ARCHBOLD ON STAND IDENTIFIES LETTERS SENT TO LAWMAKERS

Head of Standard Oil Company Admits Majority of Missives Published Are Authentic.

HILLES EXPLAINS HIS CHARGES

Tells Senate Committee Roosevelt Campaign Cost Two Millions.

LETTER WRITTEN TO PERKINS

Republican Campaign Manager Gives Reasons for Assertions.

T. R.'S FRIENDLINESS SHOWN

Communication Addressed to Archbold and Signed Theodore Roosevelt Promises Assistance for Relative.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The authenticity of the majority of the letters recently made public by William Randolph Hearst, purporting to have passed between John D. Archbold of the Standard Oil company and members of the house and senate was admitted by Archbold today before the senate committee investigating campaign activities and expenditures.

Those letters, of which facsimile photographs have been published, were in almost every case identified by Mr. Archbold with the statement: "I undoubtedly wrote that." These included letters to and from Senators Hanna, Foraker, Quay and Penrose, and former Representatives Sibley of Pennsylvania and Grosvenor of Ohio.

Many letters Archbold said he did not remember, but he recognized handwriting and signatures and admitted their genuineness.

No Entry in Books. The president of the Standard Oil company, recalled by the committee after making his charge in August that he had given $100,000 to the republican campaign fund of 1904, admitted today that the receipt given by Cornelius N. Bliss for the sum had been destroyed by himself and H. H. Rogers, now dead. He said he had not been able to find even a book entry of the amount on the books of the Standard Oil company.

"I repeat that the money was paid," he said, "and was not returned; that it was paid by me to Mr. Bliss. I don't want any man to tell me it was not."

On the suggestion of Senator Penrose the committee finally asked Mr. Archbold to have expert accountants search the books of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and its former associates to try to find the record of the $100,000 having been paid out.

Hilles Asked About Charge. Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the republican national committee, also a witness, today gave out a statement in August if he gave out a statement in August that the primary fight for Colonel Roosevelt had cost the Harvester trust millions of dollars.

"I assume the responsibility for it," he answered. His explanation was given to the committee in the form of a letter he had just written to George W. Perkins, who with Senator Dixon, demanded that Mr. Hilles be called to account for this statement. The letter expressed the opinion that Colonel Roosevelt's pre-convention campaign expenses undoubtedly amounted to not less than $2,000,000.

The letter which Hilles read to the committee asserted that witnesses had already testified to giving $867,000 for the Roosevelt campaign, and that expenses in different states and throughout the country would make the total he gave. Chairman Clapp questioned the witness sharply as to his information and Hilles said it consisted of his general knowledge of what the Roosevelt workers had been doing and his specific knowledge of what certain kinds of campaign activity cost.

He gave the committee no new information regarding contributions to the Taft pre-convention fund except a list of contributors to the fund raised in Chicago, the total of which Representative McKinley had included in his statement earlier in the week. These were: H. M. Blisby, $1,000; George M. Reynolds, $500; Julius Roosevelt, $5,000; Max Pam, $500; J. A. Patton, $1,000; J. G. Shedd, $5,000; Henry Selig, $5,000; J. E. Otis, $500; Max Hart, $500; A. G. Becker, $250; Fred S. James, $100.

Archbold's identification of the various letters was followed by little questioning from the committee. He said the money referred to in some of them, as having been sent to Senator Foraker, had been for legal services in the state of Ohio; that he wrote to Senator M. A. Hanna to watch legislative affairs there because Hanna had been a lifelong friend and that a contribution of $1,000 to Senator Quay had been entirely a political contribution, as had the $25,000 contribution to Senator Penrose.

Another letter from Teddy. Mr. Archbold presented four new letters that he had found as the result of a search of his files, the only ones, he said, "that had escaped the thieves." One was from President Roosevelt.

"It is of no value, but I offer it as showing the friendly attitude of Mr. Roosevelt in 1904 at a period when he con-

Roosevelt Peeved Over the Statement Made by Wilson

SUPERIOR, Wis., Oct. 10.—"I probably shouldn't make the reference to Mr. Wilson that I am going to make," said Colonel Roosevelt here today, "if he hadn't attacked me. But when anybody attacks me, he might as well understand that I won't take it lying down. I'm a man of peaceful disposition, but I think I am able to defend myself."

Colonel Roosevelt stopped for an hour in Superior this morning on his way to Minnesota. His managers had planned a comparatively easy day for him, after two days of rapidfire speech making in Michigan. He was to spend most of the day in Duluth and no speeches elsewhere were scheduled, save the one at Superior.

"Wilson," said he, "has attacked the proposed federal legislation to prohibit child labor in very strong language, which is to be found in the North American Review, volume 187. He here denounces as mischievous the effort for the regulation of labor in mills and factories by the federal government.

"The democratic platform in one plank takes this same position, saying: 'We denounce as usurpation the efforts to enlarge and magnify by indirection the powers of federal government,' referring to the regulation of interstate commerce. But in dealing with the trusts the democratic platform states that it favors denying the trusts permission to engage in interstate trade at all.

"It seems preposterous to discuss two such conflicting positions and the mere fact that they can be put in the same platform shows the utter worthlessness of expecting serious social reform work from a party capable of taking such action in its declaration of principles.

"But Wilson's own statement as to the interstate commerce law and child labor, as quoted above, is absolutely incompatible with his position in standing upon the democratic platform with its plank, as given above, about interstate commerce. Either Wilson and the democratic platform do not mean what they say, or else it is Wilson's duty to repudiate either the plank above quoted in the democratic platform or his own statement about interstate commerce and child labor."

Perkins Tells of the Birth of the Harvester Trust

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—George W. Perkins expressed the opinion that the harvester business could be greatly improved by putting in more capital and reducing the cost of manufacture. There was talk of consolidation, and finally President O. W. Jones agreed to dispose of a majority of stock in the Plano company under certain conditions.

Thus Silas J. Llewellyn, former vice president of the Plano company related in the government's suit against the International Harvester company here today. The events he narrated took place at a meeting in the office of J. P. Morgan in New York. It was held at the suggestion of and attended by Judge Gary, he said.

The meeting, said Mr. Llewellyn, was held in July, 1902. He went to New York with President Jones in response to Judge Gary's telegram.

Andrews Goes West to Join Tariff Train

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—William E. Andrews, auditor to the Treasury department and one of the best known Nebraskans in Washington official life, left last night for St. Louis to join the Taft tariff train now trailing Governor Wilson.

Senator Burton, who is one of the leading tariff sharps of the country, is chief speaker on the train, but he will find Mr. Andrews headed with facts and figures gathered from first hand information that cannot help but prove effective during the strenuous days between now and November 5.

Mr. Andrews will devote two weeks to the Burton tariff train, later speaking in New York, New Jersey and New England. On his way to Hastings to cast his vote, the auditor will fill a few speaking days in Iowa.

Chairman Hilles, in a short interview with The Bee correspondent this morning, said that he was greatly heartened over conditions in the middle west and Illinois. He stated that Governor Deneen of Illinois had assured him Taft would carry Illinois by 100,000; that things were getting better in Ohio by leaps and bounds and that New York was safe for Taft, in his judgment.

Notwithstanding the enormous strain on him Hilles looked fit as a fiddle when he went on the stand this afternoon to testify as to pre-convention campaign contributions. He was cool and collected in his statements and everybody praised his directness and his easy flow of the prophecies. He was in splendid contrast to Senator Dixon, the bull moose engineer, who tried to browbeat the committee and the newspaper men during his testimony a few days ago.

The New York Nationals overcame the Boston Americans today by a score of 2 to 1 in the third game of the world's baseball championship series. Each club has now won a victory, the second game having ended in a tie.

Nearly 25,000 persons witnessed the pitchers' battle, in which the Giants' left-hander, "Rube" Marquard, opposed the Red Sox's most ball mouster, Buck O'Brien, and Marquard carried off the honors.

Little Josh Devore was the hero of the day. The midget outfielder made a catch that snatched seeming victory from the Bostonians and sent them down to defeat. The Red Sox made a desperate rally in the ninth, and there were men on second and third and two out when Cady came to bat. The Boston catcher sent a terrific drive between right and center and Devore was off with the crack of the bat. The crowd cheered, for two Red Sox men were on the way home and victory seemed won, when Devore speeding after the ball speared it with his blazed hand on the dead run, ending the game.

Marquard in Rare Form. Marquard was a puzzle to the Red Sox. His fast ball sped over the plate with a swish of a rawhide lash, and his curves were under good control. He gave only one base on balls. In only one inning did the Red Sox have Marquard in trouble, and that was in the thrilling ninth when Boston made its last stand and sent one run over the plate. The Giants' boxman did not allow the Sox batters to garner more than one hit in any inning until the final rally.

"Buck" O'Brien held New York to six hits, but three of these were made when they counted for runs. O'Brien found himself in difficulty in the second, when Murray led off with a double, which re-

LUMBARD DIES IN CHICAGO

Former Omahan and Noted Civil War Singer Passes Away.

With His Brother, Frank, the Two Veterans Drew Many Men Into Army in 1861 with Their Patriotic Songs.

Jules Lumbard, the man whose sweet voice drew men into the army in 1861, and thrilled them on the battlefield, and who for many years was the agent of the Pennsylvania railroad in Omaha, died at 2 yesterday morning in Chicago, at the age of 83 years. Word of his death was received by J. P. Cooke.

Mr. Lumbard made his home in Omaha for a number of years and was an intimate friend of Count John A. Creighton. For years he sang in Trinity cathedral. Five years ago he was pensioned for life by the Pennsylvania Railway company, and he moved to Chicago to live with his sister. For a short period after leaving Omaha he divided his time between Chicago and this city.

German Dirigible Balloon Wrecked

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Germany's aerial fleet suffered a severe loss today by the total wrecking by explosion of one of its immense military dirigible balloons and of the hall in which it was stationed at Reinickendorf, a suburb of Berlin.

The dirigible, which was of the semi-rigid type with internal air balloons to preserve its shape, invented by Major Gross of the Prussian army, was being refilled with hydrogen gas by soldiers of the flying corps. The gas, highly inflammable, was being passed into the balloon from metal cylinders when the friction of the gas on the filling tube caused fire to break out. A violent explosion ensued, completely destroying the dirigible and blowing the hall to splinters. None of the crew was injured.

VIENNA, Oct. 10.—Many Albanian villages to the north of the Boyana river are in flames, according to a dispatch to the Neue Freie Presse from Gattaro. Many fugitives, including some wounded men, have arrived at Scutari. Some peasants who fled to the frontier posts at Szamers, were slain by Montenegrins. CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 10.—More energetic measures by the powers in order to prevent the outbreak of hostilities on the part of Bulgaria, Serbia and Greece and to bring about a cessation of the war with Montenegro is said to be contemplated today.

Shots are reported to have been exchanged today between the Turkish and Bulgarian troops occupying advanced posts on the Turco-Bulgarian frontier at Timrush and Klissura.

Hoping for Peace. ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 10.—The Greek premier, Eleftherios Venizelos, still hopes for peace. Addressing a great crowd which had gathered outside his residence last night, he said: "I still hope that peace will be maintained. Our allies do not desire to make conquests, and what we ask for also corresponds to the interests of the neighboring empires and represents a first and indispensable condition for the peaceful coexistence of the Balkan peoples and the Ottoman empire."

As Montenegro had begun hostilities against Turkey it naturally has no more to say in the matter, he continued. In any case Bulgaria's decision, he said, would not be long delayed.

Turks Driven Back from Strong Position Before General Engagement. PODGORITZA, Montenegro, Oct. 9.—The Montenegrin army opened war against Turkey this morning by attacking a strong Turkish position opposite Podgoritza. Prince Peter, the youngest son of King Nicholas, fired the first shot. This was a signal for firing all along the line and an artillery duel ensued.

Within twenty minutes five Turkish guns were silenced and the Turks retreated from their first position on Mount Planinitsa. By noon the Turks had evacuated the mountain.

Podgoritza is the headquarters of the Montenegrin forces, and amid enthusiastic cheering of the people, King Nicholas, with Prince Mirko, his second son and staff, rode early to the mountains to survey the positions. The Montenegrins' guns had been placed the night before and strong detachments of men were held in reserve should the Turkish forces prove larger than the reports of the scouts indicated.

Punctually at 8 o'clock the first shot was directed at the Turkish position on the hills opposite by Prince Peter, who is a captain of artillery. At the booming of the gun the band in the Montenegrin headquarters struck up the royal hymn.

Battle in Progress. That the Montenegrin fire was effective was proved by the quick retirement of the Turks. After they evacuated the mountain a general advance of Montenegrin infantry was ordered. Covered by a concentrated artillery fire the infantry moved toward the strongly fortified
