NOTED CLUB WOMAN DEAD

Mrs. Fred E. Hall Dies After Illness Following Operation.

SISTER OF JOHN R. WEBSTER

Was Resident of Omaha for Many Years, During Which Time She Was Prominent in Circles of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. F. E. Hall, aged 55 years, a resident of Omaha for the last twenty-two years, died yesterday at her home, 606 North Thirteenth street as the result of an operation which she underwent last February.

Mrs. Hall, who is the sister of John R. Webster, was taken ill last January and her condition became such that in February she was operated on. Her condition since that time has been gradually improving until hopes for her ultimate recovery were entertained. Her death, which occurred at 6:30 o'clock, was unexpected. Prior to coming to Omaha Mrs. Hall was a teacher in the public schools of Bay City, Mich. She was born in Detroit and spent her childhood days there. She attended the schools at Bay City and after teaching but a short while was married to Fred E. Hall. A few years after the marriage the couple moved to Omaha and have been residents of this city since.

Mrs. Hall was well known in Omaha, being a charter member of the Daughters of the Revolution and a prominent member of several women's clubs. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. F. B. Moxham, Mrs. J. P. Weir and Miss Alice Hall, all of Omaha; three sisters, Mrs. Emma Turner, Mrs. Martha Christy and Mrs. Lunetta Smith, also residents of Omaha. Besides John R. Webster she has a brother, William A. Webster, living at Muskogee, Okl. Her husband is associated with Mr. Webster in the Illinois Central Railway company.

Good Eaters Are Good Fighters

Whether at Work or at Play, Endurance Comes from Good Digestion, Always Assured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Men and women must have quick wit and good grit to stand the day's battles. A dyspeptic may get away with his work, but is always at sword's point with those around him. A good stomach and a good meal well digested puts us in a good, jolly fighting mood, the sort that mows down work and commands the hearty co-operation of our associates. The man at the head of a business who has a good stomach has behind him a good fighting force against competition and the daily mixups that are bound to take place. In fact, a well organized business is like our digestive system.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as soon as taken into the system go right to work as assistants to the stomach, rendering it an immense amount of help in working out the very complex process of digestion, encouraging it in the performance of its functions, relieving it of a portion of its duties, thereby allowing it a temporary respite, and also toning up, strengthening, revitalizing its secretory glands, mucous membranes, absorbing glands and muscular walls in such a way that the stomach soon recovers its lost powers of digestion, motility, assimilation and ultimately does its work as well as ever without outside assistance.

These powerful little tablets contain in a concentrated form, every element necessary to digest all forms of food, whether meats, vegetables, cereals, eggs, fish, etc., and they act equally well in an acid or an alkaline medium. If your stomach is ailing, does not digest as quickly or as thoroughly as it should, and your entire system in consequence is suffering from malnutrition and mal-assimilation, you owe it to yourself to help it out of its present condition.

The solution of your stomach-trouble problem is easy: Go to your druggist at once and secure a package, then take one or two after each meal or as required, then note the difference in the way you feel. All druggists sell them. Price 50 cents.—Advertisement.

DIABETES

HOLOVITCHNER REFUSES COIN

School Building Contractor Offers Bribe to Board President.

FACT COMES OUT AT MEETING

Members Refuse Refund Because of Story Told in Executive Session of the Effort to Influence Action.

Rumor of an attempt to bribe President E. Holovitchner of the Board of Education to vote to refund a contracting firm $50 because of a mistake made in the contractor's bid, was verified last night when the board, after granting the refund, went into executive session for fifteen minutes, reconsidered the action and refused to grant the request.

"The contractor met me at Sixteenth and Farnam streets," said President Holovitchner in the secret session, "and told me that he stood to lose $1,000 altogether if the $50 was not refunded, and told me he'd split the amount with me if I'd put through a resolution refunding the money. I told him to go to hell and that's the reason I voted against the resolution, although the man was really entitled to the refund."

Members Foster, Walker, Holovitchner and Sears voted against the refund resolution when it came up for consideration. "There's something wrong here," said Sears, "that cannot be discussed in public."

How it Started.

In bidding on one of the new schools this contractor was $3,000 low, but he claimed a clerical error had been made and the word "deduct" used before Bedford stone instead of "add." All other bids had said "add" if Bedford stone was used, and in another bid he had said "add."

"Not knowing what is back of the case," said Foster, explaining his vote, "I will vote for the refund, because there is all the evidence to justify the statement that it was a clerical error."

Jacobson held the same view and six members voted for the refund. Then Chairman Richardson of the finance committee, a few seconds later, moved that the board go into an executive session and in two minutes after the session was completed the refund resolution had been rescinded.

John Latenser, the school board's architect, had written the board a letter, stating the facts. It appeared that when the contract was let the contractor discovered the error and asked that it be corrected. This Latenser refused. The contractor then said he would let it go and run his chances of recovering from the board.

Auditing Employees' Accounts.

Chairman Richardson of the finance committee was roundly lambasted by President Holovitchner and Attorney Herring for hiring an expert accountant to audit the accounts of the superintendent of buildings and the custodian.

Holovitchner called Parsons to the chair and protested against the appointment because it was a waste of money. He said there should not be an audit at this time, but after the close of the fiscal year. A new set of rules drafted by Attorney Herring and adopted by the board last night, took away from Richardson's committee the power of appointing an auditor and having the books of the custodian and the superintendent of buildings checked.

Walker said it was the "height of folly," but these sub-officers had to be started out with "clean sheets" next year, after which the board could do its own auditing. The books of any of the officers, he said, ought to be in shape for the auditor at a minute's notice.

Richardson Calls Holovitchner.

Richardson answered Holovitchner with the statement that the appointment of an expert was done with the personal knowledge and consent of the president.

While Holovitchner said that was true, the committee ought not to have appointed the accountant now, but at the close of the fiscal year, when his work would not have required more than two or three days.

No interference with the appointment will be made, but hereafter the board will attempt to keep its own affairs in order and cut out the expense of an auditor. The city comptroller audits the secretary's books monthly.

At the Theaters

BRANDIS: "Alice Jimmy Valentine." Gayety: Extravaganza. Hippodrome: Vandevilla. Krug, Burlesque. Orpheum: Y. Terrell. Matinee today at the Gayety, Hippodrome, Krug and Orpheum theaters.

Local Stage Notes.

Of all the plays of recent years dealing with detectives and thieves, none seems to have hit the popular fancy as well as "Alice Jimmy Valentine," which is the current attraction of the Brandis theater. The company presenting this popular play is a strong one, and the production the same as was used during the long run in New York. A matinee will be given Wednesday.—Advertisement.

On Thursday morning at the Brandis tickets will be placed on sale for the engagement of Miss Eva Lang and her company booked for a week's run starting next Sunday matinee. The play selected for Miss Lang's visit is the three-act comedy, "Her Husband's Wife," and theatergoers will remember seeing Henry Miller in this piece at the Brandis last season. During Miss Lang's stay here matinees will be given on Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday. Seats for this engagement will be placed on sale Thursday.—Advertisement.

Adrienne Augarde, the dainty little English actress at the Orpheum this week, began her theatrical career when she was a very small child. Her first appearance in public was in a neighborhood production of "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

So beautifully did the tiny maiden enact the role of the small lord that she was often afterwards asked to take part in Sunday school theatricals and other juvenile performances. Miss Augarde is deeply devoted to her work and says she is going to remain on the stage until she is too old to be attractive. As she is now only 23 years of age and has already won much fame, a remarkable future is predicted for her. The young woman spends all her spare time in study. At present she is reading the novels of Sir Walter Scott. She carries a small pocket edition with her and reads whenever she is waiting for a train or riding on street cars.—Advertisement.

Robinson's "Crucue Girls" are playing in immense business this week at the popular Gayety. Ladies' dime matinee daily.—Advertisement.

Were it not for the fact that everybody in the tremendous crowd was in good spirits and of the best of nature and content as old man Job might be thought to have believed that the police report had been called out last Sunday night to handle the throng in waiting for admission to the 9 p. m. show at the American Hippodrome, as half a dozen blue coats were on the job. It was the biggest day's business that house has yet been favored with and was but the beginning of what is bound to be the most prosperous week thus far. The dime matinee each day is very popular with the ladies and children and the attendance is growing rapidly.—Advertisement.

The Chicago Grand Opera company will give a matinee and evening performance at the Auditorium Sunday under the management of Andreas Dippel, when Wolf-Ferrari's grand opera, the "Secret of Susanne," will be sung. Popular prices will prevail and tickets are now on sale at A. Hospe Co., Hayden Bros., Brandeis and Orkin Bros., sheet music departments, and at Beaton Drug store.—Advertisement.

NEW CLASS TO TEACH HOW TO READ PLANS

The new class—plan reading and estimating—announced last week to be given at the Young Men's Christian association had its opening meeting Monday evening. J. W. Miller, the educational secretary, spoke of the efforts to secure an instructor who could give technical detailed knowledge of all matters pertaining to building construction. Not being able to do that, twelve prominent men of the trades were secured to give the technical instruction about their particular lines.

C. A. Wallace, a draftsman and architect, was engaged as regular teacher to see that there were no broken links in the chain of instruction. Mr. Wallace was introduced and spoke at length of the plans for the course.

Of the special teachers, R. L. Carter of the Carter Sheet Metal works and F. R. Vierling of the Paxton and Vierling Iron works were present and spoke. Mr. Vierling said: "I have been estimating for a good many years and do not know it all, but I am willing to give you the benefit of my knowledge. Only today a man came in who had estimated only half the cost of the steel needed. This class would teach him to avoid such mistakes."

Byron R. Hastings of Hastings & Hayden Real Estate company was the first man enrolled. More than thirty attended the first session.

WILL ASK COMPANY TO EXTEND BENSON CAR LINE

Chairman Dan B. Butler of the committee of the whole of the city commission has appointed Commissioners Dahlman, Ryder and McGovern to call on and confer with President Wattle of the street railway company and request the extension of the street car line from Benson to Mount Hope cemetery, a distance of little less than two miles.

A committee of Benson residents and others interested will go with the commission's committee to make the request. Bensonites requested the council to cooperate in a campaign to compel the street railway company to make this extension. A conference was held between the council and these residents yesterday afternoon and the council appointed the committee, which will ask for the extension.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEMBERS ATTACK SQUEAKY CHAIRS

No more squeaky chairs for the Omaha Woman's club. This organization at its opening meeting of the season yesterday at the Metropolitan building, revealed against the collapsible and audible seats on which it sat at all last year's meetings.

"The chairs squeak more than they did last year," protested Mrs. J. H. Dumont, and her chair creaked as she rose to make her protest. "No matter how carefully we get up and sit down the chairs will squeak."

"Not only that," supplemented Mrs. J. P. White, "but these chairs can't be remedied. I know them. They scream all the time."

Mrs. Albert Edholm moved that the club ask Willard Chambers, manager of the building, to provide non-creaky chairs. The motion was passed unanimously. It was also voted to renew the lease on the club rooms for the present season.

Mrs. C. W. Hayes, the new president, gave her keynote speech in which she emphasized the importance of club women taking active interest in present day movements for reform. Officers and chairmen of committees made reports, among them Mrs. Edward Johnson, chairman of the educational committee, who urged the women to vote at the next school board election.

These delegates to the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs last summer, gave reports of its sessions: Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. M. D. Cameron, Mrs. Ed Phelan and Mrs. L. M. Lord. Mrs. W. S. Knight gave a sketch of Mrs. Percy Pennybacker, the new general federation president.

Mrs. C. T. Rutland of New York, Mrs. T. W. Burns of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. E. J. Messmore of Laurel, Neb., gave brief talks on the club work in their cities.

SHERIFF M'SHANE NAMES CASSIDY AS HIS DEPUTY

Edward L. Cassidy, a woodworker and prominent as a ward politician, was appointed yesterday by Sheriff Felix McCaskey to take the deputyship made vacant by the dismissal of Tom McClellan. Cassidy started his duties yesterday. The new deputy is the man who as a member of the election board a year ago, was involved in an illegal voting investigation.

Advocates Jiu Jitsu For American Women

Melle Nakoyama of Tokio, Japan, is stopping at the Millard hotel. She has with her some very pointed ideas on the values of jiu jitsu to women. She believes that every woman should have a working knowledge of the Japanese wrestling science for self protection as well as for the advantage derived from the exercise. She says she can throw any ordinary man who has not had special training in wrestling, by her skillful knowledge of this science.

Melle is a powerfully built young woman of mixed French and Japanese blood. She will probably give some demonstrations before the physical culture classes of the Young Women's Christian association before leaving Omaha. She says she is looking for some wrestling matches with girls, but finds it hard to locate American girls who follow wrestling.

Young Woman Ends Life Over Illness

Because she was suffering from tuberculosis and had no money to pay for doctors, Lizzie Clout, aged 25, committed suicide last yesterday afternoon in her room at the Mid West Hotel, 1718 Dodge street, by closing all the windows and turning on the gas. She was found dead by the proprietor, Michael Silverman, who smelled gas and broke down the door.

Coroner Crosby took charge of the body and will hold an inquest this morning at 10 o'clock. The girl is believed to have relatives at Florence.

Mystery Surrounds Death

Joseph Nelson, Caretaker of Anna Wilson Estate, Found Dead.

FIVE GAS JETS TURNED ON

Aged Man Found in Wilson Home on Wirt Street Apparently Had Committed Suicide—Police Believe Different.

Considerable mystery surrounds the death of the aged man, and the police are inclined to doubt that he committed suicide Monday night Nelson fell down in an alley in the rear of the Anna Wilson house at 2018 Wirt street in what he told a neighbor was a paralytic stroke. As the man was helping Nelson to his room a stranger, about 25 years of age and heavy set, came running down the alley and inquired what was the matter. He told the neighbor, who was assisting Nelson to his home, that he would take care of the aged man. However, the neighbor helped the stranger carry Nelson to his room and left him in the young man's care.

Several whisky bottles, partly filled, were found in Nelson's room and not a trace of the stranger, who was last seen with Nelson, could be found. The police are inclined to think that the stranger may have turned on the gas and left the house. The gas jets are attached to the ceiling and it would have been almost impossible for the deceased to have reached them in the condition he was in last night.

Nelson was house and yardman for Anna Wilson for many years. After Anna Wilson's death he was caretaker of the property at 2018 Wirt street until the Women's Christian association took charge of the estate. After that he was appointed janitor of the House of Hope and also of the North Side Presbyterian church.

He was a cripple and is said to have suffered a paralytic stroke several years ago. Last night after having been taken to his room he appeared to be much improved.

The neighbor who assisted Nelson to his room made a report of the matter to the authorities. When they went to Nelson's room to see how he was they found him dead and the house filled with gas.

Nelson has been the only person living in the Anna Wilson house, although it
