The girls say they will prosecute the masher in police court tomorrow morning.

Institutional Work By the Church for Foreign-Born People

W. P. Shriver of New York, representing the board of home missions of the Presbyterian church, is in Omaha to interest the Presbyterians in the promotion of institutional church work among the foreign-born people, especially Bohemians of South Omaha. He will meet clergy and laity of that denomination today at 12:15 at the Young Men's Christian association and go over the situation with them. Already a church has been founded with Rev. Emanuel J. Kalina, recently graduated from the theological seminary at Auburn, N. Y., as pastor. Mr. Kalina is a native of Bohemia and preaches and teaches in English and his native tongue. The church board in New York will be back of this work, but it is also desired to secure the support and co-operation of local Presbyterians.

Body of Singer of Old War Songs is Buried in Omaha

The body of Jules Lumbard, the aged singer of the civil war, who inspired thousands to enlist in the cause of the union by his sweet-voiced singing of patriotic songs, was laid to rest yesterday afternoon beside the body of his wife in Forest Lawn cemetery. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock at the Trinity cathedral. The cathedral was crowded. Dean J. A. Tancock conducted the services and delivered the funeral sermon. The pallbearers were Joseph Hayden, W. B. Wilkins, E. J. McVann, J. P. Cooke, L. W. Blessing and E. W. Simeral. Scores of Omaha people viewed the famous singer as he rested in state Saturday afternoon in the undertaking parlors.

ACTIVITIES IN STATE NORMALS

Proposed Changes in Departments of Three State Schools in Iowa—Happenings Here and There.

During the last two years Prof. Hunter has had charge of both manual and physical training at the state normal school at Wayne, Neb., but the number enrolled in the manual training department has made it necessary to employ a man to direct the athletic work of the school. Frank Marrin of Pacific Junction, Ia., a graduate of Creighton university, has been elected to the new position. Mr. Marrin reached Wayne Friday, in time to help get the team ready for the Saturday game. The publication of a school paper, which was begun last year, and proved so satisfactory to students and members of the faculty, will be continued this year. Ernest V. Cukosky will act as business manager, Martha J. Woolsey, editor-in-chief and the various interests of the school are represented on the editorial staff. The name of the paper will be changed from "The Flame" to "Goldenrod." At a meeting of the senior class the following officers were elected for the year: President, A. T. Cavanaugh; vice president, Bertha Preston; secretary, Wilfred Gantt; treasurer, Ernest V. Cukosky. P. R. Schweitzer, assistant secretary of the state Young Men's Christian association, addressed a meeting of the young men in the chapel Tuesday evening. Mr. Schweitzer was also a visitor on Wednesday morning and made a talk to the school at the regular chapel period. J. P. Power was a recent visitor. Mr. Power is a graduate of the scientific course of the Nebraska normal college and now holds a degree from the law school of the University of Nebraska.

GIRLS AT AMES REBELLING.

Oppose Action of Board in Changing School Plans.

The students of the Iowa State college at Ames and the Iowa state university at Iowa City have gone to war with the Iowa State Board of Education for the board's action in Cedar Rapids yesterday in ordering the transfer of 357 domestic science girls at Ames to the university and 170 engineers from the university to the state college. All the 527 domestic science girls of Ames, who are affected by the board's drastic and sweeping action, held a meeting in the college chapel protesting against the change. The girls made speeches denouncing the state board. They adopted a definite plan of action to combat the state board, which will carry a hot war into this winter's general assembly when the state institutions ask for the annual appropriations. The girls appointed a committee of seven to incite the alumni of Ames to work with the home communities to arrange for a lobby at the legislature to fight the board, and to draw up a bill of complaint against the transfer to Iowa City. President R. A. Pearson of Ames addressed chapel this morning in regard to the changes. He said: "It is not for me to comment upon what has been done. I have no doubt that the board has acted as it believed wisely and that there was no other motive. It believes it is the purpose of the board now to make of the Iowa State college the greatest technical educational institution in the country, in the way of both agriculture and engineering. The way lies open to do this with the splendid equipment at hand and with the start already made."

REORGANIZING IOWA SCHOOLS.

Changes Proposed by the State Board of Education.

Three important changes proposed by the Board of Education of Iowa in the reorganization of the three state schools are announced in Des Moines papers. The state board proposes to confine engineering to the college at Ames and abandon that department at the state university. This in pursuance of a policy of making the college at Ames pre-eminently a school of agriculture and the mechanic arts. It would remove the department of domestic science from Ames to Iowa City, on the general theory that the university affords better opportunities for girls, and that the disproportion between girl and boy students at Ames must always be such as to work against the best interests of the girl students. It would take the normal school at Cedar Falls out of the college rank into which it has been assimilated, bring it back to the practical work of training teachers, and by adding three or more normal schools complete the normal school system of the state. The board urges, in addition to the general desirability of this rearrangement from an educational point of view, very substantial economies of administration and a complete co-ordination between the three schools.

Belleuve College Notes.

The first meeting of the Rooters' club was held Wednesday evening in the chapel. Archie Kearns was elected yell leader, and after rehearsing the college songs and yells, Coach Hoiles talked on the foot ball prospects of the season. Captain Bonderson and a number of the team were called upon for brief talks. Misses Hanna, Knapp and Hamblin responded for the young women. The Rooters' club will have charge of the rooting at all the foot ball games and rallies. The grading for the new gymnasium has been completed by Foreman Cartwright, and materials for the concrete foundation are expected in the first of the week. The dirt from the excavation has been utilized in the making of a pitching ground in the rear of the building. Contractor Harte of Omaha expects to have the floor ready for basket ball by the close of the foot ball season. The Philomathean Literary society held their first meeting Friday evening and elected officers for the year. After the customary program a social time was enjoyed. Rev. Charles E. Baskerville has accepted the position as financial agent for the college and will begin his work upon October 15. Bill Marvel and Grant Benson, ex-foot ball captains, were on the hill Wednesday evening to see Coach Hoiles' men at work. The young women of Pionelle hall under the direction of Miss Allen of the music department have organized a mandolin club, and will contribute largely to the social life of the hill the coming winter.

The first issue of the college monthly, "The Purple and Gold," will be off the press and ready for contribution Tuesday.

FREMONT COLLEGE.

Brief Mention of the Week's Happenings.

Prof. H. M. Eaton and Mrs. Kate Gilbert gave a series of chapel talks last week, which were very effective. Mrs. Gilbert's theme on Monday was "What Shall I Profit a Man if He Gains the Whole World and Lose His Own Soul?" and Mr. Eaton followed up her thought the next morning striking different phases of upright living than those discussed by Mrs. Gilbert. He emphasized the value of courtesy at all times, and also on the psychology of attention. Song services conducted by Prof. C. W. Weebs were a feature of chapel exercises two mornings last week. The Shakespeare club meets at 6:30 o'clock every Wednesday evening under the able direction of Mrs. Gilbert. The members are finishing the study of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and expect to read Dickens' "Christmas Carol" before the close of the term. Raymond Williams, an art student under the instruction of Miss Yesser, is finishing up his work preparatory to leaving for his home at Lindsay. He has several pieces to his credit. A special piece is now on exhibition at the college. The German class under Mrs. Mueller recently had an outing on McLane's island about two miles south of Fremont across the Platte. Thirty members of the class were present, all merry and ready for a good time.

Domus College.

Wednesday evening Prof. Burrage, who spent the summer in Italy and Greece, gave an interesting and instructive talk on those countries. He had gathered a number of postcards and with the Bolognian on the biology laboratory was able to produce these on the screen for the benefit of all. A large crowd attended. Wednesday evening before the lecture a yell meeting was held, with Yellmaster P. E. Gates presiding, to give the boys a rousing farewell as they left the next day for Peru, where they defeated the Seminites by the score of 24 to 6. Friday the freshmen, after having called a meeting of the freshmen boys every morning during the week after chapel, succeeded in having a party. All managed to have a good time. Thursday afternoon Prof. Fairchild went to Lincoln to meet with the committee which has in charge the selection of the new president of the college. About two weeks ago the committee sent letters to college officers all over the country. A number of replies have been received. In all about fifteen names were before the committee at the last meeting. The committee did not expect to come to any decision. However, it will probably not be long before a decision is reached. The foot ball team returned Saturday from Peru, where the boys had rather a hard game on account of the bad weather. The boys go to Yankton, S. D., next week and they expect a stiffer game there than either of the two that they have played so far.

Grand Island College Notes.

The October number of the Volante, the monthly students' publication, is a credit to the editor and his staff. The editor-in-chief for this year is Ray Kellenberger of Merna. Mr. Kellenberger has had work of this nature before and is especially qualified for the position. The associate editors are: Miss Ethel Rohrer of Friend, Miss Lois Bennett of St. Paul, Edna Englemann of Grand Island, Miss Edna Davis of Harrison, Lloyd Hansen of Rosebud, S. D., and Orland Huycck of Grand Island. A general rally of the students was held in the college chapel Thursday afternoon. For the benefit of the new students the chairman of the gymnasium committee was called upon to state briefly the history of the gymnasium movement. This having been done, the question of raising the necessary money to complete the structure was raised. The walls are completed and an expert contractor will begin soon to frame up the roof. A number of the college young people find time to sing at the Soldiers' home once a week. Educational Notes. Nineteen thousand students are already enrolled in the night classes in thirty-five public schools in Chicago. The library at the Cornell State College of Agriculture has been enriched by 2,000 volumes, the gift of Mrs. John Craig, widow of the late scientist, who occupied the chair of horticulture for eleven years. Three hundred students of the West Philadelphia high school struck and quit school one morning last week because one of the professors announced that the class colors in the future would be red and black. A few forceful lessons on obedience to authority is needed in that school. In tests recently made, twenty-nine out of 100 graduates of Cleveland's high schools and the college for women could not tell the location of a single one of the city's ten most prominent buildings, which stand within a block or two of the city's central public square, while forty-five could not identify a potato vine, and eighty-one couldn't recognize a sugar beet.

Aged Match Peddler Drops Dead on Street

Jack Hardeman, an aged and feeble match peddler, fell on the sidewalk on Thirteenth street between Cass and Chicago street, and died a few minutes later. He was found lying in the street by Sarah Yusan, 92 North Thirteenth street, who was passing there a few moments later. The police were notified and the body was still warm. His head had apparently struck the curbstone in falling as his skull exhibited an ugly bruise. The coroner found, however, that the skull had not been fractured. Mr. Hardeman was feeble, nearly blind, and subject to fainting spells. He had been rooming at 202 Webster street. It is likely no inquest will be held unless some new evidence should develop as the coroner believes it is a plain case of his falling on the street and dying from the result of his injuries. He is said to have come here from Atlanta, Ga.

DISCIPLINE IS NEEDED IN LIFE

Essential to Character Building, Says Dr. Robinson of Chicago.

SHOWS BY HISTORY OF ISRAEL.

Emphasizes Bible in Men's Lives at Opening of Bible Study Year of Young Men's Christian Association.

The opening of the Bible study year of the Young Men's Christian association was celebrated yesterday afternoon by an inspiring address on "The Divine Discipline of Israel" by the Rev. George L. Robinson, D. D., of McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago. Several hundred men, including clergy and laity prominent in the religious life of the city, heard the address in the association auditorium. It was a busy day for Dr. Robinson, who had come out from Chicago for this particular occasion. A breakfast meeting at the association building opened the day for him; next was a morning preaching at First Methodist church, the address in the afternoon and another sermon in the evening at North Presbyterian church. Dr. Robinson is known both for his knowledge of and skill in teaching the Bible and he was especially forceful and impressive in his presentation yesterday. "I have a text today," said Dr. Robinson, "from which I shall speak on 'The Divine Discipline of Israel.' And it is found in Deuteronomy VIII: 'Man doth not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord doth man live.'" Then he drove home with clinching effect his reasons for the Bible being woven into the lives of men. Bible Unique and Supreme. "The Bible is unique because it teaches the will of God. We are told that nature declares the glory of God—his handiwork—but the Bible alone teaches the will of God. Therefore the Bible is unique and supreme. And there is no necessity or reason for comparing it with any other book. Its importance in men's lives cannot be over-emphasized. Dr. Robinson then turned to the history of the children of Israel for the vital part of his address, emphasizing as he proceeded the importance of discipline in every life for the development of character. And the life of the Israelites, he said, was one continuous series of chastisements. He divided their history into four parts: 60 years in Egypt, forty years in Sinai or Arabia, 60 in Canaan and seventy in exile. "And here we have the four great universities through which they went to their graduation," said he, having observed that God today is sending us all to school and to college. "What was the discipline of the Israelites for?" Answered his own question, Dr. Robinson said: "To weld them together as a people. And all this affliction struck iron to their souls and they produced a Moses, and Moses led them out of Egyptian bondage and at Mount Sinai they got a constitution." Independence and Dependence. "Now, what was this stage of discipline for? To teach them independence, following their slavery. Then God disciplined them thirty-eight years to teach them dependence, and then they enter the third university in Canaan and in turn come Joshua, Saul, David and Solomon and the great lesson this period of discipline was obedience—the biggest word in your vocabulary. You know, as long as you are obedient God fights with you, on your side; when you are disobedient, he is against you. "Fourth university—in exile in Babylon. Now, who suffered in exile, not those who worshipped Jehovah. No, those who fell into idolatry. They were the ones it hurt. Then the lesson taught by this period of discipline was the folly of idolatry and the mission of the Jews to the Gentiles. "Now, you may ask me what is the discipline of the children of Israel today? Well, it is difficult to tell. I fancy one thing may be to teach us the true spirit of Christianity. There is too much anti-Semitic feeling abroad. Then it may also be to teach the Jews their true religion. And it may be to lead us using the Jews to interpret the scriptures. "I have a text today," said Dr. Robinson, "from which I shall speak on 'The Divine Discipline of Israel.' And it is found in Deuteronomy VIII: 'Man doth not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord doth man live.'" Telephone Service Costs Much

Few people appreciate the cost of furnishing almost instantaneous local and long distance telephone connections. Do you realize that it means that the company must have a separate pair of wires for every patron everywhere that party desires to talk at any time? We can't string out telephone calls for a day or even an hour, we must give prompt service—we must have wires ready. From Omaha to New York your voice would travel over a million pounds of copper wire, and at your command would be half a million dollars' worth of telephone equipment.

Warning to Beer Drinkers

Read every word in this opinion. Remember it is not our statement, but the deliberate opinion of a great scientist working for perfection in beer. Pure beer is food and tonic. G. Beck (Bierbrauer, 1881, No. 8) finds that "beer in light bottles deteriorates more quickly than beer in dark bottles when exposed to the direct sunlight."

His tests were continued for three weeks and proved that beer in light bottles had acquired a very disagreeable, nasty taste and flavor and was unfit for consumption.

The Brown Bottle with Schlitz is not a fad. Its use is based on scientific principles. We have adopted every idea, every invention, every innovation that could make for purity. Schlitz is sent to you in Brown Bottles to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass. Why don't you make Schlitz in Brown Bottles your regular beer?
