TEACHER IS PUPILS' IDEAL

E. L. Rouse Says This in Speech Before County Teachers' Meeting.

ANNA LEACH MAKES ADDRESS

President of Douglas County Teachers' Association Reads Paper and Gives Good Advice to Associates.

Discussion of the teacher's influence on the pupil, the home and the community of what constitutes the qualifications for teaching; advise on "how to study" eulogy of the teacher and grave consideration of the responsibility the teacher has, featured a meeting of 125 Douglas county teachers at the city hall yesterday afternoon President E. L. Rouse of the state teachers association was the principal speaker and interestingly reviewed his own experience in this work. "Reward of the Teacher," was his subject and he

he has spent in the service. The gratitude of the mother, the deference of the father, the tribute of the people, the love of the pupil, and the influence on citizenship were some of the things he declared the good teacher wins in the teaching profession.

"You know the story," he said, "of the eagle that was hatched with goslings and grew up unconscious of its power to fly. One day an eagle soured above the swooped nearer and nearer and at last and he speedily found his man. brushed the young eagle with its mighty perfect pinions and after many futile efforts rose in the air and soared into the sky and followed the old eagle to the crags.

"And so with children. They are unable to maintain an abstract ideal and so the teacher is their ideal and they make an effort to measure up to the standard the teacher sets, until at last they rise even above the teacher."

Prof. A. H. Waterhouse of Fremont. speaking on the subject of "How to Study," adviced the teacher to permit the pupils to find out things for themselves, interesting themselves as teachers only in the careful direction of the study so that all efforts would not be wasted. Papers were read by Miss Anna E. Teachers' association, and by Mrs. Otley ment.

D. Campbell and Mrs. Lydla E. Adams. CHARGES AGAINST M'SHANE offer and some good advice to give. Miss Adams said she believed all teachers sight to have at least a short course in a normal before attempting to teach. The program closed with a violin solo by Prof. Charles L. Worthington, with ALL MAY BE FILED THIS WEEK Mr. French accompanying. County Superintendent Yoder assisted at the meetng. Officers of the association are Miss Anna E. Leach, president, Miss Anna V. # Creighton Students Celebrate Victory

Showing Omaha that they are gentlemen, despite a little noise, nearly 500 Creighton students, celebrating yesterday's foot ball victory, paraded the downtown streets last night for nearly three hours. At the end of that time the only complaints made at police headquar were from nervous individuals who feared that the boys "might" get worse and do some damage.

The lads lined up on Dodge street and after paying their respects to The Bee editorial force with cheers and yells lockstepped through the streets shouting. Tiring of their march, they visited the several theaters, but they did not attempt to mob the gatekeepers as was reported about the city. In an orderly manner a committee of celebrants asked permission of the theater managers to give their yells in the building, and after the permission was granted and the yells finished, they lock-stepped out again in an orderly manner.

WOMAN OF COUNCIL BLUFFS SERIOUSLY WOUNDS INTRUDER

Mrs. Alice Coyle, 123 North Twelfth street. Council Bluffs, shot and seriously wounded a man who attempted to enter her home at midnight last night.

Mrs. Coyle was awakened by the noise of someone attempting to open the window. She saw a man and securing a revolver fired. The man fell and Mrs. Coyle called the police. Taken first to the Killin hotel the man said his name was Sweeney and that he had been working at McClelland, Ia., for a man by the name of Perry. The wounded man was taken to Mercy hospital and is being treated by Dr. Tubbs, who is undecided if his wounds will prove fatal. It is not known posttively whether Sweeney was attempting to commit burglary or whether he entered the wrong house while drunk, in which condition he appeared to be after Lundhal's "Crucifixion," one of the great paintings on the death of Christ, will be on exhibition at Orkin Bros. Mon-

The canvas is an impressive one. The impelling, irresistant message of it all appeals in striking vividness. The agonized face of Christ pictures an awesome torture, and yet it presents that divine sweetness, that beautiful foregiveness, which, as on the Calvary cross, is today, and will be for evermore, the one better promise, greater than all that has been vouchsafed to human flesh. It is a face to look upon by those who are weeping and mourning in the valley of tears. Its silent sermon may be wasted by some

BURGLAR KICKS DOG OUT AND RANSACKS HOUSE

A bold burglar without fear of vicious bulldogs ransacked the home of Allen Parmer, 2911 Dewey avenue, sometime last night, after kicking the family watchdog out of doors. Fifteen dollars worth of jewelry was taken.
