Red Sox Pound on Him for Four Hits and Three Runs in the Opening Round of the Game.

5 to 5. The Red Sox left-handed, Collins, had been driven from the box in the eighth inning by a shower of hits and Hall had been sent to relieve him. Merkle smashed out a three-bagger in the tenth inning and the home club host was in bloom when he scored on a sacrifice hit.

Speaker Responds to Demand.

In the fading light it was difficult for the Red Sox to follow the course of Mathewson's big drop and New York felt confident. Yerkes had been turned back to the plate and the big crowd looked to Speaker. The trio of Giant outers—Bardner, moved far ahead. Mathewson would up and sent a fast in-shoot up to the plate. Speaker gave a wicked swing and the ball was sailing far over Becker's head in center. Speaker rounded first then second and raced to third. The ball caromed from the back fence and Becker seized it and threw to Shaffer, who momentarily juggled it.

Speaker hesitated at third, then sped for the plate and slid under Catcher Wilson, who fumbled Shaffer's relay throw. That tied the score and the crowd went wild. To make sure that he had touched the plate, Speaker returned and touched the plate a second time before Wilson recovered the ball. Red Sox fans were not loath tonight to give the Giants credit for a game fight.

First Inning.

First Half—The first ball was a strike. Snodgrass drove the second ball pitched into the bleachers for a two base hit. Doyle struck out. Collins used three wide sweeping curves to turn the New York batter back. Becker went out, Yerkes to Stahl. Yerkes handled Becker's grounder cleverly. Snodgrass on third. Time was called until the umpire could clear the field of photographers. The first ball on Murray was a strike and the crowd yelled. Collins threw out Murray at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Half—Hooper scratched an infield hit, Mathewson only being able to knock down the ball, which he could not recover in time. This started the Boston fans cheering. Hooper stole second. Meyers threw wide. Fletcher dropped Yerkes line drive and the batter was safe. It was a miserable error by Fletcher. Speaker beat out a bunt and the bases were filled with none out. The crowd broke into a continued cheer. Mathewson put the first ball on Lewis over as a strike, the second ball pitched was a strike. Hooper was forced out at the plate on Lewis' grounder to Herzog who threw to Meyers. Yerkes scored on an infield out of Gardner. The play was Mathewson to Doyle to Merkle, the ball bounding off Mathewson's hand thereby giving the pitcher an assist. Lewis and Speaker scored on Stahl's drive to left. Wagner went out on a high fly to Doyle. Three runs, four hits, one error.

Second Inning.

First Half—The stands were simply mad with excitement after the Boston took the field. Merkle fanned on the first three balls pitched. Herzog knocked a three-bagger to right center. Herzog Mathewson was a strike-out victim, and Carrigan dropping the third strike, threw the New York pitcher out at first. Snodgrass also fell victim to Collins' wild and fanned. Doyle flied out to Lewis. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Half—The crowd cheered Hooper, who had made two hits. Hooper singled to center. It was his third hit. The sun came out bright at this point and Snodgrass exchanged places with Murray, who went to left. Snodgrass going to right. Hooper stole second. Meyers' throw being too low for Fletcher. Hooper scored on Yerkes' three-base hit to right center. The stands were in an uproar. Speaker line-flied to Fletcher, who threw to Herzog, catching Yerkes before he could return to the bag. ## Delayed by Wreck.

The train on which the players came over from New York did not arrive in Boston until after 1 o'clock this morning, having been delayed two hours by a wreck. All breakfasted late and did not try to reach Fenway park much before noon.

The players enter today's game in much better mental condition than they did that of yesterday. All reported to Manager McGraw and Stahl this morning that they were in good shape.

Wagner was a happy captain. "We got the jump on them," he said, "and we can do it again. Testau, Mathewson or Marquard, it will be the same. The boys can hit anybody McGraw sends along. Watch us today."

Joe Wood was in high spirits after his successful twirling yesterday. "I am glad we won," he said, "and added that he was ready to go in again just as soon as he is wanted. Boston fans, who are anxious to see "Smoky Joe" in action in a world's series game, expect to have their desires fulfilled on Friday ## when the teams come to Fenway park for the fourth game of the series.

Neither manager would publicly announce his batteries before they were handed to the umpire on the field. General opinion was that Mathewson would oppose Ray Collins, the Red Sox southpaw, and that Marquard is to be saved for tomorrow's game in New York.

The Playing Positions.

A switch in the Giant's batting order was expected in connection with the probability that Boston would use Collins. Devore, who played in left field yesterday has been supplanted as head of the batting list by Snodgrass, who was moved up from third place to make way for Becker, who has been much more successful against any left handed pitchers than Devore. Under this shift Murray, who played yesterday in right field, goes to left, and Becker takes his place at right.

High Squad Works For Norfolk Game

With one of the hardest games of the season close at hand—the Norfolk High school—the Omaha High school squad has started into its hardest practice of the season. The eleven began the hard work yesterday, when it clashed with Creighton High for practice. The Omaha squad showed a decided improvement over last Saturday and trimmed the Creighton bunch with little effort. The whole squad showed up well on the defense, but the offense was not up to standard.

The team will enter the next game in a crippled condition unless Carlson and Golden recover from their injuries received last week. Following is the probable lineup:

Coach Mills expects a hard game and regards the outcome doubtfully, although by the end of the week the team ought to be in good shape.

The game will be at Rourke park at 2 o'clock sharp, as the Norfolk team will take the 4 o'clock train for home.

Brown's Death Due To Too Narrow Track

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 8.—The coroner's jury which investigated the death of David Bruce Brown, the automobile driver, who was killed when his machine went into the ditch prior to the Vanderbilt race last week, returned a verdict today that the road on which the race was driven was too narrow for safety.

HOLSTE ENCOURAGED OVER CORNHUSKER GAME

That Coach Holste of Bellevue was not discouraged by the showing his men made against Nebraska Saturday was manifest in his talk to the men on the field Monday evening.

The men went through the game with few injuries and these were of a minor sort and the value of a game with a team of the strength of the Cornhuskers is manifest in the added pep of the squad, who have learned many of the finer points of the game and are looking forward to the game with Cotner Friday with confidence.

Rourke Stragglers Go Home Thursday

James Kane, stellar first baseman of the Omaha base ball club, who since the close of the season, has been sojourning in Omaha, leaves tomorrow evening for his home at McKees Rocks, Pa. Kane will stop at Chicago and take in one or two games of the city series, and from there will proceed to Pittsburgh, where members of his basket ball team will congregate to make plans for the winter campaign. Norman Coyle, the Rourke's right gardener, leaves for his home at Coal Hill, Ark., where he will spend the winter doing "chore" on his farm. Coyle is also somewhat of a hunter and expects to do considerable in this line during the winter.
