Nebraska's Oldest Printer in Hospital

D. D. Sheperdon, now of Hartington, Neb., fifty years a printer, and the man who has the unique distinction of having assisted in setting up the first power press in The Omaha Bee office, lies in a critical condition at the Methodist hospital. He is suffering from an ailment of the liver and while he is receiving every attention from the surgeons and nurses, there is little hope of his recovery. A preliminary examination on his arrival at the hospital showed that his ailment was a serious one and his condition is such as to make an operation unwise. As soon as he is strong enough he will return to Hartington and pass the remainder of his days with his wife and children.

Daniel Dwight Sheperdon was born in Owego, N. Y., October 6, 1842, and commenced his apprenticeship as a printer in the office of the Owego Gazette in April, 1862. He worked on the Gazette, the Boston News and other eastern newspapers until 1871, when he came west. In those days, linotypes, folding machines, color presses and the other improvements of the modern newspaper office were unknown and this aged printer can relate many interesting incidents of his various experiences. His first stopping place when he came to Nebraska was Plattsmouth, where he worked for a few weeks and then went to Omaha, where he secured employment in the press room of the Omaha Republican. Shortly after the establishment of The Omaha Bee, in 1871, he entered the press room of The Bee and in the spring of 1873 he assisted in erecting the first power press used by that newspaper, a Cincinnati hand cylinder. This was a crude affair compared to the gigantic printing presses on which The Bee is now printed. From The Bee office he went to the office of the Danke Pioneer, where he worked for Mark Hansen for a number of years and subsequently worked at his trade in Oakland, Pender and other towns. In 1906 he went with his family to Hartington, where he has led an active life up until the time of his recent illness.

last summer he has cultivated a large piece of ground and when he was taken sick he had one of the finest flocks of Buff Rocks in the state. But, while not working actively at the printing trade, he has "held down a case" many times during his residence in Hartington and was often called upon for counsel and advice.

In 1908, Mr. Sheperdon was married to Miss Agnes V. Hewitt of Owego and to this union were born eleven children, only four of whom are now living. Of the four sons, three have followed in their father's footsteps, one being foreman of the Cedar County News and the other two being employed in the office of the Hartington Herald.

TIMELY REAL ESTATE GOSSIP

Real Estate Exchange Gradually is Taking On More Work.

BANK BUILDINGS INCREASING

An Indication of the Prosperity of Nebraska and Iowa is Strongly Shown in the Erection of New Buildings.

The Real Estate exchange has struck its stride and gotten into the work of organized endeavors with a vengeance. Only three meetings have been held and gradually the work of the body is increasing. With each one some new plans have been made and the volume of business for new commitments increases.

At the last meeting of the organization a protest against the neglect of paving between the street car tracks was strongly voiced and a committee was appointed to wait upon the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company officials and the city commissioners in an endeavor to get these improvements.

Some of the members were quite indignant in speaking of the conditions and the entire exchange seemed to be very desirous of having some action taken by the street car company in the matter. Places where the pavement is broken about the city were pointed out and suggestions were made that in some of these spots where the grass has grown up in the street silt should be sprinkled to kill the vegetation.

Suggestions also were made that the street crossings where the car tracks stand above the level of the street should be made so vehicles could pass over them without the drivers having to go two or three blocks out of their way.

When the Commercial club has moved into its new quarters on the seventeenth and eighteenth floors of the new Woodmen of the World building the Real Estate exchange will have an excellent home. A contract has been made between the exchange and the Commercial club allowing the exchange a room to accommodate sixty members where the Wednesday luncheons and meetings may be held. At the last meeting the exchange voted its thanks to the Commercial club for the provision of the quarters.

Through the work of the local architects an idea may be gotten of the condition of business in Nebraska during the last few months. One of the more noticeable signs of general prosperity is the unusual number of new banks being erected throughout the state of Nebraska and the neighboring state of Iowa.

Architect Lloyd Willis has some of these proofs. During the last few months he has drawn plans and made specifications for six new brick buildings scattered throughout Nebraska and Iowa. The increase of banks and the increase of banking business is a sure barometer of business activity and a sign of prosperity. These new buildings will show a total valuation up in the thousands of dollars.

Atlantic, Ia., will have two of these new structures. There is one for Woodbine, Ia., and another for Pisgah. The new First National bank of York, Neb., will cost $100,000. Plans are now being drawn for a fine bank building to be erected at Clark, Neb. These plans have been drawn and are being drawn by Architect Willis. If other architects are doing business in a like proportion the indications of big business in Nebraska and Iowa are very pertinent.

As-Sar-Bon Hill is the name of a new addition being opened by the Hastings & Heyden Co. The new addition is located between Brown and Fort streets and Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth streets. The company has plotted off the addition into fifty-six lots which will sell on the $5 down, $5 a month plan. They run in price from $175 to $275.

A unique plan has been adopted by the company to draw the crowds to the district for inspection. They have a jar of beans on which the visitors are to guess the number, the one guessing the nearest to the correct number being rewarded.

The addition is five blocks from the new Central park school and these blocks from the Fortieth street and Grand avenue carline.

The apartment house being erected by Dr. L. B. Lichtenwalner at Park and Poppleton avenues is nearing completion and soon plans for another to be built next door to it will be commenced.

The apartment house, named the Virginia, is a counterpart of the Maryland which stands in the same block. The new house will be similar to these two. Dr. Lichtenwalner is spending $30,000 on the present building. It will be completed by the first of the year.

The largest residence sale of the week was that of the Dr. Elmer R. Porter's home at 42 North Thirty-eighth avenue to Arthur D. Brandels. The price paid for the residence was not given out, but is known to have been a large amount.

Mrs. Anna Rowley of South Omaha has sold a section of land in Kimball county, the prize wheat county, to Ruby M. Luskart of Omaha. Fifteen dollars an acre was paid for the farm land. It is located six miles north of Dix, Neb.

Where we continue to give free demonstrations of the wonderful little machine. Call upon us today and see this wonder.

Remember that the results of vibratory treatments are certain. Nothing is left to guesswork. Vibration is one of the principal laws of nature.

Vibratory massage tones up the system generally; penetrates to the innermost nerve, muscle, blood vessel and fibre, causing them all to vibrate in unison and perform their respective functions perfectly and in harmony with each other.

Vibration is used and recommended by noted physicians all over the world. Diseases that have been pronounced incurable by many physicians have been successfully treated by vibration and the patient restored to perfect health. Poor circulation is the foundation of all diseases; poor circulation affects the organs of the body, causing constipation, stomach, liver, kidney and bladder trouble. When the kidneys are unable to properly do their work, Uric Acid, Albumen, Sugar and other poisons cannot be carried out of the system; the result is Rheumatism, Bright's Disease, Diabetes and other serious complications.

Make your mark in life—Be a Top-notch. Use nature's own method to develop your powers; force out decay, force out the causes of sickness, thus renewing youth, elasticity and compelling health, happiness and success.

Perfect circulation means perfect health. Vibration is the only known method of reaching, increasing and controlling the entire circulation without injuriously affecting the heart; "Try-New-Life," therefore, cures naturally by nature's own method.

Give us a chance to show what "Try-New-Life" will do for you.
