NEW YORK GENERAL MARKET

It is but natural to expect some closing up of the difference in prices between old cash corn prices and December quota-tions. The cash prices dropped off sharply affer the expiration of the September con-tracts. While the December option made some gain in its premium over May, there should be more of this kind of action. NEW YORK STOCK MARKET Trading Irregular and Becomes Heavy in Spots Toward Close. MONETARY CONDITIONS EASIER Dealings Decidedly Smaller in Volume Than on Any Recent Day-London Sells Moderate Amount.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.-Although monetary conditions bespoke greater ease and other developments, including the eastern European situation, seemed of a more encouraging nature, today's stock market manifested an irregular tone for the greater part of the session, becoming heavy in spots before the close.

Firmness was indicated in the opening prices, most of which were on a level prices, most of which were on a level with or above last week's final figures, this being especially true of coalers, St. Paul and a few specialities, but pressure indicated largely against United States Steel and Union Pacific caused a general reversal. Hill issues were the principal exception to the downward tendency, be-ing assisted by unofficial estimates of September earnings. All the tobacco issues showed declines showed declines. Trading was decidedly smaller in volume than on any recent day. London was again a seller here, but in moderate amount.

Traffic conditions, as reported by middle-western railroad officials, point to the heaviest tonnage in that section for several years. These conditions find direct reflection in the firmness of the western mony market. Local time rates were un-change from last week, but offerings were less firm. The bond market was featureless. Total
