

Nebraska
PUSH HISTORICAL STRUCTURE
Efforts Will Be Made to Force Completion of Building.

REGENTS ARE PAVING WAY
Notice Served Upon Organization First Step in This Direction—Effort Made to Secure Uniform Certificates.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The action of the regents of the state university at their meeting this week in serving notice on the State Historical society that they must vacate the building now being used at the state university, will put it up to the legislature to provide some other place to house the organization. Four years ago the legislature appropriated sufficient funds to start a building across the street east from the southeast corner of the capital grounds and the basement was completed and a temporary roof placed thereon, which has enabled the society to use it for a sort of storage place.

For some time the matter has been urged of completing this building for the use of the historical society, supreme court, state library and railway commission and thereby make room for some of the departments in the state house, which are always crowded when the legislature is in session. The main contention for the erection or rather completion of the building is that it can be made fireproof and thus be a safe place for the state library, which is now situated so that in case of a fire there would be little chance of saving the valuable books and other records therein, besides destroying property that could not be replaced.

It is said that much pressure will be brought on the legislature at the next session to appropriate sufficient funds to finish the historical building and make a safe home for the state library and supreme court.

Realty Company Incorporates.
The Carlton Realty company of Omaha has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. The capital stock is placed at $25,000 in shares of $100 each, to be fully paid up when issued. The incorporators are Jacob Kattelman, Harry A. Wolf and Philip Sher.

Governor Aldrich returned this morning from a campaign trip in southeastern Nebraska and went direct to the mansion, where he rested a few hours, taking up matters of importance there through his private secretary. He left later for Omaha, where he will spend the rest of the week.

Uniform Certificates.
Miss Anna V. Day, who represented the state superintendent at the national meeting of state superintendents in Idaho this week, returned this morning. The effort to make the issuing of certificates more of a uniform character and along the line of reciprocity was to a great extent successful. The following principles were recommended in the issuing of certificates: All certificates to be issued by a single state authority. The first certificate issued to be for a brief period, to be followed by a higher certificate and then a life certificate, to be determined according to efficiency. The number of times a certificate should be renewed to be limited so as to prevent any one teacher from teaching for life on one certificate. Graduation from high school, at least six weeks' professional training should be made a requirement for a certificate, to be put into effect gradually, similar to the Kansas law of 1911.

Book for Horsemen.
The state board of stallion registration has just received from the printer a very interesting publication of the work of the board to those interested in that kind of work. It covers 36 pages and gives the name of every horse examined and accepted, the name of the owner, registered number, date foaled, color and license number. The list is divided up according to breeds and is a valuable document for horse breeders and others interested in breeding. The book also gives the sanitary requirements of the different states governing the admission of live stock, a writup on various diseases and addresses and papers by leading experts and others interested in the breeding of horses. The board consists of Dr. A. Bostrom, president; W. R. Mellor, secretary, and A. E. Nelson, assistant secretary.

Governor Marshall Out at Grand Island

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Oct. 18.—Governor Thomas P. Marshall of Indiana, who stopped here this afternoon on his speaking trip to the Pacific coast, was applauded when he attacked Roosevelt's action in the Tennessee iron and coal case, declaring that J. P. Morgan "threw a fit into President Roosevelt and thereupon he, Roosevelt, violated his oath of office as chief executive." He delivered a caustic attack upon republican tariff theories at a big open air gathering of Hall county farmers.

The democratic vice presidential candidate tossed a large piece of English suit goods into the crowd and with the figures of a New York importer as a basis for his argument, declaring that such material could be bought in Nebraska for less than one-half the present price if the tariff was reduced.

On his trip from Omaha Governor Marshall was greeted by delegations of democrats at Columbus and other points where his train stopped. He also held a conference with Governor John Burke of North Dakota on the train between Omaha and Fremont. After speaking tonight at Kearney Governor Marshall will enter Colorado for two speeches.

At noon dinner was served.

Johnson County Republicans Are for President Taft

STERLING, Neb., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Republicans of Sterling precinct met here and organized a Taft club, electing Owen P. Stewart, president, and Martin Dierks, secretary. Arrangements have been made to hold a rally November 2 and to engage Frank Reavis of Falls City to address the club. The club passed the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Taft Republican club of Sterling, Johnson county, Nebraska, that the word "republican" of today means the same and is so defined in the organization of the party fifty years ago in which it meant fealty to national principles and loyalty to candidates representing those principles; therefore, be it

"Resolved, By this republican meeting now assembled, that Paul F. Clark, George W. Norris and Chester H. Aldrich by their support of Roosevelt and by lending their good will and faith to those who wish to disfranchise Taft republicans, or else force them to vote for Roosevelt electors, absolve all loyal republicans from voting for any of these men; be it further

"Resolved, That no man throw away his vote by failing to vote for a candidate for any of these offices which these men seek, and that we appeal to all loyal republicans to help us in our efforts for a square deal."

Fall Festival at Fairbury a Success

FAIRBURY, Neb., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Fairbury's fall festival closed Friday after a successful session of four days. The last day was Commercial club day and a great parade was held in the afternoon, participated in by the Fairbury Commercial club, Fairbury and Alexandria bands and a large number of attractive automobile floats.

The school parade Wednesday, participated in by 1,200 school children of Fairbury, was conceded to be one of the finest ever seen in Fairbury. The parade was headed by Superintendent A. L. Caviness and the Board of Education. Then came the district schools of the county, followed by the city schools. Many unique features were introduced including the "Pilgrims of 1620," "Frontier Life," "Witches," etc.

The automobile flower parade of Thursday was a striking affair. The float occupied by Mrs. John C. Hartigan attracted considerable attention. Seven popular young women of Fairbury, Cella Porter, Lena Westling, Gladys Ritter, Mabel Lindell, Lulu Groff, Pioma Converse and Georgia Simpkins were maids of honor.

Bull Moosers of Burt a Bit Worried

TEKAMAH, Neb., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The bull moosers in Burt county are seemingly discouraged over the nomination here. They had planned on a date at Tekamah for Congressman Norris, and after writing some of their supporters to that effect, asked the republican county central committee to arrange for the meeting. The committee told them to go hence, and that as a republican candidate they could not recognize Norris.

The committee decided some weeks ago to have nothing to do with either state or national politics. Now the bull moosers have decided that Tekamah is an unprofitable field and have placed Norris at Oakland on the same evening. Ex-Governor Shallenberger is scheduled to make the only democratic speech of the campaign at Tekamah on the night of October 26.

THE LOVE LETTERS OF A CONFEDERATE GENERAL

The Love Letters of a Confederate General

In PICTORIAL REVIEW for November

begins one of the greatest series of love letters ever written

These letters were written by a Confederate General to his future wife. Composed in the thick of the struggle, they will go down in history as the tenderest memory of the great war between the States. They touch our memories of the lost cause like a roseleaf on the graves where lie

"Under the sod and the dew waiting the Judgment Day
Under the laurel the Blue under the willow the Gray."

The four years' struggle between North and South is over; the knightly hand that penned these letters is forever at rest. Yet, as you read the letters, you hear once more the thunder of artillery, the scream of shot and shell; you catch a glimpse of the great soldier's sweetheart wife in her desolate home. In these letters the Confederate General unlocked his heart.

"Even now," he wrote three days after Gettysburg, "I can hear them cheering as I give the order, 'Forward.' I can feel the thrill of their joyous voices all along the line. Oh how faithfully they kept their word—following me on—to their death. I can't write you a love letter today, my darling... it seems sacrilegious almost to say I love you, with those hearts that are stilled to love. Your Soldier."

Who was this man—bravest of soldiers, most chivalrous of lovers?

and you will know; but we are pledged not to tell you his name, for the noble woman who inspired his devotion is still living, and now after fifty years has permitted PICTORIAL REVIEW to give them to the world.

Northerner and Southerner alike will respond to the thrill of these letters—human documents of a kind never written before, never to be written again.
