end in view, but the proclamation is not expected before Sunday night, time being needed to send troops into the district.

OLD SOLDIER NOT CITIZEN

Served Thirty-Odd Years in Army, but Can't Vote.

CASE OF EDWARD D. CAHOTA

Chinese Boy Whose Life Has Been Spent in United States Now Resident of State of Nebraska.

Although Edward D. Cahota of Valentine, Neb., has resided in the United States for nearly sixty years and has served thirty years as a private soldier and is now on the pension list, he is a man without a country. He is a Chinese, but cannot speak his native tongue. Since he was 5 years of age he has resided in the United States. During the latter part of the civil war he fought at Cold Harbor, Petersburg and Appomattox with General Grant.

However, Cahota did not know that he was not a citizen of the United States until he tried to take up a homestead. He paid his $4 filing fee, when he discovered that he was not a citizen of this country and, therefore, was unable to take up a claim.

Cahota was 5 years of age when his father died, leaving him homeless. He was picked up as a stray on the docks of Canton by R. E. Day, an American sea captain in the year 1857. Captain Day took the little Chinese boy to his home in Gloucester, Mass., and reared him as a son.

Thirty Years a Soldier.

At the age of 17 the young Chinaman enlisted in the Twenty-third Massachusetts regiment and immediately into service under Grant in his final victorious campaign in the year of 1864. He returned to his home in Gloucester at the close of the war and in 1869 re-enlisted in the regular army and served until his retirement thirty years later.

Cahota cannot become a citizen of the United States unless congress by a special act should so declare him. During a recent trip to Valentine, Frank E. Edgerton, assistant attorney general of Nebraska, talked with Cahota, telling him he had taken the matter up with Senator Norris Brown asking him to introduce a special bill to give citizenship to him.

Wedded for Years.

While stationed at a fort in South Dakota, Cahota was married to a young Norwegian woman. He has 11 evchilren living. One of his sons is in the restaurant business with him at Valentine and a daughter is teaching school in Wyoming.

Cahota received splendid treatment from one, John Martin, who was first mate aboard the ship on which the young Chinaman sailed to New York. Many years later, Cahota as private in the United States army, was standing on the corner on one of the streets of San Francisco, when Martin, then a prospector in the gold fields approached him and asked to be directed to a hotel of moderate price. Cahota took him to a hotel where the Chinaman was known and asked that he be given the best of service, and where the proprietor on Cahota's orders charged Martin nothing. Later Martin learned his benefactor was the Chinese boy he had befriended on the voyage to America.

TO FIGHT AGAINST RECKLESS DRIVING

railroads and every state considers it its duty to pass a number of regulatory railroad bills at every session of the legislature. And I believe more people are being injured by automobiles than by railroads. Why not have the legislature give some of their time to this menace? There is a state officer who looks after the health of hogs, horses, and cows; there is a state inspector who sees that all below a certain grade is not sold in the state; government experts show the people how to raise potatoes and alfalfa, how to milk cows and how to feed hogs. But nobody seems to care anything about this army of cripples which the reckless automobilist is leaving behind him.

"I am surprised to find, from my correspondence on this subject, that many cities make no report of automobile accidents. I suppose every one keeps a record of the number of dead cases hauled out of the alleys but some cities do not seem to take much interest in the citizens who are injured by automobiles."

Chief Dunn is still at work gathering materials for the crusade, and when he lays the information before the National Association of Police Chiefs, he expects to have returns from practically all the big cities of the country.

"But the fact that in just twelve of our cities, in just one year, 150 people were killed and over 4,000 injured, shows the terrible menace of the reckless automobilist," says the chief.

WEIRD SESSION OF HOODOOS

Thirteen Club Gathers at Banquet on Friday, the Thirteenth.

DRINK FROM HUMAN SKULLS

Mystic Number of Thirteen Meet from 11 to 13 O'clock and Partake of Thirteen Unearthly Drinks.

The Thirteen club of Omaha celebrated Friday, the thirteenth, last evening with one of its weird functions at the club's rooms, Fourteenth and Douglas streets.

Only the thirteen members of the club were present at the banquet which began at 11 o'clock and was concluded at the thirteenth hour, commonly known as 1:30.

A toast to the mystic number thirteen was drunk at the stroke of 1 o'clock.

The thirteen members drank from skulls and thirteen candles illuminated the tables.

During the banquet the members told of experiences during the day, generally supposed to be an unlucky one on account of the combination of Friday and the 13th of the month.

For most thrilling experiences Secretary W. L. Painter was given the prize. He stated that he only took thirteen drinks. This included water and milk and one drink of tea.

Fred Hansen, captain of the Cross Bowling team, claims he always bowls his best on the 13th.

President J. S. Cross presided at the meeting and music was furnished by Prof. A. B. Blasius and his orchestra.

The next meeting of the club will be Friday, December 12.

Young Victor Allen Acquitted by Jury

WITHEVILLE, Va., Sept. 14.—Victor Allen, last of the Allen clanmen to be tried, was acquitted today of the charge of having participated in the Carroll county court house murders at Hillsville last March.

It took the jury only half an hour to find its verdict declaring Allen not guilty of the murder of the Carroll county prosecuting attorney, W. M. Foster. The verdict brought a demonstration from the spectators, a large portion of whom were women. At the request of counsel for the state the other indictments against him were dismissed.

MARRIED WOMEN TAR AND FEATHER GIRL

NORWALK, O., Sept. 14.—A young girl of Clarksville, O., it became known today, was the victim of eight married women, dressed as men, who on Sunday night induced the girl to take a walk and then tarred and feathered her. The girl headed their warning and disappeared. She was charged with flirting.

Leaders of the "tar party" selected a lonely spot in the country, where they stripped the girl and administered the tar. Afterward she was warned to leave town or "worse would follow."

BELSWAX

The late Dr. King, bishop of Lincoln, had a valet who was a little reckless in his mode of life when not on duty with the bishop. The bishop, hoping to counteract this, tried often to impress him with the omniscience and omnipresence of his Divine Master. One day, when Joseph was assisting him in some of the details of his toilet, he said to him, "Joseph, who is it that always has an eye upon you. Who follows you wherever you go. Who sees your every action and hears your every word, and to whom even I am as a worm of the earth?"

Joseph advanced quite close to the bishop and looking around guardedly, replied in a very low voice, "The missus, sir!"
