SHOT FOR SENATOR PENROSE
Witness Says He Should Be Expelled from the Senate Because of His Friendliness for Standard Oil Company.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—I asked no man to contribute to the campaign fund when I was elected president of the United States, and I wish to reiterate that Mr. Bliss and Mr. Cortelyou both assured me that no promise had been made as a return for any contribution. Neither they or any one else having authority, asked me to act, or refrain from acting in any matter because any contribution had been made or withheld.

"Gentlemen, could I put it more sweepingly?"

In these words, Colonel Roosevelt summarized his testimony today at the close of the first part of his hearing before the Clapp committee of the senate investigating committee.

The colonel specifically denied that he ever asked for contributions to his 1904 campaign fund; or that he had known of any contribution by J. F. Morgan.

To those unequivocal statements Colonel Roosevelt added again that he had ordered the return to the Standard Oil company of any contribution it might have made in 1904; and that he did not believe Cornelius N. Bliss had ever demanded a contribution from John D. Archbold or from any corporation by any methods of extortion.

Colonel Roosevelt did not deny that corporations had contributed to the 1904 campaign. He said his letters and published statements had always acknowledged that fact, but he specified that no such contributions had ever been obtained under any suggestion that the administration would reward the givers with special favors.

Colonel Roosevelt's testimony bristled with characteristic statements.

"Senator Penrose should be driven from the senate," he declared, "because of his acknowledged friendliness with Standard Oil interests. Charles E. Hillis and Congressman Barthold should be forced to prove their statements that the Roosevelt primary campaign funds this year had amounted to $2,000,000 or $4,000,000 or should be driven out of public life."

He declared as had Senator Dixon, his campaign manager, Wednesday, that the senate committee's activities had thus far been directed solely toward the Roosevelt campaign funds and that no attention had been paid to other candidates. He was assured by Senator Clapp that the representatives of other candidates would all be called "before election."

Corridors Are Crowded.
Several hundred people were lined up in the corridors of the building two hours before the time set for the hearing, hoping to get into the little committee room, with its capacity for about 100. Hundreds of others packed the doorways and surrounded the buildings to see Colonel Roosevelt enter. Seats had been reserved by Chairman Clapp for George Reid, Australian high commissioner, and Lady Reid, who had been Roosevelt's hosts abroad.

A murmur of applause, culminating in a cheer, greeted Colonel Roosevelt as he entered the building about five minutes before the time set for his appearance. He forced his way through the crowds in the corridors with some difficulty and found his way to Senator Clapp's private room. There he met the members of the committee. The crowd continued to grow, and every door of the big room was surrounded by an anxious crowd.

Colonel Roosevelt learned this morning that Governor Hadley of Missouri had declared in favor of President Taft. He would make no comment upon the governor's action. Nor would he express an opinion upon the nomination of Congressman Sulzer as democratic candidate for governor of New York.

"I have nothing to say upon any subject," said the colonel.

Greeted with Applause.
The spectators applauded vigorously as Colonel Roosevelt entered the room, followed by a secretary lugging a big valise filled with papers. The colonel took his place in the witness chair and the secretary with the big grip between his knees seated himself beside him.

"You are a candidate for president in 1904?" asked Senator Clapp.

"I was," answered the colonel shortly. Senator Clapp asked Colonel Roosevelt if his attention had been called to certain statements made by John D. Archbold.

"It has," replied Colonel Roosevelt tersely.

FOURTEEN DEAD IN SUBMARINE WRECK

British Craft Cut in Two in Encounter with American Steamship Amerika.

ACCIDENT OFF COAST OF KENT
Flotilla Leaves Dover to Participate in Maneuvers.

ONE MAN OF THE CREW SAVED
Young Lieutenant Found Exhausted Floating in Sea.

VESSEL SINKS IMMEDIATELY
Ship Stands By and Throws Life Buoys, but Lieutenant Pulleyne is Only Man to Come to Surface.

DOVER, Oct. 4.—The British submarine, B-2, was run down by the Hamburg-American liner, Amerika, here today. It sank at once, drowning fourteen of the crew. The officer in charge was rescued. The disaster in which the third patrol flotilla of submarines, consisting of six vessels, was maneuvering off the south foreland on the coast of Kent. The liner Amerika appears to have cut the submarine in halves.

Lieutenant Richard I. Pulleyne, who was second in command, was the only man among the crew of fifteen who was saved. He was found floating in the sea, too exhausted to say more when he was rescued than, "The submarine is cut in two. I went down a mile."

The B-2 left Dover harbor a 5 o'clock this morning to participate with the other submarines in a series of maneuvers. The accident occurred just an hour later, although none of the sister submarines knew anything about it until Lieutenant Pulleyne was picked up from the sea.

The young lieutenant collapsed after he was taken from the water and conveyed to the ship.

The liner Amerika stood by after the collision and threw the life buoys overboard, while a number of torpedo boats, after being informed of the accident by wireless, searched the sea for hours. None of the other members of the crew, however, was found, and no sign of wreckage was discovered. The Amerika then proceeded on its voyage to Southampton and Cherbourg on its way to New York.

This is the sixth disaster to the British submarines, each of them involving the loss of from eleven to fifteen lives. Lieutenant Percy B. O'Brien was the commander of the B-2.

American Destroyer Injured.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—The new torpedo boat destroyer, Beale, while proceeding down the Delaware river last night from this port for Newport, R. I., collided with a barge and a large hole was torn in its bottom.

As quickly as possible after the collision the watertight compartments were closed and the government tug, Sampet, towed the Beale back to the navy yard here, arriving today. The destroyer was placed in dry dock for examination.

Bulgarians Cross Frontier.
A dispatch to the masthead government says the Bulgarians are crossing the frontier.

Military action has thus outstripped slower-footed diplomacy, for no ultimatum has yet been presented to Turkey, and in Constantinople none is expected until Monday. The porte, however, has sent an official notification to the powers, which reads:

"In view of the manifestly aggressive attitude of the Balkan states, Turkey reserves to itself full liberty of action, convinced that the civilized world will not fail to do justice to its moderate attitude. But this cannot exclude care for safeguarding its dignity and security as well as its rights."

Several Conflicts Reported.
No official confirmation of the reports of peace is to be had, but skirmishes are said to have taken place in the neighborhood of Djumbaja, called also Jambol, Bulgarian territory in the Albanian vilayet of Scutari, along the Montenegrin frontier and near Baschkiranya on the Servian border.

Severe fighting between Turkish and Servian troops is reported to have occurred on the southeastern frontier of Servia in a dispatch from Belgrade received by a news agency here. The Turks are said to have lost thirty killed and many wounded, while the Servian casualties are given as two killed and eighteen wounded.

Ultimatum Delayed.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 3.—The war minister, Nasim Pacha, has been appointed supreme commander of the Turkish forces.

Reliable information reached here this evening that the Balkan ultimatum demanding autonomy for Macedonia will be delivered Monday. In view of the gravity of the crisis the government contemplates adding to the cabinet two or three members without portfolio.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The steamship Macedonia, carrying 1,800 Greeks who formerly served in armies of Greece and the Balkan states, will sail from this port tomorrow night or early Saturday morning for Piraeus. The reservists sail prepared to fight in the impending war against Turkey.

The funeral services will be held at the residence Sunday forenoon at 11 o'clock.

MASON CITY, Ia., Oct. 4.—(Special Telegram.)—C. J. Yearling Calf Tears Three Fingers from Man's Hand
SHELANDIAH, Ia., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—Beverly Waugh, a wealthy farmer who lives just south of town, had a very unusual accident yesterday afternoon. He roped a yearling calf, first having taken the precaution to loop the rope about his hand to insure a strong grip. The calf started to run, and Mr. Waugh, unable to prove the stronger racer of the calf and presently zigzagged around a tree, flinging his victim against the tree with such force that the rope sawed three fingers from his hand. He was taken to the City hospital to have the injured members treated.

Archbold May Be Cited for Contempt

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—John D. Archbold did not respond today to the subpoena served upon him yesterday to appear as a witness in the Waters-Pierce-Standard Oil litigation and was held "in default" by Commissioner Jacobs.

It was understood that Mr. Archbold would be given an opportunity to make an explanation before possible proceedings looking to his certification for contempt of the Missouri court should be taken.

John D. Rockefeller bought $2,400,000 worth of the bonds of the Magnolia Petroleum company of Texas, which were disposed of last April by the Standard Oil company of New York, according to John A. House, a Standard Oil broker, who testified today in the hearings here in the Waters-Pierce-Standard Oil litigation.

Prominent Publisher Helps Union. His Own Print Paper Because He Conducts "Open Shop" in Iowa Capital City.

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 4.—(Special Telegram.)—The saloons of the city may be closed by Mayor James R. Hanna or Councilman E. T. Vanliow at any time, should the strike situation become serious enough to warrant such action.

Acting on the recommendation of George Cosson, attorney general, the city council today placed the power to close the saloons entirely in the hands of the mayor and the superintendent of public safety.

Chinese Mutineers Threaten Europeans
AMOI, China, Oct. 4.—Threats to massacre European lives at Foo Chow have been uttered by General Pung unless his demands for 450,000 taels (about $35,000) from the authorities are acceded to.

The mutinous troops with General Pung number from 10,000 to 20,000 men. A force of 5,000 government troops is marching from Nanking to meet the rebels.

The missionaries have been recalled from the Hingwa district to the north of this city, where serious disorder has existed for some time.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 4.—"The strongest stuff ever invented," was the way Herbert S. Hockin referred to nitroglycerine when he bought it to carry on a conspiracy, according to the charges presented today at the trial of the accused "dynamite plotters."

It was after dynamite was found to be not "strong" enough, according to District Attorney Charles W. Miller, that the defendants in December, 1908, decided to use nitroglycerine. The details, as charged by Mr. Miller, were:

Ortis E. McManigal had been blowing up nonunion jobs with dynamite and was in Chicago. In response to a telegram from Hockin he went to Indianapolis.

"We have decided to use nitroglycerine," said Hockin, "and we are going down to Muncie to get a supply."

"That's pretty dangerous stuff," said McManigal. "Yes, it's the strongest stuff ever invented."

They went to Muncie, where they met J. B. McNamara.

Men Who Directed Work.
While the "crew" was on duty, Mr. Miller asserted, Charles N. Baum, Minneapolis; Henry W. Legitner, then in Pittsburgh; Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco; Frank C. Webb, New York; John T. Butler, Buffalo, and Michael J. Young, Boston, were active in sending information regarding union jobs that were to be blown up and where the "dynamite" were to go. Frank M. Ryan, president of the Ironworkers union, who carried on the arrangements by mail, Mr. Miller said, wrote letters saying, "Hockin will take care of the jobs at Davenport, Ia., and Peoria, Ill. We'll have to send a man to Mount Vernon, Ill., because Paul J. Morris at St. Louis can't go to Mount Vernon, for he was there before."

Tvietmoe Implicated.
Olaf A. Tvietmoe of San Francisco, secretary of the California Building Trades council, was charged by Mr. Miller with being directly responsible for explosions on the Pacific coast.

"It will be shown," said Mr. Miller, "that Tvietmoe arranged for the explosion at the Lewellyn iron works at Los Angeles, December 3, 1909, and he wrote to McNamara at Indianapolis that he hoped 'Santa Claus would be as generous to you in surplus and presents of the season as he has to us in the Golden state.'"

"We will show that 'the presents' were the explosions."

Firebas Busy at Omaha.
OMAHA, Ia., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—The firebug is again loose in this vicinity. The third barn to be destroyed by fire in the last few nights is that of E. Mattinson's, known as the Oliver ranch farm. J. Z. Adams, who has charge of the large farm, lost thirteen head of mules and horses besides the harness and implements. His loss will total $3,500, partly covered by insurance. The loss on the buildings is about $1,500, partly covered by insurance. The fire broke out at midnight and was not discovered until too late to save the stock. On Saturday night the livery barn at Biencore was destroyed by fire with several head of horses. The people are becoming alarmed as several big fires of late have broken out with no clue as to how they originated.

HACK IS PRESIDENT OF CONSERVATION CONGRESS
CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—A referendum on the grouping of all Chicago's disorderly resorts into one district looked as a possibility today, in the opinion of Mayor Harrison, as the result of the investigation into vice conditions and the issuance of the additional warrants for resort keepers and others by the state attorney's office. Mayor Harrison said he favored such a referendum, although he would not inaugurate it at this time.

The announced determination of State Attorney Wayman to eradicate vice entirely from Chicago today brought about the preparation of hundreds of warrants for the arrest of property owners who allow their property to be leased for disorderly purposes.

CORONATION BALL FOLLOWS
After the Ceremonies of Advent of the New King and His Consort a Merry and Brilliant Affair is Enjoyed.

If there was one anti-monarchical zealot in all the kingdom of Quivera last night when the crown prince of Cibola ascended the throne and received the royal diadem, which made him King Ak-Sar-Ben XVIII, his duplicity was of that rare kind which marks the consummate actor.

For, among the 10,000 loyal subjects who had entered into the royal hall to witness the coronation of the eighteenth sovereign of the pumant house of Ak-Sar-Ben, there was not one who did not greet his ascendancy with the most fervent and ardent acclaim. Nor was there one in all of the fourteen rivers of the seven cities of Cibola, from peasant to the high and mighty, who did not breathe an earnest welcome to this latest ruler of the King Ak-Sar-Ben dynasty as the clock marked the hour of his reign's beginning.

And the queen—Oh, the queen! Could there have been a more beautiful, a more gracious or more majestic lady of the land chosen as the royal consort of this mightiest of Ak-Sar-Ben monarchs, those who saw the magnificent coronation could not have named her. She is of royal blood, the lovely daughter of the beloved sovereign who so successfully held the scepter as the tenth in line of the royal family and when she gracefully turned upon the throne during the coronation and revealed to the coronation witnesses that she was Miss Elizabeth Pickens, one of the best loved of the kingdom, there was a quickening of the heart beat in every soul who saw.

Sketch of Queen.
No more popular choice for queen has been made in all the eighteen years of Ak-Sar-Ben than that of Miss Pickens. This young society woman chosen to wear the royal crown for the next year has to a marked degree the gift of making real friends. She has taken part in more weddings than perhaps any girl of the younger set and no representative gathering of society women is complete without her.

That she is a very modest young woman is shown by the fact that she has on former occasions refused the honor of being queen of Ak-Sar-Ben. Her choice as this year's queen was unanimous, not only with the secret committee, but with the whole board of governors.

Miss Pickens is a real daughter of Omaha, having been born and raised here. She went to Brownell Hall and then attended Mrs. Somers' school, District of Columbia, where so many prominent Omaha girls receive their "finishing." After traveling in Europe and South America she made her debut at a ball at the Rome hotel given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Pickens.

Mr. Pickens is a member of the board of governors of Ak-Sar-Ben and was the tenth king of Ak-Sar-Ben. Miss Pickens is the only queen whose father has been king of the realm of Quivera.

Queen's Gown and Robe of State.
The queen was most charming and gracious. Her majesty was richly gowned in brocaded silver cloth which fell from the shoulders and formed the long square court train. The brocade was draped on one side over French chiffon richly embroidered with a design of rhinestones. The low cut bodice was formed of French chiffon draped and outlined with bands of rhinestones. The chiffon partially covered the silver lace sleeves edged with rhinestones.

The gown was richly simply designed, the richness of the silver brocade making one of the handsomest costumes worn by royalty.

A brilliant tiara crowned her majesty and two strings of pearls were worn around her neck.

Her slippers were white satin embroidered in pearls.

The queen's robe of state was of royal blue velvet edged with ermine with a small cape of ermine which fell back from the shoulders. The velvet was richly embroidered in an Egyptian scarab design in gold. The court train of the long trailing robe was carried by her pages.

The princesses and duchesses were daintily gowned in white satin charmeuse dancing gowns, trimmed with crystals and lace. The princesses wore velvet robes over their white gowns.

The robes of the princesses were of
