

NO POLITICS IN THE PULPIT

Dr. Nathaniel McGiffin Urges Ministers to Preach the Gospel.

INSPIRE LAYMEN THEIR MISSION

Glory and Church Destroy Usefulness in Community by Trying to Usurp Power of Policemen, Prosecutor or Judge.

"The pulpit is no place to discuss politics. The mission of the pulpit is to teach and inspire—to preach principles that will cause laymen to act," said Rev. Nathaniel McGiffin, D. D., pastor of Love Avenue church, in an address on "Politics and the Pulpit" before the Omaha Presbyterian Ministers' association at First church yesterday morning.

"We are to summon the forces of redemption and harness them to the laymen. Great moral issues are to be presented from time to time, but political personalities never."

Dr. McGiffin referred to the pulpit's historical power in molding public opinion and reserved to himself and all ministers the right to act outside the pulpit as they pleased in politics, but insisted in keeping politics and the pulpit separate.

"Some ministers are political naggers," he said, "always striking out at the shoulder and hitting somebody. To be sure, but never getting their game."

A Bit of Absurdity.

He thought "it would be absurd for a clergyman to avow his republican or democratic or progressive convictions in his pulpit and try to convince his laymen to think as he did."

"Some men think that when they come into a town or city they are going to be a 'mighty power' for civic righteousness and that from their pulpit they can 'say things' that will revolutionize."

"Bottom! Tactlessness! We do not want revolution, but evolution."

"The church and the clergy should not have official connection with law enforcement, police regulation, prosecutions and so on. Keep out of the courts; we do not need that kind of notoriety, and we do no good in the role of policemen."

"When a minister out of the pulpit, but a member of a ministerial association or a church federation, attempts to take the reins of civil authority in his hands, he stirs up bitter feelings and unnecessary criticism and loses for the cause of civic righteousness far more than he gains."

Dozen Ways to Win and Lose.

"There are a dozen ways in which a clergyman can be effective as a citizen outside his pulpit and there are as many ways in which he can be offensive and ineffective. The thing to do is to discriminate and remember that the apostle said, 'All things are lawful for me, but all things are expedient.'"

The patriotic word from the pulpit; no political bias. We have a bigger job.

We have an impartial God—a Christ who loves republicans, democrats, progressives, prohibitionists and socialists alike; a Christ who loves presidents, governors, mayors—all officials. Who are we, that we, ministers of the sacred truth, should step aside from the Master's way and preach anything but a pure, manly, loving, impartial gospel of God?"

TWO MANY LANGUAGES IN SNITZER-KYTE CASE

There were too many languages for comfort introduced in the case of Snitzer against Kytte in court of Justice H. H. Claiborne.

The judge's linguistic powers were somewhat taxed when he had to listen to the testimony of Mr. Kytte, who spoke in German, but when Mrs. Kytte took the stand, began with English, switched to German, and then to a tongue that was wholly unknown to either attorney or judge, it was too much. J. N. Snitzer had sued Jake Kytte for back rent on the residence Kytte and his family had occupied. Kytte returned with a cross bill, praying for $100 damages for being put out of the house. Kytte's testimony started in English, but as he was unable to understand the questions of the attorney in English, Snitzer's attorney, John G. Kuhn, asked the questions in the German language and the trial proceeded in German. Mrs. Kytte came to the stand. Questions were asked her in English. She replied in German. Finding herself at the end of her vocabulary in this, she began answering in Yiddish. Attorneys and judge lost the thread of the testimony and the judge decided the damages due Kytte for being put out of his residence balanced the back rent due Snitzer and the international struggle was dismissed.

WOMEN ARE SEEKING FOR ANTI-SUFFRAGE DEBATERS

Wanted—Two men with anti-suffrage convictions to debate on the negative side of the subject, "Women Should Have the Ballot." Only conscientious "antis" need apply. For further particulars telephone Mrs. George W. Covell, Webster 2381.

Mrs. Covell, stage suffrage lecturer for the Nebraska Woman's Christian Temperance union and vice president of the Omaha Woman Suffrage association, together with a representative from each of the other two local suffrage societies, proposes to debate under the auspices of her society the subject of votes for women with three male antis.

She has secured one staunch anti for the debate—S. Arion Lewis—who swears that he is firmly opposed to letting the women vote. Mrs. Covell says that it will be easy to get two more women suffragists for the debate, but that it is difficult to find two more men who oppose woman suffrage and are brave enough to get up on a platform and tell why.

"We have found a few men who are against woman suffrage, but they say that they are open to conviction. We want debaters who are firmly opposed, in order to make the debate spirited," says Mrs. Covell.

The debate will be held as soon as the two antis are secured.

CREIGHTON UNIVERSITY HAS ENROLLMENT OF 1,007

The total enrollment of Creighton university is now 1,007, the first time in the history of the school that it has gone over 1,000. The entering classes in the various departments are larger than ever before, and a post-graduate course in higher English has been added to the regular courses. The enrollment of this class is fourteen, all of whom have graduated from the arts department with the degree of "A. B." The enrollment in the various departments is:

Arts ..... 425 Medical ..... 154
Law ..... 124 Post-graduate ..... 14
Pharmacy ..... 12 Dental ..... 16

Work of Installing Mural Paintings is Stopped by Latenser

Installation of mural paintings in the dome of the new county building was stopped by John Latenser, county building architect, yesterday. He asked the Board of County Commissioners to meet this morning at 10 o'clock to meet up the matter of the paintings and alleged unbusinesslike proceeding of Philipson & Co., who are furnishing the pictures.

Mr. Latenser said Emil Philipson, head of the concern, refused to let the county commissioners see the paintings before putting them up. Commissioner Harris said the same thing. Both said that so far as they knew there was nothing wrong with the paintings, but they were not quite satisfied with the attitude of Mr. Philipson.

Department Unable to Clean Alleys

City Commissioner Kugel is unable to clean the alleys in the unimproved section of the city so that wagons can pass through them with winter coal. Complaints that these alleys are in many cases impassable have been made and the commissioner has been requested to put them in good condition.

Such requests have been refused because no money exists in the street cleaning and maintenance fund to employ more men. The two street cleaning gangs now employed are kept in the downtown and paved districts.

"In the majority of cases these alleys of which complaints are made were put in impassable condition by the citizens themselves," said the commissioner, laying his case before the council in committee of the whole. "They piled cinders and ashes and other rubbish in the alleys."

Mr. Kugel said it was really necessary to employ more men in the street cleaning department, but owing to the shortage of funds it will be impossible. The council offered no redress, as there is also a shortage of funds in the other departments.

Bryan Will Address Nebraska Teachers

W. J. Bryan's topic of discourse when he speaks before the Nebraska Teachers' association in Omaha Thursday night, November 4, will be "Education in Other Countries." It will be his first speech following the national election, but he will not mention politics.

All the speakers before the teachers' association are of national prominence. Among those who have accepted invitations to speak are P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education; Eugene Davenport, dean of Illinois Agricultural college; C. H. Judd, dean of Chicago university, and F. M. McMurry, president of the Teachers' college, University of New York. J. W. Crabtree of River Falls, Wis., formerly superintendent of Nebraska schools, also will speak.

One of the principal numbers of the program to draw the teachers here will be the concert of the Mendelssohn choir, which has been secured by the Commercial club publicity bureau for the last night of the convention. This concert will be free to the teachers. They will be admitted on their badges and no one else will be allowed admittance.

Murder Trial Starts Fall Term of Court

Sebastiano Puglisi, who shot and killed Constable Frank Wood last April, was placed on trial Monday. Woods called at Puglisi's home to serve a writ of replevin for some furniture which Puglisi had bought on the installment plan. The furniture company said he had failed to keep up his payments. A quarrel ensued and Puglisi shot and killed the constable. A jury was completed late Monday afternoon, opening statements by counsel were made and the state began its introduction of testimony.

Jurors Disqualify and Are Dismissed

The October term of the Douglas county court opened Monday in the new county building. Of the 150 petit jurors summoned for service, about fifty were excused for statutory reasons. Some were exempt because of age, some because of youth, some could not speak English, some were deficient in hearing or in sight, and some suffering with other ills.

ANXIOUS TO PLEAD GUILTY TO BREAKING GAME LAWS

A colored man was so anxious to plead guilty to a charge of shooting game out of season that he appeared at the door of Justice H. H. Claiborne before the judge arrived this morning. "I want to plead guilty," said the colored man when the judge arrived in the hall to unlock the office. "You see I shot some birds out of season and the game warden is going to file against me."

"There is no filing here against you," replied the judge.

"I want to plead guilty anyway," insisted the colored man, "cause he's goin' to come here and file later on."

The judge informed him it was best not to plead guilty until he had heard what he was charged with.

"I guess I'll look up that game warden," the darky said as he turned away.

TAXI RUNS DOWN MAN WHO IS PAINFULLY INURED

While crossing Fourteenth street at Howard street Monday morning at 1 o'clock William Jamieson, an employee of the electric light company, was struck by an automobile owned by the Paxton Taxicab company and painfully injured.

After striking Jamieson the chauffeur of the machine sped out of sight without ascertaining the extent of his victim's injuries. No report has been made to the taxicab authorities of the accident by the chauffeur.

Jamieson was taken to his home at 402 North Sixteenth street.

AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIM DIES

William Haynes, Chauffeur, Under Bonds Till After Inquest.

CHARGES MAY BE PREFERRED

Despite Contrary Statements Haynes Is Said to Have Carried the Boy Into a Saloon and Called for a Doctor.

Arthur Friedman, aged 10 years, who was knocked down by H. C. Boyles' automobile driven by William Haynes, his negro chauffeur, at Fourteenth and Chicago streets Saturday afternoon, died at St. Joseph's hospital yesterday morning at 4 o'clock.

Haynes was released Saturday evening on $500 bonds furnished by his employer. The charge of suspicious character, which was preferred against him Saturday when arrested, will stand until after the coroner's inquest. If the coroner's jury places the responsibility on Haynes for the boy's death the county attorney will probably file charges against him.

Conflicting Statements.

Although witnesses to the accident stated that Haynes did not stop his car after running over the boy, Fred Dhyta, bartender for Chris Jensen at 414 North Fourteenth street, says Haynes carried the boy into the saloon and begged him (Dhyta) to send for a doctor or call up the police station. This Dhyta did, and after waiting fifteen minutes Haynes drove to the Boyles college and informed his employer of the accident. He was arrested at the college about 5 o'clock by Officer Joe Hill.

Young Friedman jumped off a grocery wagon directly in front of the machine and before Haynes could stop the boy was under the wheels. The wheels did not pass entirely over the boy's body and it was a minute before Haynes could reverse the automobile. Friedman was internally injured and badly bruised about the face and body.

Accused Waitress Secures Release

P. P. Parker, traveling for a Kansas City firm, caused the arrest of Evaline Russell, a waitress, accusing her of stealing $30 from him. He was unable to prove that she took the money and the girl was released.

Parker and the Russell girl met Thursday and the two registered at a local hotel. The next morning he accused her of stealing the money, but she made a vigorous denial. Parker searched her clothing and even the rats in her hair, but the missing money could not be found.

The matter was apparently forgotten until Sunday night when Parker received a letter from his firm asking why he had not accounted for certain money. He immediately caused the arrest of the girl.

In police court Parker could not establish a case against her and she was discharged.

Lockers Lack Room for the Modern Hat

Alas and alack! There is a glaring defect in the new county building. After the county has spent more than $1,000,000 for a fine official home, that home is far from hat it should be.

Here's the trouble. With the best intentions in the world John Latenser, the architect, and the county commissioners, provided lockers for wraps and private belongings of all county workers. The lockers for the men are quite satisfactory; but, gracious me, those for the girls are hopelessly impossible.

The lockers were installed late Saturday. The girls tried to use them the first time Monday. Miss Myrtle Cloud was the only girl whose hat was small enough to go into a locker but compartment. The others would have to be taken apart before they would go in.

The girls who want to vote say if there had been a woman on the Board of County Commissioners this mistake wouldn't have been made. The lockers would have been roomy enough.

Wants Pay for Year She Did Not Labor

Rose H. Rice, former supreme physician of the Woodmen Circle, has started suit for $2,400 salary against the supreme forest of the circle and Mrs. Emma B. Manchester, supreme guardian. She alleges that in June, 1909, she was elected for a term of three years, but in June, 1911, she was deposed. She wants the salary for the year she did not serve.

HOW ABOUT THE BOYS' SHOES

Are the pavements grinding them full of holes as fast as you buy them?

No ordinary boys' shoes can stand the hard knocks that the ordinary boy will give them. We have a boys' shoe that we guarantee to outwear two pairs of ordinary boys' shoes.

They cost a trifle more, but the difference in quality makes these shoes the cheapest boys' shoes on the market. Because of the wearing qualities we call them DEPENDABLE BOYS' SHOES.
