WAYLAND COMMITS SUICIDE

Owner of Appeal to Reason Fires Bullet Into Head.

DESPONDENT SINCE WIFE DIED

Leaves Note Saying Struggle Under Competitive System Isn't Worth the Effort, So Let It Pass.

GIRARD, Kan., Nov. 11.—J. A. Wayland, founder and owner of the Appeal to Reason, a socialist weekly newspaper published here, shot and killed himself in his home in Girard early today. Mr. Wayland was unconscious when found by his housekeeper shortly after midnight. He died a few minutes later. He had fired a bullet into his mouth, muffled the sound in the bedclothes. Between the leaves of a book lying on the bed the following note was found: "The struggle under the competitive system isn't worth the effort; let it pass. Friends of Mr. Wayland attribute his act to despondency over the death of his wife, who was killed in an automobile accident a year ago. Since her death, they say, he had been afflicted with periodic melancholy.

Charged with Misuse of Mails. Mr. Wayland was to have appeared in the federal court in Fort Scott, Kan., today to answer to a charge preferred by the government against the several editors and the owner of the Appeal to Reason of circulating through the mails defamatory matter concerning an official of the federal prison at Leavenworth. The attacks upon prison officials was printed in Mr. Wayland's paper last winter. "Although I alone am responsible for what appears in the columns of the paper, Mr. Wayland had seemed much disturbed over the pending case," said Fred Warren, managing editor of the Appeal to Reason today. "Mr. Wayland was 58 years old. He founded his paper here fifteen years ago. Previously he had edited papers in Harrisonville, Mo.; Pueblo, Colo., and Greensburg, Ind. He established the Coming Nation in Greensburg in 1892. Later he founded a socialist colony at Ruskin, Tenn. As a writer and worker he was well known among socialists throughout the world. He is survived by two sons and three daughters.

Prosecution Will Continue. WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The suicide of Julius A. Wayland, owner of the socialist paper the Appeal to Reason, will not affect the action of the federal government in prosecuting the paper for alleged misuse of the mails. Within a day or two a case will be called at Fort Scott, Kan., charging the paper with sending obscene matter through the mails. The federal grand jury there also will begin an investigation of other matters connected with the paper.

COFFEY TURNS HONEST AND GETS RE-ARRESTED SEWARD, Neb., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—That it does not always pay to be honest was demonstrated in the case of A. R. Coffey, who stole a couple of horses, while intoxicated, from a Seward farmer some time ago and was sentenced to a term in jail. On his serving out his time he was without money and Sheriff Gillian loaned him a small sum. Coffey went to Omaha and got work with an Omaha firm. In the meantime Sheriff Gillian received a photograph of Coffey sent out particularly Los Angeles, that they had had a couple of fellows working out there but they did not get any results. Later I received a telegram from J. B. He did a few minutes later. He had fired a bullet into his mouth, muffled the sound in the bedclothes. "I took a Duluth newspaper account of the explosion back to J. J., but he said he had beaten me to it, for Fred Mooney at Duluth had written him a letter thanking him for sending a real dynamite up there. "McManigal was telling of his start for Rochester, Pa., to procure twenty quarts of nitroglycerin for use in an explosion at Kansas City, Mo., August 23, when court adjourned. "After I blew up the power house of a car shop in Mount Vernon, Ill., Herbert S. Hockin came to me in Chicago and said I had gotten the wrong job," testified McManigal in his early testimony given today. "He said I should have blown up a railroad bridge and the union's executive board would not allow me pay for the job."

SECOND TRIAL OF BANDITS' AUTO CASE COMES UP BEATRICE, Neb., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—The replevin case of Mrs. Mary Hoerr of Wynore against Sheriff Schlek will come up for trial in the district court this week. She is seeking to recover an automobile used by the Kansas bank robbers a few years ago. The car was found in a ravine near Wynore the morning following the Hanover, Kan., bank robbery and taken in charge by the sheriff for the National Surety company in which the bank was insured. After H. H. Hoerr was convicted of the charge of complicity in the robbery of the Hanover bank and sentenced to the Kansas penitentiary for seven years, Mrs. Hoerr attempted to replevin the touring car, claiming it belonged to her. She lost her first suit, but was later given a new trial, which will be heard this week.

NATIONS OF EUROPE FACE MOST CRITICAL PERIOD IN HISTORY

town in Albania, by the Servians after heavy fighting, constitute all the military news of importance since Saturday. "Some idea of the bloody nature of this war may be formed from the fact it is now estimated that 150,000 men have been put out of action on both sides since the opening of hostilities. The Turkish government clearly has little hope of holding the Tebatals lines. The dispatch of 100 ulemas to the front with the avowed intention to stir up religious fanaticism in the army is interpreted as the counsel of despair.

Turkey Plays for Time. There is no confirmation of the report that the Turkish government has opened direct negotiations with the allies. Turkey's immediate object appears to be to gain time, hoping for something from the rivalries of the European powers. It is also making urgent diplomatic efforts to prevent the Bulgarian troops from entering Constantinople. In this connection there is an idea prevalent in Sofia that some important diplomatic action is afoot to this end. With regard to the difficulty between Servia and Austria, the Vienna Relehsport in denying that any common action by the triple alliance in Belgrade is intended, says Austria has no egotistical plans regarding Albania, but is only anxious to preserve Albania's national and political freedom and, in this object, has the support of Germany and Italy. But, the paper adds, the mere assurance by Servia that it would not fortify its harbor on the Adriatic would give little security, and its passage through Albania cannot be conceded.

Do Not Want Autonomy. According to an inspired statement, the view of the Balkan allies is that an autonomous Albania, instead of contributing to the peace of the Balkans, would be a source of perpetual trouble and disorder among the Albanian people themselves, who have never been independent, have no national feeling, and are of various religions and nationalities, with no common language, not even a common alphabet, and do not form a homogeneous unit. These disorders, it is urged, would inevitably spread to the surrounding states, and instead of a permanent settlement, Europe would be left with a troublesome Albanian question on its hands.

Will Stay in Constantinople. The Daily Telegraph's correspondent says: "The decision has been reached that the sultan and government shall remain in the capital even if the troops of the allies enter. The heir apparent and the other princes have expressed strong opinions that it would be shameful and exceedingly dangerous to abandon Constantinople and retreat to Breslau. "The opinion is gaining ground that the differences of the powers may bring about a European war, by which Turkey might profit and might re-establish its position if it resists long enough to muster into line new levies from Asia, numbering 500,000 men, when the general conflagration breaks out. Several high officials at Tebatals demand that the new troops from the Black sea and also the former army of Thrace be given a chance to fight."

The Standard's correspondent says some of the American residents are making entrenchments on the hill where the Robert college, an American institution, stands. They intend to take refuge there if necessary. A sorry picture of the conditions at Tebatals is given by one of the Daily Telegraph's correspondents. He arrived at Constantinople yesterday after riding several days from Tehoru with the retreating Turkish army. He sends the following dispatch from Constantia: "Never for a single mile had there been a break in the endless chain of retreating soldiers and refugees. We had not seen a single company of organized soldiers. We had only seen men without arms, without food, without morale, and whose officers seemed to have completely disappeared.

GOMPERS MAKES HIS REPORT

Federation of Labor Has Nearly Two Million Members.

REVIEWS LEGISLATIVE WORK

Report of Secretary Shows Seven Hundred and Sixteen Strikes Conducted During Year at Cost of Two Million Dollars.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 11.—The annual reports of the president, secretary and treasurer of the American Federation of Labor were presented to the thirty-second annual convention of the organization in session here today. The report of President Samuel Gompers was a thorough and voluminous review of the work of the organization for the last year, particularly with regard to legislation endorsed and supported by the federation. Discussing the growth of the federation, Mr. Gompers' report set forth that during the year ending September 30, 1912, 300 charters were issued to labor organizations affiliating with the federation. "The average membership reported and upon whom per capita tax was paid by the affiliated organizations to the American Federation of Labor during the last year," said the report, "was 1,816,385, an increase over the number reported for 1911, which was 1,738,825. On September 30, 1912, the membership of the affiliated organizations was 1,816,385."

President Gompers reported progress in the organization of the international labor movement in Canada and in Porto Rico. In Canada he reported a total membership of from 90,000 to 70,000 in the Trades and Labor congress, and in Porto Rico he declared 190 unions had been organized with 9,000 members. Improved working conditions were reported in both Canada and Porto Rico. President Gompers' report included statements from the building trades, metal trades, mining, railroad employes and union label trades departments, showing the progress made by each department of the federation during the year.

Legislative Work. Reviewing the legislative work of the year, Mr. Gompers set forth that fifteen members of the trade unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor had been elected to the house of representatives. Of these fifteen, four are members of the house committee on labor, of which Representative William of Pennsylvania, a union miner, is chairman. To the labor members of the house, Mr. Gompers gave much credit for the passage of a score of bills endorsed and urged by the Federation of Labor.

Among the measures mentioned in the report were the eight-hour law, the child-labor's bureau law, the law creating an industrial relations commission, law giving postal clerks right of hearing petition and association and the law prohibiting the use of white phosphorus in the manufacture of matches. The report of Secretary Frank Morrison of the federation showed total receipts of $207,323 for the year and expenditures of $277,473. The federation began the year with a balance of $199,275, and closed the year with $20,105 less. In discussing
