MASONS LAY CORNERSTONE

Scottish Rite Cathedral Started with Formal Ceremonies.

RAIN FAILS TO DAMPEN ARDOR

Bishop George A. Beecher is Grand Orator—Historic Articles Are Placed in the Box of the Cornerstone.

With most solemn Masonic ceremonies and during a light, drizzling rain, the corner stone of the Scottish Rite cathedral was laid at Twentieth and Douglas streets yesterday afternoon, the Masonic grand lodge officers officiating.

The procession formed at Masonic temple, Sixteenth and Capitol avenue at 1:30 o'clock and marched to the grounds, where the exercises were held. The procession was made up of the grand lodge and the officers, the Scottish Rite Masons members of the local Blue Lodges of the city and visitors from lodges out in the state. The music was furnished by the Fort Crook military band. In the procession the Scottish Rite Masons acted as a special escort for the grand lodge officers.

At the scene of the laying of the cornerstone a large platform had been erected. This was occupied by the grand lodge and Scottish Rite officers and the quartet made up of male voices, that furnished the vocal music for the occasion.

The local Masons and the visitors formed in a hollow square about the cornerstone (a huge block of gray granite, inscribed with the order by which it was laid and the date of laying) and stood with bowed heads while Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks, acting as grand chaplain, offered prayer. Following this, the oration was delivered by Bishop George A. Beecher of Kearney, acting in the capacity of grand orator.

Stone is Placed. The stone that had been suspended over its resting place was swung a little lower and then Grand Master James R. Cain and Deputy Grand Master Alpha Morgan stepped to its side, where with plumb and ball they tested its position after which the former, with the trowel used by the Masonic grand lodge in laying the corner stone of the new Douglas county court house, spread a coat of mortar upon the surface of the wall under the stone. The box containing the archives was slipped in place and the stone was lowered.

Once again the plumb was used and then the level. With a mallet, the property of the grand lodge and the gift of the late George W. Lanning, the block was gently tapped and pronounced properly laid.

The mallet used is one of the most treasured properties of the grand lodge. It was taken from one of the ancient Egyptian tombs and is supposed to be at least 3,000 years old. It is of wood, the kind of which is unknown, is as hard as iron and shows the marks of long and much usage.

Contests of the Box. In the copper box in the center of the cornerstone were placed numerous articles, including the proceedings of the 1912 session of the Nebraska Masonic grand lodge, the 1912 law of Free Masonry, the proceedings of the grand chapter 1911, proceedings of the grand council of the Nebraska Masonic home and the record of the 1907 meeting of the stockholders, block of wood from George Washington's birthplace, the gift of Henry H. Andrews, Callaway, Neb.; monitor and ceremonies of the Nebraska grand lodge, tableaux of officers and members of the supreme council of the Scottish Rite for the southern jurisdiction, announcement of the cornerstone class convocation of November, 1912; engraved picture of the spring reunion class, roster of membership of the Scottish Rite bodies of Omaha, Maundy Thursday program of Semper Fidelis chapter No. 1, Knights Rose Croix; steel engraved invitation to the cornerstone laying, register of officers of Scottish Rite bodies of Omaha, roster of trustees of the Scottish Rite Cathedral association in charge of building operations.

Work upon the construction of the building will be continued, but it is not expected that it will be completed until next year. It is to be a three-story, brick, stone and iron fireproof structure, costing $150,000 besides the furnishings.

THE SOCIETY OF THE BEE-HIVE

By MELLIFICIA. Wednesday, Oct. 2, 1912.

GOULD DIETZ, ex-king of Ak-Sar-Ben, member of the board of governors and of the parade committee, very gallantly offered his automobile to some of last year's debutantes to ride in at the floral parade Tuesday. He arranged for a decoration of poinsettias which was very effective, as all who saw the parade will agree.

But—and here's the rub—when the society girls—Misses Katherine Beeson, Elizabeth Bruce and Mildred Butler—asked what color of costumes they should wear to correspond with the car Mr. Dietz told them pink. So the young women planned to wear white dresses and pink picture hats.

They appeared at Twenty-fourth and Farnam streets, where the cars were assembled for the parade, full of anticipation and curiosity to see the car they were to ride in. Imagine the dismay of the pink-hatted young women when they were shown to the car brilliant with red poinsettias.

Now, as every woman knows, red and pink "swear" at each other abominably. What were the girls to do? The hats could not be worn—that was certain. So with sighs of regret the young women shoved the pink hats under the seats and decided to ride bareheaded.

And they really looked far prettier and had much more fun riding with their locks flying than if they had worn the hats.

Mr. Dietz declares that he thought that the flowers on the car were pink; yet he denies that he is color-blind.

President E. L. Rouse of the State Teachers' association, expects the largest attendance in years at the meeting November 6, 7 and 8, and is making an effort to have as many teachers and members of boards of education of state towns as possible to attend. Invitations have been sent to school boards asking them to dismiss and allow teachers to attend on pay, which will be done in the majority of towns. An effort is being made to have at least one representative of each school board attend the meetings.

Arrangements as previously made will be carried out, as speakers and leaders in the work will, unless some unforeseen incident prevents, be able to fill their engagements. Principal Kate McHugh of the high school will serve tea to the visiting teachers Thursday afternoon of convention week, high school students and teachers assisting her.

WHEEL STICKS AND MANY ARE KEPT UP IN THE RAIN

Half a dozen riders on the Ferris wheel at the carnival grounds, including three women, were kept at the top of the wheel in a driving rain yesterday, when the mechanism became disordered and it was dangerous to keep the wheel revolving. By lurches and leaps two of the patrons were brought back to the landing, but in order to release the other four from their perilous positions it was necessary to turn the wheel slowly backward until the passengers reached the landing.

TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

An Excellent Recipe That Can Be Prepared in Your Own Home.

The problem of how to get rid of gray hair without resorting to the store preparations that leave the hair sticky and that you easily detected, can be very satisfactorily solved by using a simple preparation which you can make in the privacy of your own home. Get at any drug store, one ounce of bay rum, one-quarter ounce of glycerine and a small box of Barbo Compound; then dissolve the Barbo Compound in seven ounces of water, add the bay rum and glycerine, and you have a superior mixture that will not only gradually darken your gray hair, but make it soft, glossy and beautiful, remove dandruff and other scalp disorders and defy the most critical observers. It need not be applied often, but once a week, and after the hair is sufficiently darkened, every two weeks will be often enough to keep the hair and scalp in good condition. Be sure your druggist gives you Barbo Compound, for no other ingredient will do in this recipe. If he hasn't it in stock, he can get it from his wholesaler.—Advertisement.
