NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Long hours of cross-examination by superlative lawyers, before a supreme court and jury failed tonight to make "Bald Jack" Rose vary his story of the part he played and the part he says former Police Lieutenant Becker played in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler.

"Becker told me," he said, "that he wanted Rosenthal murdered, shot, crooked or dynamited. At his bidding I got the gunmen to kill Rosenthal. I hid after the murder. I saw Becker that morning and later talked with him over the telephone. I paid the gunmen $1,000 for Becker and told them he said not to worry, but to lay low."

"I gave myself up and became a state's witness because Becker desired me like a dirty dog and was getting ready to throw me to the wolves."

Judge Refuses Delay.

Justice Goff convened the afternoon session of court at 2:15. Shortly after 9 o'clock tonight he declared it adjourned until Monday morning after John F. McIntyre, Becker's lawyer, protested he was on the verge of collapse. Court, jury, counsel, witnesses and the accused had been without food since noon last evening. Justice Goff, white haired and of venerable appearance, seemed the least fatigued of all in the court room.

"I warned you," he told John F. McIntyre, Becker's lawyer, "early in the evening, that we would finish this cross-examination if we had to sit to midnight. I meant it."

"I am on the verge of collapse," pleaded McIntyre.

"Proceed with the case," was Justice Goff's reply.

Not for three hours thereafter was court adjourned.

Becker, cool and stoical, leaned on the table at which he sat, his chin in his hand, his elbow on the table, during the long cross-examination.

Twenty feet back in the first row of seats, usually reserved for spectators, sat his wife. Her eyes were for her husband rather than for the court. Once, only once, he glanced back at her and smiled.

Bald Jack Endures Ordeal.

"Bald Jack" Rose, thirty-three, wide eyed and without a hair on his shaven head—was unruffled by the ordeal. Once he faltered when Becker's lawyer hurried question after question at him, each ending with "and when you said that you lied didn't you?" Once he leaned forward, buried his face in his hands and tottered on the stand. He seemed about to faint and the court quickly ordered a halt in the proceedings and windows were lowered to revive him. Within a few minutes he was refreshed and the cross-examination continued.

Rose admitted time after time that he had lied, had perjured himself, had been a gambler and had been engaged for twenty years in illegitimate business. He admitted that he was testifying to save his own life, but said he was telling the truth now. He said he had concluded to become state's witness only when the electric chair stared him in the face and added that he was not ashamed of his determination.

Told to Have Rosenthal Killed.

Without emotion, in a slow drawl, he said he had deliberately planned at Becker's behest to "put Rosenthal where he would never worry anybody else." He knew, he added, that it was a terrible deed to plan.

"Where was your conscience?" demanded the lawyer.

"I don't know," he said, measuring his words and facing the lawyer squarely, "I never saw it."

"Do you now intend to lead a respectable life?"

"Yes, but not in this community. I

TAFT PARTY FORBES' GUESTS

President Makes Last Stop Before
Arriving at New York.

Fleet Assembled for Review, Together with Shores of River Illuminated to Signalize Completion of Mobilization.

WOOD'S HOLE, Mass., Oct. 12.—The Mayflower, fogbound for five hours outside Buzzard's bay, dropped anchor off Wood's Hole at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The president and Mrs. Taft, Miss Helen Taft and their guests were taken ashore at 5 o'clock to become the guests over night and part of Sunday of W. Cameron Forbes, governor general of the Philippines, who has a summer place on Nauset beach.

The Mayflower with the president and his guests will leave Wood's Hole for New York at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. It is due in New York Monday and the president will spend two days reviewing the fleet.

Although detained at sea most of the afternoon the president did not lose sight of the fact that a world's series championship game of baseball was being played in Boston.

A wireless inquiry was sent out asking the score, details of hits and errors and the names of the players making the scores. An aerogram giving the desired information was sent to the Mayflower.

Fleet Illuminated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Lights blazed aloft and ashore tonight when the great fleet, assembled here for presidential review, and the shores of the Hudson, on which the armada floats, were illuminated to signalize completion of the mobilization. The spectacle drew tens of thousands of persons to Riverside drive. The illumination will be repeated Sunday and Monday nights.

Monday is the day for the review of the fleet by Secretary of the Navy Meyer and Tuesday the culmination of the naval demonstration will come with the review by President Taft.

Tonight's illumination crowned a notable day of activity on land for the man-of-war-men, more than 6,000 of the jacks and marines participating in a parade down Broadway and Fifth avenue. Along the line of march thousands of persons assembled and cheered the tars as they passed, while in front of the public library building at Fifth avenue and Forty-second street Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Rear Admiral Osterhaus, commanding the fleet, and Mayor Gaynor reviewed the marchers.

Nebraska Woman Verifies Letters in McNamara Case

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 12.—Miss Clara E. Smith, a stenographer, formerly employed by John J. McNamara, now in prison in California, at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today identified a circular letter as having been addressed to all local unions of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, notifying them of a temporary suspension of a detailed accounting of the union's finances.

It was after this letter that the executive board, the attorney charged, headed by President Frank M. Ryan, in 1906 began allowing $1,000 monthly to McNamara that he secretly might carry on the explosions which continued until his arrest in April, 1911. The government asserted that explosions previously were few, but that after the regular allowance to McNamara, Orville E. McNamara and James B. McNamara, directed by Herbert S. Hookins, were put to work.

Miss Sylvia C. Smith and Mrs. A. T. Hull of Kimball, Neb., also employed by McNamara as stenographers, identified letters taken from the Ironworkers' files after the headquarters were removed to Indianapolis. Many of the letters the witnesses testified were, in McNamara's handwriting, "referred to executive board," or "referred to F. M. Ryan."

They were the letters which the government, in its opening statement, said would show that a dynamite conspiracy was conducted through the mails and which show the defendants to be "linked together in guilt."

The witnesses identified letters as having been received from W. Bert Brown, Kansas City, Mo.; Edward Smythe, Peoria, Ill.; Paul J. Morris, St. Louis, Mo.; Fred Mooney, Duluth, Minn.; and Moulton H. Davis, West Chester, Pa., all of whom are defendants.

Roosevelt Forces Are Surrendering All Along the Line

Not only republican but democratic organizations are getting a steady flow of reports from various parts of the state that the Roosevelt sentiment is losing ground.

Thirty-seven letters have been received by the Woodrow Wilson league in response to inquiries mailed out September 24 containing a series of questions among which was: "Has the Roosevelt sentiment increased or diminished since his Chicago convention?" Only one letter in the thirty-seven said that the Roosevelt sentiment was gaining. Thirty-one of them said the Roosevelt sentiment was diminishing decidedly.

This is the second bunch of such circulars sent out by the Woodrow Wilson league. The first batch was mailed August 29, the last one September 24. The first showed the Roosevelt sentiment decreasing in a large per cent of cases, but not so large as the last letters. The last letters are from the following counties: Saline, Butler, Otoe, Colfax, Cedar, Dodge and Howard. They were mailed to the men who were the democratic committeemen two years ago, regardless of what may or may not be their politics at present. Expressed in percentage, 87 per cent of the replies showed the Roosevelt sentiment diminishing; 12 per cent gave it as uncertain; while 2 per cent gave it as increasing. In other words, only one out of thirty-seven queries estimated the Roosevelt sentiment to be on the increase in his community.

Late in Day.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—Within two weeks of the lynching of Jim Wigfall, a negro assault fiend, by convicts in the Wyoming penitentiary at Rawlins, nineteen convicts this afternoon made a successful break for liberty, beating a board out of the prison stockade and scattering into the rugged country near the prison walls.

Guards on the walls were not aware that the break had been made until a commotion arose among seventy other convicts in the compound who refused to take advantage of the opportunity to escape. By that time the fugitives were gone.

Tonight nine have been captured and poses are scouring all the surrounding country. One party of the convicts met a grocery wagon loaded with supplies near the hills, captured it and drove into the hills, abandoning the wagon, but taking its contents with them. Other fugitives met trustees returning from a stone quarry and asked them to join in the flight, but they refused.

Several of the fugitives are armed with hammers and hatchets, with which they were working in the compound. Among them is Jim (Butch) Dalton, a life term murderer, who is accounted the most desperate of the men. Warden Felix Alston, who was in his office when the break occurred, is leading a posse. Dalton formerly was a member of the Whitney gang of bank robbers.

Town in State of Terror.

The town is patrolled by armed citizens tonight and men and women sit in their homes with weapons close at hand listening for intruders. The fugitives are known to be the most desperate of the penitentiary's inmates, led by the desperado Dalton, reported at first as captured, and will take a long chance to secure weapons and clothes.

A reign of terror began at 3 o'clock this afternoon when from the penitentiary burst a bedlam of shouts of convicts and through the streets of the northern part of the town nineteen convicts, dressed in their prison uniforms, ran in a body.

Horses tethered in front of saloons were grabbed by the leaders and bore them at breakneck speed through the town and away to the hills, outdistancing the guards that closed in on the rear of the fugitives after losing precious minutes investigating the cause of the uproar in the cells.

Nine Convicts Captured.

Four of the fugitives hiding in a canyon north of Rawlins were caught half an hour after the outbreak and a fifth was captured making for the railroad. Three were cornered in another canyon, a mile west of the town, by mounted pursuers, but have not been taken. The guards returning with the five prisoners were greeted by the convicts with an uproar of groans, and it was then discovered that in the excitement of pursuit another prisoner had escaped, making twenty in all.

Shortly before 7 o'clock tonight four fugitives were discovered hiding in a barn within a block of the prison. Two were captured by guards, but two got away from the officers, who feared to fire because of a crowd in the vicinity.

A little later Warden Alston arrived at the penitentiary with two men he had taken single-handed. This raised the number to nine recaptured of the nineteen in the original get-away.

A searching party of citizens was organized at 3 o'clock to make a house to house search of every house in the north end of town in the hope of finding more of the men and to reassure the terror-stricken citizens.

Mrs. Wise Insane After Suit Fails

Rose Wise of Weeping Water, mother of Bertha Mott, whose troubles have received much notoriety, was taken from her cell in the county jail last night to the county hospital, where she is said to be violently insane. Mrs. Wise was being held for the grand jury on a charge of assault to do bodily harm, and she had just failed in an attempt to secure her release by habeas corpus proceedings. Her failure weighed heavily on her mind and is believed to be the cause of her insanity.

Two months ago Mrs. Wise and her daughter, Bertha Mott, became embroiled in a free-for-all fight in the north part of the city, at which time Mrs. Wise struck Mrs. Bert Mott, aged 71, on the leg with a ball bat, breaking the limb in two places. Mrs. Mott is recovering.

DRUGGED AND ROBBED; UNCONSCIOUS FORTY HOURS

After being unconscious for nearly forty hours, the result of drugs administered in a saloon near Tenth and Davenport streets, William Campbell, a farm hand living near Atlantic, la., revived yesterday morning at St. Joseph's hospital and told Police Surgeon T. J. Harris that he had been drugged and robbed of $25. He is still in a serious condition, but it is believed he will recover. Campbell was unable to describe the men who drugged him, but he says two white men bought him a drink after which he remembered nothing. He says at the time he had $25 in his pocket book.

Fired by the spirit of youth and inspired by the victory of the Creighton team on the foot ball field, a lot of Creighton boys made things lively on the downtown streets last night. Especially did they make their presence manifest at the front doors of the theaters, much to the worry of doorkeepers, ushers, managers and policemen. Six of the future B. As. were taken handcuffed to the station, while quite a number of others showed the policemen who chased them how fast a college freshman can go through an alley when it is time to go.

At the Gayety they frightened the audience into thinking a near riot was at hand by marching into the theater, giving their joyous yells and marching out again. Down at the Krug they got a little different reception. The good natured copper at the door there coaxed them to move on, and they moved over to the Orpheum.

Here they encountered a copper who is an athlete himself; he doesn't deny it, and proceeded to prove it by slamming right and left into the bunch. Several

Congressman Kinkaid Says He Will Return to Battle in Sixth

CRAWFORD, Neb., Oct. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—Congressman Kinkaid tonight, after the Sixth district republican congressional committee had asked him to withdraw his declination of the nomination for congress, wired back that he would re-enter the race. His telegram reads: "Will accept if it will not antagonize any county. Be regarded as political duty."

Twenty-seven counties of the thirty-five in the district were represented and the choice of Judge Kinkaid was unanimous. The following telegram was at once dispatched to him at O'Neill:

"The republican committee of the Sixth district in meeting assembled is unanimously of the opinion that you should withdraw your declination as a candidate for congress and accept the nomination by this committee, which action is earnestly requested and cordially insisted upon by every member of the committee. Notwithstanding your impaired health will not permit of a vigorous personal campaign, we believe it to be a duty to the people of the district that this be done. Please wire answer at once."

While waiting for his answer an enthusiastic meeting was held in the opera house and attended by several hundred people. A number of democrats attended this mass meeting and announced their allegiance to Judge Kinkaid. Short speeches by F. M. Currie and Judge Reese of Broken Bow, Paul Humphrey of O'Neill and Howard O. Wilson of Alnsworth were made and liberally applauded. The general sentiment of this entire community, regardless of party affiliation, is in favor of Judge Kinkaid.

Wife and Family Pressed to Ascertain Motive for Deed—Body Not Identified for Some Time
After Act.

Dying in the rear of the homestead where he was born, Wallace Black, bookkeeper for the Wood Commission company of South Omaha, was found with a hole in his right temple at 9 o'clock last night by Mrs. Mollie King, who lives at 1200 William street. Every indication pointed to suicide, for grasped tightly in his left hand Black clutched a new revolver and the wound in his head had every appearance of one self-inflicted.

When found he was still alive but unconscious, but he died in St. Joseph's hospital at 7:30 o'clock while Police Surgeon Harris sought to save his life. Mrs. King, who lives where Black was found told The Bee last night that she first saw him at about 4 o'clock and that he had walked staggering through the back yard. She thought nothing of it at the time, but when she went to feed her chickens at 6 o'clock she saw him sitting down, propped against the coop.

Young Bryan's Boat Cause of Drowning of Negro Fisherman

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Oct. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—Word reached here today telling of the drowning of an aged negro fisherman in a river in Lancaster county, forty miles below Fredericksburg, as a result of the collision of a row boat with a gasoline launch operated by William J. Bryan, Jr., son of the Nebraska statesman, who has been visiting relatives in that section for some days.

So far as can be ascertained, the launch accidentally rammed the boat, causing the negro to be thrown into the water. Being unable to swim the unfortunate man quickly sank, despite the efforts of young Bryan to save his life. Another occupant of the launch whose name has not been ascertained here is said to have also used every endeavor to rescue the negro. It was several hours before the body was recovered.

Bryan and his companion were exonerated from blame at a coroner's hearing.

Hot Steel Burns Out Larsen's Eye

John Larsen, aged 32, a blacksmith living at 2223 North Fourteenth street, lost his left eye, and may become totally blind as the result of being struck by a red hot piece of steel yesterday noon in the workshop of the Omaha Motor company, 611 North Twentieth street.

Larsen was pounding a piece of steel when suddenly a small particle broke off and flew into his eye. He fell to the floor, and suffering intense pain, was taken to the Swedish Mission hospital, where steps were taken to save the other eye, the nerves of which were paralyzed. At midnight he was resting easily.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—There has been filed in the office of the secretary of state a communication from the regular state republican committee protesting against the names of the bull moose electors remaining upon the republican ticket and demanding that the secretary of state remove them and place in their stead those of the republican electors recently filed by petition.

The document was filed several days ago with the understanding that it should not be made public pending the action of the Eggers committee in securing the resignation of the bull moose electors from the republican ticket, and when last night the bull moose electors refused to resign, the paper was made public this morning.

Protest of Committee.

The communication is signed by General J. H. Mrs. Touzalin Dies Ignorant of Death of Her Daughter Mrs. Gertrude E. Touzalin, mother of Mrs. Opal Morley, whose death in London was reported recently, died at her apartments in the Madison at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon after an illness of a week.

Mrs. Touzalin never knew that her daughter had died, for her advanced age and failing health made it imperative to keep her from the news. She was 77 years old and had been a resident of Omaha many years. Mr. Touzalin was at one time general manager of the Burlington railroad.

She has a son living here, Arthur D. Touzalin, and a son in San Antonio, Tex., David. A daughter, Mrs. W. H. Clark, whose husband is a brother of Frank Clark of this city, lives in Manila.

Dean J. A. Tancock will conduct the funeral services over Mrs. Touzalin. Services will be held at the residence of her son, in the Majestic apartments, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Schoolboy Receives Fracture of Spine

William Herck, 14 years old, a schoolboy, living at 4116 Camden avenue, is in a dangerous condition as the result of being thrown from a hayrack on Grand avenue near Thirty-seventh street late yesterday afternoon. His spine is fractured and his left side partly paralyzed. Today he will have to undergo an operation to save him from permanent disability.

Young Herck was driving a team of horses along Grand avenue when one shied at a piece of paper. Both reared and in the excitement the lad lost his hold on the wagon seat and was thrown to the ground. The wagon wheels squeezed him against a telephone pole and rendered him unconscious. Witnesses took him to his home and he was attended by Dr. F. H. Ellis.

PODGORITZA, Montenegro, Oct. 12.—After an engagement lasting until mid-day the Montenegrins broke through the Turkish ranks near Tushi and invested the town, which is completely cut off from Scutari.

The Montenegrin army has been fighting for four days along the whole frontier, penetrating the Turkish territory slowly, owing to the many fortifications. The Turks have burned several Malesori villages.

Many wounded Turks have been brought to Podgoritza.

Turkish City Attacked.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 12.—Montenegrin troops have crossed the border into the sanjak of Novi-Pazar and are now attacking Sinitza, according to official information received by the press. Sinitza is a town close to the Serbian frontier.

The Greek consulate here handed over its archives to the French embassy. The Serbian consulate has been put in charge of Russia.

General Commits Suicide.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Desperate fighting for the possession of Barana between the Turkish and Montenegrin armies in the vicinity of Lake Tuschani is in progress. The town has been repeatedly taken and retaken by both sides, says a dispatch from Cetinje today. Turkish troops repulsed the Montenegrins after another sharp engagement at Tushi.

The Montenegrin General Lazovitch has taken the place of General Boasovitch, who committed suicide when the latter improved him on the field of battle for wasting ammunition.

The Turkish troops on the Montenegrin frontier are offering stubborn resistance to the Montenegrin advance on Scutari, according to the latest advices from Podgoritza. The fighting has been of the most severe character, both sides losing heavily.

Too Many Greek Volunteers.

Greece is entirely above board with its preparations. Crown Prince Constantine left Athens today to take command of the army.

Vienna advices say Turkey will mass 40,000 men against the Bulgarians and leave only two divisions to oppose Montenegro. Turkey apparently is willing to sacrifice its outposts on that border for the time being.

Latest advices from Podgoritza say the Montenegrins have occupied the town of Tushi and that great losses have occurred on both sides.

The mobilization of the Greek army has been successful beyond expectation. Troops to the number of 125,000 will be concentrated on the frontier by Monday and another 30,000 are being equipped. The mobilization centers of the government.

YOUTHFUL BURGLAR CAUGHT WITH LOOT WORTH $10,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—An exciting burglary chase through the streets of Flatbush, Brooklyn, late tonight resulted in the capture of a prisoner in whose possession a store of plunder was found, the value of which a police estimate placed at $10,000. The loot was in the form of watches, rings, necklaces and other jewelry of value, believed by the authorities to be the product of a series of burglaries in the Flatbush district recently. The prisoner gave his name as Michael Carbone, a 17-year-old clerk out of work.
