Hastings Man Says Taft Much Abused

James N. Clarke of Hastings, president of the Clarke-Buchanan investment company, has just contributed $100 to the Taft campaign fund in this state. He has written to Secretary Amos Thomas of the state committee saying that he would like to have done more for the cause had the demands locally for various causes not been quite so heavy. "I think of all men in politics," says Mr. Clarke, "so far back as my memory goes, President Taft has been subjected to the most unjust and baseless abuse and whether elected or not the day will come when his detractors will have occasion to blush. If in the face of conditions as they are today, men who have material as well as the moral interests of this country at heart, permit a change to be made and a man who has done so much for the country thus rebuked, and a change does come, as it will similar in its effect to those incidents at the last 'Professor Wilson administration'; those who are responsible for it will be getting about what is coming to them and will deserve and I think receive very little sympathy. "I honestly believe Taft will be elected. Wilson will be no stronger than Bryan was in 1896, and the close affiliation between the two now will weaken Wilson in the east. I figure he will have to get about ninety votes more in the electoral college than Bryan did and I don't believe he can do it."

Woman Suffers Bad Burns as Gasoline Stove Catches Fire

Mrs. Jennie Parker, 1118 North Sixteenth street, was badly burned about the hands, face and body yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by an explosion of a gasoline stove and is at the St. Joseph hospital in a critical condition. J. W. Shirely, a boarder, sustained a badly sprained ankle and wrist and numerous injuries about the body, when he and Mrs. Parker in attempting to get away from the flames crawled out on a sign from an upper story window and were precipitated twenty feet to the sidewalk. Mrs. Parker was cooking over the stove when the gasoline, which had fallen in the catch pan became ignited. Soon the entire stove was ablaze and the curtains caught fire. In attempting to push the stove out of the room into the hallway and down the stairs the flames set fire to her clothing and in an instant she was enveloped in a mass of flames. Attracted by her screams Shirely rushed out into the hallway and tore away parts

SAYS SHARKS TAKING ALL

John Geiger Sues Two Firms of Loan Men. ALLEGES EXCESSIVE INTEREST. Declares After Being Mailed for Interest Was Forced to Hide Illegal Operations. Usury of an unusual nature and fraud to cover up the alleged sharp practices of loan sharks are suggested in a bill of complaint filed in district court yesterday by John Geiger against the Omaha Chattel Loan bank and the Peoples Loan company, and George Abbott and Charles I. Rowe, respective proprietors of the two concerns. In March, 1910, Geiger was in need of money and he borrowed $450 from the Peoples company and Abbott, mortgaging personal property. He sets forth in his complaint that it was corruptly and unlawfully agreed that he should pay back the principal together with 40 per cent interest, all of which amounted to $525. By fall of that year he became so deeply involved by borrowing money to take care of the interest that he was compelled to borrow from the Peoples in an endeavor to get square. Things were getting worse and he kept on borrowing money to keep up the interest, which was raised on him in the meantime to 45 per cent. Finally he had paid in so much money and was becoming so deeply involved that the company by alleged bulldozing and threats compelled him to deliver to the Omaha Chattel Loan bank his notes and then he became more deeply involved. The operations of the loan sharks were so complicated that Geiger lost track of the amount of money paid in, but he sets forth in his complaint that he is sure he has paid all that is coming to them. In substance he asks the court to restrain the Omaha company from selling the alleged notes to a third party, and that the court decree that he has paid out all and more than is coming to the sharks.

THE SOCIETY OF THE BEE-HIVE

By MELLIFICIA. Friday, Oct. 18, 1912.

AS I SAT in the Auditorium listening to the wonderful music of the opera, "The Secret of Suzanne," I wondered how many of the women in the audience had the same secret, "she smoked cigarettes, but did not wish to have her husband know it for fear he would disapprove." I believe most of the young married women in society who smoke do so with the full approval of their husbands, who smoke with them, a la Susanne and her husband, the count. In the opera the husband is so delighted to find that the cigarette smoke which he has been smelling is from his wife's cigarettes instead of from the cigarettes of a rival suitor that everything is forgiven and they live happily ever after. Perhaps the Omaha husbands feel that it is better to permit it than to have their wives smoking secretly. Smoking as a fad has not been taken up generally by Omaha women, but only by a few of the feminine travelers who have spent much time abroad and have acquired the habit in other climes.
