FARMERS AFFECTED BY CHANGE

President Pearson of Ames, Agricultural College, Arrives and Takes Up Duties After Summer in Europe.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Sept. 23.—(Special Telegram.)—The railroads of the state have filed notice with the State Railway commission that they intend to discontinue the reduced rate on returned articles, which has been in effect for a number of years.

For years the railroads have charged only half the rate on agricultural implements, vehicles and a large list of articles which were returned to factories for repairs. Farmers took advantage of these rates to send their implements back to the factories for repairs, and the reduction of the rate will effect every farmer in the state, as well as every machine man and implement dealer. The matter will be heard before the commission on October 1.

"Syrup of Figs" is a gentle, natural, safe and effective remedy for all these troubles. It cleanses the bowels, soothes the stomach, and restores the child to its normal, happy, healthy state.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or your little one has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatic it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious fig taste.

WORLD ATTACK ON DISEASE

Experts on Hygiene from Thirty-Three Nations at Washington.

WELCOMED BY PRESIDENT TAFT

Three Thousand Delegates Exchange 'Greetings in Continental Memorial Hall—First Meeting Held in America.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Welcomed by President Taft and attended by some 3,000 delegates from all parts of the world, the fifteenth international congress of Hygiene and Demography convened today. It was the first time in sixty years of existence the congress has met in the United States.

United to free the human race from disease, these warriors for a new and wider form of freedom gathered for the exchange of greetings in Memorial Continental hall, the marble home of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

To President Taft's greeting, brief responses were made by the head of the delegation from each of the thirty-three countries represented. This was followed by an address by Dr. Max Rubner of the Emperor Frederick William university, Berlin, president of the permanent international commission of the congress, on "An explanation of the meaning of hygiene and demography in the sanitary administration of nations, with special emphasis upon co-operative international work and an historical review of what has been accomplished to date."

Immediately after the morning session the congress was prepared to start in on the long series of lectures and discussions which will continue throughout the week. Scheduled for today in the various sections into which congress has been divided were discussions on public health organization and administration in England and Germany, the hygiene of infancy and childhood, the physiology and pathology of work and fatigue, bacillus carriers and the importance of flies and other insects as carriers of infectious diseases, the importance of shell fish, particularly oysters, in relation to infectious diseases, the control of diseases in the army, the use of hospital ships and the development of vital statistics in the United States since 1909 and measures needed for the immediate future.

President Taft's Address

President Taft in his address said: "We need to develop under government auspices a bureau or a department in which the funds of the government shall be expended for research of every kind useful in the practice and enforcement of hygiene and preventive medicine."

"That something of this sort may grow out of the present United States public health service there is reason to believe," continued the president, "but it will need far greater appropriations and a widening of its scope of duties before it shall have filled the place that the medical profession of this country has a right to expect the general government to create in the progress of hygiene and demography."

Referring to the subject of tropical hygiene, President Taft said: "Our responsibilities in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, and now on the Isthmus of Panama, have so enlarged our knowledge of the possibilities of successful sanitation, under the most unfavorable conditions and have so impressed both professional men and the layman as to necessitate more rigid and comprehensive health laws and enforcement of them for the general public good, that if the Spanish war resulted in nothing else, it was worth greatly more than its cost in this useful development of one of the most important functions that modern government has to discharge, as well as in making clear the need of an additional branch of general education in the matter of hygiene of the home and the individual."

Great Work Accomplished

"When we first went into the tropics our purpose was to make that region habitable for white people. We have demonstrated that as a possibility. Now we have gone beyond the mere provision for those who come from the temperate zone, and we are engaged in developing the tropical races into a strength of body and freedom from disease that they have never had before.

"I consider it a proud record of the American army that through its medical corps engaged in hygienic work in the tropics so many important discoveries as the transmission of disease and the methods of stopping its spread have been given to the world and all of this is dated chiefly from the time of the Spanish war.

"It is very certain that but for those discoveries the construction of the Panama canal which now since 1904 has been going on with giant strides, and which will be completed within a year, would have been impossible. The possibilities of improvement through governmental hygiene of tropical countries are so great that it makes one who has any conception of what they are, grow enthusiastic in the contemplation of what centuries may bring forth in this regard."

ROOSEVELT SURE OR POOR THIRD PLACE IN PRESIDENTIAL RACE

ated throughout his own political career, gave him the nomination for mayor of New York. It was good enough for him in 1885, when he wanted to be civil service commissioner, although the national leader at that time was Matthew Stanley Quay of Pennsylvania. He did not desert in 1897, when he wanted to be assistant secretary of the navy, although he had to get the place through the kindly assistance of Hanna, Platt and Quay. He did not repudiate the party in 1898, when he wanted the nomination for governor of New York, and when he was willing to remain on friendly terms with the Platt machine to secure that nomination.

The party was good in 1900, when Platt and Quay forced his nomination for the vice presidency. It was all right in 1904, when he demanded of it his own nomination for the presidency. And there was nothing the matter with it in 1908, when he dictated the nomination of his successor, when he co-operated cordially with the members of the same republican national committee, whom he now denounces as scoundrels and thieves.

"The party would have been good enough in 1912 if it had continued to accept orders from him. It would have been good enough if it had defied the anti-trust term tradition and given him the nomination. There would have been no objection to the participation of the black man of the south in political affairs if the black man of the south had been no outcry against the participation of the south in the nomination of a republican president if the southern delegates had been for Roosevelt. The party would never have been denounced as reactionary if it had nominated 'Mc.' But it didn't, and falling to make it the instrument of his own vaulting ambition and subservient to his own venal spirit, he determined upon its destruction.

"But the people are of another mind. Mr. Roosevelt will disappear from the scene of activities in due time, but the republican party will survive. No one man is indispensable to the party, just as no one man is indispensable to the country. It is this knowledge which is gaining ground. The people are now fully apprised of the splendid attainments and the high character of their chief executive. And because of it, because of the conviction that prosperity and development along all lines—material and ideal—are best subserved by it, the people are turning to President Taft in such numbers as to give promise of his re-election in November, an outcome in which I have the deepest abiding faith."

Fifteen Hundred Protest Against Transfer of Principals.

POLICE RESERVES CALLED OUT

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Police reserves were called out today to quell a riot of 1,500 public school boys who took this mode of protesting against transfers of their principals. Pupils of two schools were involved, and for a short time they smashed windows, routed the janitors with showers of vegetables and terrorized the neighborhood. The youngsters paraded the streets and prevented children who did not join them from entering the school buildings.

Nature's Way Is The Best.

Buried deep in our American forest we find bloodroot, queen's root, man-drake and stone root, golden seal, Oregon grape root and cherrybark. Of these Dr. R. V. Pierce made a pure glyceric extract which has been favorably known for over forty years. He called it "Golden Medical Discovery."

This "Discovery" purifies the blood and tones up the stomach and the entire system in Nature's own way. It's just the tissue builder and tonic you require when recovering from a hard cold, grip, or pneumonia. No matter how straggled the constitution the stomach is apt to be "out of kilter" at times; in consequence the blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people experience at this time of the year is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becoming this—you feel "blue."

"More than a week ago I was suffering with an awful cold in my head, throat, lungs, and body," writes Mrs. JAMES G. KENT, of 710 L. Street, S. E., Washington, D. C. "Some called it La Grippe, some pneumonia. I was advised by a friend to try a bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I tried a bottle and it did me so much good that I feel safe in saying it is the greatest and best medicine that I ever took. My health is much better than it was before using your medicine. It does all you claim for it and is satisfactory."
