OMAHA'S ADVANTAGES GREAT

H. N. Casson of New York Scores the Realty Men for Laxity.

CITY SHOULD BE CLEANED UP

Prices Are Not Too High—Says that Omaha Has Great Opportunities Because of Its Location. Controlling the State.

Two things the matter with Omaha, which serve as a blight to the city so far as visitors are concerned, according to Herbert N. Casson, the New York advertising man, who spoke to the Real Estate exchange, are the vacant lots in its center and its smoke and dirt. "I say, even up your city," said he. "There is no excuse for a big skyscraper with a shanty next door. Every vacant lot is an insult and your real estate men are to blame. Every vacant lot in this business district is an offense to the real estate profession here. Make a demand for these lots. You are not selling land, you are selling location. You buy land, but you sell location.

"And clean up. It used to be thought by people in the large cities that the more smoke meant the greater business. Cleveland used to be that way. Pittsburgh had that idea. Cleveland has cleaned up and it has become a greater city. Pittsburgh is cleaning up. You need smoke consumers. You must clean up now; you must make your city as attractive as it is possible and then you will see skyscrapers where these vacant lots are.

Break Down the Signs.
"You real estate men see these vacant lots and these shanties in the center of your town and say, 'Oh, that belongs to so-and-so in Boston; we can't touch that. The sign is out, 'Hands Off.' You can't touch it. There is a gold mine back of that sign. Break it down and get in there.

"I imagine the trouble with this city is much the same as every other city. You have wealthy men here who are building railroads in Mexico. Every man has some kind of stock in his safe he's afraid to let his wife see. There are opportunities all around you, while you flee to Mexico or into the blue sky for them.

"You say you are stuck at the high prices. The prices are not high, you just think they are. No price is high when you have created a demand. You are not selling land; you are selling location. Land is only mud, but location is valuable. Not long ago there was sold a small piece of property in New York at $6 a square inch. You could lay your hand on that property and cover more value than was paid for the whole island of Manhattan. That whole island was sold at $3 and the buyer thought it was a high price. No price is high when you create a demand for the product that is produced.

"You people don't realize what you have in Omaha. This city has the state of Nebraska in its hands. What other state do you find with only one city as its key? An advertiser comes to Nebraska, and knows that Omaha is all that is necessary to strike. When he strikes Omaha he has advertised to the whole state. You don't find that in Kansas, nor Missouri, nor Wisconsin. You Omahans have wonderful advantages; realize them."

YOUNG MEN'S TAFT CLUBS TO BE FORMED IN THE STATE

Almos Thomas, secretary of the republican state central committee, is getting busy in an effort to aid in the establishment of young men's Taft clubs in many of the counties of the state. Within the next day or two he will send out hundreds of letters to practically all the counties in the state urging some of the young men in some of the leading towns and cities to perfect such organizations for active work during the last three weeks of the presidential campaign.

COMPLAINT MADE OF NEW COURT HOUSE SMOKE

Occupants of offices of the Omaha National Bank building, the city hall and the Bee building have been complaining of a smoke nuisance rising from the great volumes of black smoke that roll upon these buildings from the flue of the new court house when the breeze blows from the west.

OMAHA HONORED BY NURSES

Nebraska Association Fills Every Office Except One by Omahans.

CONVENTION COMES TO A CLOSE

Morning Meeting and Election of Officers Held at Public Library—Session Closes at Jacobs' Memorial.

The convention of the National Association of Graduate Nurses came to a successful close with a program in Jacobs hall Monday night. Miss Lillian Stuff, the newly elected president of the organization, gave a report of the international Red Cross conference held in Washington, D. C. last May, to which she was delegate. Mrs. K. R. J. Edholm told of the social events of the conference. She also announced that the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals would begin December 1.

Miss Harriet Borglum described the international Red Cross medal, designed by her brother, Gutzon Borglum. Miss Minerva Ryley read a paper on the Nightingale medal, designed in honor of Florence Nightingale. Jean Gilbert Jones, piano, and Frank Mach, violin, furnished the music.

Session Held at Public Library.

The day sessions were held in the public library. In the morning officers were elected, reports of committees were heard and addresses were made by both the retiring president, Miss Carrie Louer, and the new president, Miss Stuff. In the afternoon Miss Stuff gave a report of the international tuberculosis congress in New York and the convention of the National Association of Graduate Nurses in Chicago last June. The nurses had luncheon at the Delt Tea room.

The new officers are all from Omaha, except one, and are: Miss Stuff, president; Mrs. McDonald Taylor, Lincoln, first vice president; Miss Leonora Johns, second vice president; Miss Dannie Henry, corresponding secretary; Miss May Ball, recording secretary; Miss Mary Ducker, treasurer; Miss Carrie Louer, first director; Miss Minerva Ryley, second director.

GOVERNOR MARSHALL TO BE IN OMAHA A SHORT WHILE

Governor Thomas Marshall of Indiana, democratic nominee for vice-president, will arrive in Omaha for short while Friday morning. Governor Marshall is slated for addresses at Grand Island and Kearney and will stop off here. He will arrive over the Rock Island at 8 o'clock in the morning. The democratic party of Omaha are planning for a receiving reception and W. H. Thompson, chairman of the democratic state central committee, will come here to meet Governor Marshall.

MARRIAGE AT LINCOLN IS SECRET FOR A WEEK

Friends of Neal Elliott and Miss Edythe Seale, both well known in Omaha, were surprised yesterday to learn that they were married last Thursday in Lincoln and had kept the fact a secret ever since. The secret was made known by Sheriff McShane who happened to be at the Lincoln court house last Thursday and saw Elliott secure the license. McShane being

Jury Goes to Look at Drainage Ditch on Elkhorn River

Judge, jury and lawyers interested in the Elkhorn Drainage-Grimm case, departed the spacious temple of Douglas county justice to hold court out in the open. They all bundled into a big red automobile and went to the Grimm land, south of Waterloo on the Elkhorn, to become more familiar with the situation involved in the suit.

FREIGHT THIEVES ARE TAKEN

Detectives Overhaul Gang Stealing from Northwestern Platforms. THREE MEN ARE IMPLICATED

Driver, Checker and Clerk Accused of Taking Much Incoming Freight and Disposing of it to Dealers.
In the arrest of Al Gallahue, W. H. Wright and George Fisher, the police department believes it has captured a gang of thieves who have been working on wholesale lines since the first of July. The Northwestern freight depot has been the scene of operations, and merchandise in large quantities has been taken. Gallahue has been employed at the Northwestern freight depot as a checker; Wright has been a teamster for the Merchant's express company, and Fisher was a clerk in the employ of the Cackley Brothers Liquor company. Fisher and Gallahue are accused of having disposed of a barrel of whiskey stolen by Wright from the freight depot. Fisher has made a confession. Wright is held for the theft of six boxes of shoes, containing about seventy-two pairs, which were taken from the platform at various times since July. These were sold by Wright to Louis Farmer, a second-hand dealer at 39 North Sixteenth street, who has been placed under arrest on charge of receiving stolen goods. A shipment of wearing apparel and other goods belonging to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Carey, was also stolen by Wright and turned over to Farmer for disposal. This plun-

MOTORCYCLIST BREAKS LEG OF TRAVELING MAN

DER, WITH MOST OF THE STOLEN SHOES, WHICH WERE CONSIGNED TO THE OMAHA SHOE MARKET, WERE RECOVERED BY THE DETECTIVES FROM THE SECOND-HAND SHOP.

ZIMMAN CRITICIZES THE RAIDING SYSTEM

Harry Zimman, attorney and former councilman, severely scored the police department for making raids upon alleged disorderly houses and took exception particularly to Sheriff Felix McShane and his deputies, in police court, while defending Max Newmark, proprietor of the St. Charles hotel, 1419 Dodge street, arrested for conducting a disorderly house. He blamed the Albert law for the degenerate condition among men and women in Omaha, and said it had tended to harm rather than do good for the city.

"No raids would be made on the St. Charles hotel if it was situated at Sixteenth and Farnam streets or in a more fashionable district," Mr. Zimman continued. He recommended Judge Foster to dismiss all disorderly house cases in the future and try to put a stop to the raids by the police department.

Max Newmark was fined $25 and costs, seven inmates were discharged, six forfeited their bonds and one was fined $12.50.
