THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE: SEPTEMBER 22, 1912.

The Busy Bees DAY there is a letter of encouragement for the Blue Side, and the Red Side. The queen of the Busy Bees, who leads the Blue Side, writes congratulating her side for having won both first and second places last Sunday and spurring them on to more victories. Myron Tibbits, a South Omaha Busy Bee of the Red Side, writes urging the other members of this side to send more letters and better ones so that they may win more prizes

With so much interest shown by the Busy Bees of each side,, there probably will be a nip and tuck contest between the Reds and Blues from now until January, when the winning side is announced.

The suggestion by Myron Tibbits that the approach of winter will bring the Busy Bees renewed interest in their page is undoubtedly true. The cool, srisp weather gives everyone more ambition in every line of work and play. The effect is noticeable on the Children's page today. There are many more letters than last week and very good ones, too.

Little Stories by Little Folk Carlsbad. By Alfred Mayer, 603 Georgia Avenue. Red Side. Carisbad is a town of not more than $,000 inhabitants. Most of the citizens speak at least two or more languages. These two are their own tongue and English. The reason for this is because at least three-fourths of the visitors. yearly are Americans: Now, I suppose you will wonder why so many people go to Carlsbad in the summer. It is because "arlshad is the Excelsior Springs of Europe. Its waters are supposed to be the best in the world. Not only Americans and Europeans go to Carishad, but people from all over the world go there. Royalty is very numerous. From 60,000 to 75,000 people go to Carisbad every year. During November, December, January, February and March everything is very quiet. The hotelkeepers are remodeling their hotels, the merchants are putting in new stocks and everything is being freshened up for the coming season.

It is July and August that we are there, and now I will tell you our experiences.

As soon as we hear the conductor yell our destination-Carlsbad-we hand our grips to the baggageman and hall a cab. like to meet more of them. Then we ride for about two miles. On the way we see Turks, Russians, Englishmen, Germans and many other nationalities.

The Faun.

By Leona B. Johnston, Aged 11 Years, 255 Evans Street, Omaha, Blue Side.

I am going to tell you a story in writing about a musical person who is playing upon a flute. He is called the Faun. In old Greek history the Faun is known as a beautiful god. He is half gost and half man, which you can tell by his pointed ears.

We have this statue in our school Lothrop. The Faun is standing upon an oak stand by our room.

I wish to thank you for the prize I won. It is called "Common Friends and Foes.

I hope my story will be published and read by the members of the hive.

The Selfish Child.

By Gertrude Altmaun, Aged 10 Years, 1813 Willis Avenue, Omaha.

Once upon a time there was a boy who was very selfish. One day as he was walking in the road he met a fairy. "Would you like to come and live with mer" asked the fairy.

"Yes indeed," said the boy. The little boy went to live with the fairy a, while. When he got to the fairy's castle he looked about. The walls were made of mirrors and in the corner of the room was a fountain. By the fountain there was a bird singing merrlly

"I am going on a journey." said the fairy, "and if you want me I will come There is a cupboard full of food so tielp yourself."

""hh." said the boy. "This is fine." Then he lay down on the couch and looked in the glass to see himself. He forget all about the poor b'rd.

The next morning when he got up the rooms were getting darker, the mirsors were getting smaller. He was hunery so he went to the cupboard, but there was only a piece of bread.

He heard the bird chirp so he gave the bird the bread and he saw a little water in the fountain so he filled that gup with the water. Then the setting lighter and the foun-
