

THE SOCIETY OF THE BEE-HIVE

By MELLIFICIA. Tuesday, Nov. 26, 1912.

THE difficulties of the bride and groom escaping from their friends is usually more or less thrilling, but Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Lody (nee Miss Louise Storz), think they had more than their share of difficulties.

Mr. Lody engaged a taxi to take them to the station, but did not count on the speed of Hal Brady's touring car. After riding the taxi around the city for several miles in a vain effort to lose the wedding party, the bride and groom finally decided to go to Council Bluffs. The wedding party decided to go to the Bluffs, too. And for a few moments it seemed that the bride and groom would be successful in eluding their pursuers, for the latter had a punctured tire. Just then the ever ready motorcycle "cop" of Council Bluffs appeared on the scene. The first car had gotten by him, so he rode up to the second party. They explained that they were following a bride and groom, and if they were speeding the car ahead must also be speeding, so the cop said, "Well, if I get them I will have to take them to the police station." "Anything that will keep them until we can get this tire fixed," remarked one of the young women of the party.

So at the police station the frantic bridegroom, who is a stranger here, having come from Berlin, Germany, had to telephone his father-in-law to make arrangements for some one to appear for him the next morning, so that they could get their train that evening.

Sheriff's Raid Gives Safe Blowers Chance to Make Their Escape

Under the leadership of "Red" Mike Wallace, a "gang" of raiding deputy sheriffs prevented the police from arresting two safe blowers, wanted in South Sioux City on several charges, last night at the Atlantic hotel.

Early in the evening Captain Dempsey received a telephone call from a woman, who refused to divulge her name, to the effect that the two safe blowers got into Omaha yesterday afternoon and were lodging at the Atlantic hotel.

Furnished with a description of the two fugitives, five detectives and an many patrolmen, led by Sergeant Sigwart, surrounded the hotel and were preparing to arrest the two criminals when the "raiding" sheriffs arrived on the scene.

With much gusto and calling to his men to follow in his rear, "Red" Mike walked past the waiting police officers and into the hotel, arresting several women and a number of men. The others the deputies chased from the building before the police had an opportunity to arrest their men.

The officers were standing around the outside of the hotel, with revolvers drawn, ready to fall on their prey, and when they saw their coup disappear like an air castle, they returned to the station in disgust and made a report to Captain Dempsey. The captain stationed two men in the neighborhood of the hotel the remainder of the night, but the two cracksmen failed to put in an appearance.

Auto Wreck Victims Asking for Damages

Four claims for damages against the city, arising out of a single wreck, have been filed with the city clerk. They are from Guy L. Overall, Leonard E. Britt, Thomas H. Adams and Mary Overall.

In the petitions for damages read before the city commission and placed on file today Mr. Adams recites that on October 25 he was driving his auto along the east side of North Thirtieth street near Binney when he crashed into a pile of crushed stone, badly damaging the auto and injuring the occupants, all of whom claim damages for injuries.

These petitions may lead to an investigation by the commission of complaints that contractors are leaving old building material and rubbish in the streets and that warning lights are not always put up.

Delitia is on Trial for Hiring Children

Tony Delitia, indicted by the grand jury last spring for employing children in a moving picture theater in violation of the child labor law, is on trial in criminal court before Judge George A. Day. It is alleged that as proprietor of the Venezia theater, South Thirteenth street, Delitia employed Maud Franklin, aged 12, and Edith Greenwood, aged 8, to sing and dance. The little girls so testified.

A report that two children had been employed in a large theater, giving names, addresses, time and alleged salaries, was given to the grand jury and referred to Juvenile Officer Mory Bernstein, but no indictment was returned.
