

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Heavy Shipments of Feeder Stock Move from the Yards.

FARMERS ARE STOCKING UP

Necessity Confronts Farmers in Order to Prevent Real Shortage of Cattle—Basket Ball Tourney at High School.

That the farmers are making provision against shortage in the cattle crop next year appears in the heavy shipments of feeder stock from the cattle pens to the feeding lots in the country. The week just closed at the Union Stock yards showed a total of 473 cars, or 14,850 head of stocker and feeder cattle shipped to the country last week, as against 200 cars, or 6,529 head a week ago, and 283 cars, or 11,387 head for the corresponding week a year ago. The cattle were shipped to Colorado lying between Indiana and Colorado and Missouri and Oregon.

Basket Ball Tourney. Coach Patton, at a student mass meeting held in the auditorium of the high school building yesterday morning announced an interclass basket ball tournament to be held as soon as the new gymnasium is completed. The different teams will be selected from their respective classes. The victorious team in the interclass meet will be awarded a banner. The girls will also have a team. With the four old players on the school team it is thought that a record team will be developed for the year.

Harvey Lawrence Married. Harvey Lawrence, a cattle speculator at the Union Stock yards, will leave the latter part of this week for Oklahoma City to claim his bride, whom he married some three weeks ago. Mrs. Lawrence was formerly Miss Laura Rounding of Oklahoma. She and Mr. Lawrence are said to have been old acquaintances. Some three weeks ago Lawrence was missing for a few days from the Union Stock yards. He returned as if from a business trip and took up the usual round of daily duties. He had been to Kansas City, where he and Miss Rounding were married, both returning to their homes after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence will make their home in South Omaha.

Hope to Macdonald Road. At Riverview school house, below Albright, a number of residents along the Fort Crook road met last night to discuss the macadamizing of the road leading from Omaha to Fort Crook. It was decided to bring the matter to the attention of the governments of the United States and of South Omaha in order to enlist their several interests in the work of paving the road. The strongest point offered in favor of the road was the plan of completing a driveway from Omaha to the fort.

Magie City Gossip. A. G. Wincor of Fairfield, Ia., was in town on business Monday. A. D. Randall of Dennison, Ia., was in South Omaha Monday on business. Miss Clara Austin of Wayne, Neb., is the guest of Miss Emma Stewart this week. The hog killing department at O'Quinn's will be in operation Thursday or Friday of this week. Dr. H. T. Allingham of Omaha has moved his office to 406 North Twenty-fourth street. Frenchy's Homestead will give a dancing party Thanksgiving evening at the A. O. U. W. hall. The Optimist club will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Centurion club rooms, Twenty-fourth and E streets. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howard of Columbus, Neb., were in South Omaha yesterday to attend the funeral of S. F. Burton.

Clarence Meldin, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chedester, thirty-three and E streets, died this morning with pneumonia. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Huge Profits Made By Case Corporation

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Fred Robinson vice president and general manager of the Case Threshing Machine company of Racine, Wis., a $40,000,000 corporation, was the principal witness for the government today in the suit for the dissolution of the International Harvester company. He was at one time a member of the Milwaukee Harvester company, the concern which was absorbed by the International Harvester company in 1902. Profits of the Milwaukee company, according to the witness, who negotiated the option on the property to J. P. Morgan and George W. Perkins, averaged $200,000 a year for the two years previous to the acquisition of the property by the combination in 1902. The sale of the Milwaukee Harvester company, according to the witness, was made through P. D. Middlekuff to Perkins and Morgan. "An option on the company," said Mr. Robinson, "was given to Mr. Middlekuff. The purpose was, I believe, to turn the option over to J. P. Morgan and George W. Perkins."

COMMISSION TACKLES CAR SHORTAGE PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Congestion of freight cars and the extent to which cars are diverted from the possession of the owning lines is the subject of a wide inquiry begun today by the Interstate Commerce commission. The commission has directed all leading railroads to make semi-monthly reports on the location of freight cars. The order calls for the first report by December 10 to cover the situation on December 1. The action is an outgrowth of the car shortage.

MILK DEALERS' COMBINE THREATENS INCREASE IN PRICE TO CONSUMERS

Omaha is threatened with an increase in the cost of milk to the extent of 30 per cent. The milk dealers' combine is only waiting until the health commissioner and dairy inspector shall have prepared a new ordinance for the better regulation of the traffic in order to put the threat into execution.

The Bee believes the proposed increase in price of milk is merely extortion, proposed to be practiced on the consumer by a combination which, if it exists at all, exists in defiance of the anti-trust laws of Nebraska, and which should be looked into by the county attorney. That such a combination does exist has been proven in times past by the appearance before the city council of an attorney, who claims to represent the Milk Dealers' association, and who has voiced the sentiments of that association in opposition to regulation of the traffic.

Just why the price of milk should be raised at this time does not seem clear. The cost of producing the milk has not increased any, nor has the cost of its delivery advanced. The only reason for the proposed extortion seems to be that the dealers feel their combine is sufficiently strong to compel submission to their demands.

The date for the proposed advance in price to go into effect has been postponed from December 1 to a time later in the month. If consumers do not care to submit to this imposition, now is the time to make their protests. The Bee will be glad to lead the fight against the rise in the price of milk.

CHURCH EXTENSION RALLY

Big Day, with Dr. Edgar P. Hill of Chicago as Leader.

PRESBYTERIANS WORK IN CITY

Take Hold of Task Which Dr. Hill Says Will Make Them Sweet, but Which Must Be Performed.

The Presbyterians of Omaha made a sort of church extension rally day out of yesterday, as the culmination of the inter-church, home mission week. Rev. Edgar P. Hill, D. D., professor of homiletics in McCormick Theological seminary of Chicago and a dynamic leader in the church extension movement, was the central figure of the day.

One of the pivotal addresses of the day was made by Rev. D. E. Jenkins, D. D., of Omaha on "Church and Labor." Dr. Jenkins, professor of theology at the Omaha seminary and chancellor of the University of Omaha, is a close student of, and practical worker in the vital problems affecting church and labor, keeping in intimate contact with both elements.

The subject of the day was "church extension." The afternoon meeting at Casslar street Presbyterian church was divided into two parts. The former presided over by Rev. Nathaniel McGiffin, D. D., pastor of Lowe avenue church, the latter by Warren Switzer, a layman. "The Church Extension Idea," was presented by Rev. T. H. McConnell D. D., "The Foreign Problem at Home," by Rev. W. H. Kearns D. D., superintendent of the northwest field, "Church and Labor," by Dr. Jenkins, and the Young People's Problem" by Mrs. Grant E. Fisher. "A Local Survey" was outlined by Rev. Julius F. Schwarz, superintendent of the southeast district (Omaha) of the synod of Nebraska for mission work. "Our Boys" by Mrs. C. C. Meek and "Practical Suggestions," by Dr. Hill.

Dr. Hill addressed an assemblage of men at the noon luncheon at the Young Men's Christian association.

Preceding the mass meeting, the big event of the day, at North Presbyterian church, Twenty-fourth and Wirt streets, in the evening was a banquet attended by several hundred men and delightfully served by the women of that church. Dr. S. K. Spalding was the toastmaster and, owing to some disagreement, only two addresses were made, one by James B. Wooten on "The Proposition" of the church extension work, the other by E. U. Graff, superintendent of the city schools, on "The Plan."

Dr. McConnell, who presided at the mass meeting, set forth the definite plan to be launched here in Omaha, which, he said, would call forth for $3,000. Rev. Mr. Schwarz had been put to work by the local church to handle the city mission, especially the foreign situation, and Rev. Mr. Kallins was sent to South Omaha by the Board of Home Missions in New York to work among the Slavs.

Know Your Problem. "Know your problem first," he said.

"Then visualize Christianity in solving it." He said that Christian work, especially this church extension work, this city evangelization, meant hard labor, "It means sweat and exertion. It is a task of tasks and the only force to do it is the church."

A downtown headquarters for the Rev. Mr. Schwarz and his work is desired as an initial step toward efficient organization. An industrial house is contemplated for the future and an institutional church is one of the objects hoped for. Dr. Hill's address aroused great enthusiasm. He told in graphic style of the way Chicago churches were doing a similar work and urged concerted, determined action among all the churches, saying that "when you get a definite work before the people you will get their whole-hearted help in doing it."

Speaking of the past Dr. Hill asked, "Is it fair to say the church has failed and then lay on it this great problem of the city with its social ills and expect it to succeed at once in solving a problem which all other forces for 2,000 years have failed to solve?" But he insisted the church must not fail and would not with the proper spirit of zeal and action among its entire ranks. He laid stress upon institutional church work, upon industrial work and work of every dynamic kind among the un-church-ed hosts of the city. He minimized the importance of denominational lines as compared with the great burden of responsibility for service weighing upon the Christian people.

Carnegie Happy on His 77th Birthday

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The universe is well, according to a sweeping diagnosis of affairs which Andrew Carnegie made in a general philosophical mood on his seventy-seventh birthday today. He said that any one who believed the country was going to the "bow-wow" was sadly mistaken. "We pick our own kings," he said, in comment upon the elections, "and we always pick good ones." "Do you know the reason I'm so happy?" he asked. "It's because I have a higher opinion of the human race than ever, and this higher opinion is caused by knowing many men and women." "Woman," he continued, after a pause, "woman has attained an almost angelic height." Carnegie spent the day quietly at his Fifth avenue home receiving many congratulations from friends who called or sent telegrams.

ESCAPES FROM REFORMATORY WOMAN'S INFLUENCE SAVES

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 26.—Roscoe Sheldon, who escaped from the State Reform school at Golden in 1910 and was recaptured in Des Moines, Ia., a month ago, will be required to appear before the Reform school board, at which time he will be granted a formal discharge. This action has been decided upon in view of Sheldon's record since going to Des Moines, where he married and has made a new start in life.

ORKIN EMPLOYEES BANQUET

Seven Hundred and Fifty People Sit at the Feast.

TABLES ARE SPREAD IN STORE

Employers and Clerks Join in the Speech Making that Follows the Dinner, Salesmanship Being the Topic.

Employees of Orkin Brothers' stores, numbering 750, were the guests of the Piano club at a dinner last night. When the store closed at 6 o'clock last night, hundreds of willing hands quickly set tables in the alcove of the first floor, spread them, decorated them with flowers and loaded them with good things to eat and at 6:30 were dining.

After the dinner the employees adjourned to the piano department, where a program of speech-making was carried out, under the direction of W. M. Robinson, piano department manager.

J. L. Orkin and M. E. Orkin spoke warmly to their employees, telling of some of their experiences, since they invested their first $100 in cloaks and started a store at Winterset, Ia., twenty-one years ago.

Other speakers were: E. M. Levy, Mr. Skinner, Frank Bacon, C. R. Weir, F. H. Hall, Henry Keiser and Mr. Robinson. Each took up the essentials of salesmanship and displayed much enthusiasm for their work and for the Orkin Brothers' store. Mr. Keiser struck the keynote of the speeches in an address on "Personality in Business."

"Capital is never the greatest asset of any mercantile institution, essential as that is," Mr. Keiser said. "Neither are fixtures or equipment prime factors of success in any institution. Personality of all members of the organization from the employees down to the least of the employees is the greatest, most essential and mightiest asset of every mercantile institution."

Things that are Necessary. "Every person, no matter what his or her employment may be in this organization, is a salesperson. And no salesperson can overestimate the value of developing a fine and strong personality."

Good manners, voice, physique, dress, language, speed, accuracy, energy, taste, love for work—these things, Mr. Keiser declared, are necessary to the development of a strong personality. He spoke briefly of each, urging the employees not to overlook the development of any of them. "But love for your work is the sum and substance of it all," he added in conclusion. "Love for your work will help you develop all these other characteristics and make you a potent factor in this organization."

The Orkin managers on the success of the business, naming departments that had increased two, three and even four times in the volume of business done this year over the volume of business a year ago.

Sneed Gives History Of False Friendship

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 26.—John Beal Sneed, on trial on a charge of murder in connection with the killing of A. G. Boyce, Jr., began his testimony in his own behalf today but had not progressed far with his narrative when court adjourned for the day. Sneed told of his boyhood friendship for A. G. Boyce, Jr., of their intimate relations in after years and of how he learned from his wife that she and Boyce had planned to elope. Mrs. Sneed asked that he give his consent.

A family conference followed. It was testified, when it was determined that Mrs. Sneed's mind was unbalanced and she was sent to a sanitarium at Fort Worth, from where she eloped with the younger Boyce.

At this point court adjourned. The killing of Boyce last January and more recently that of A. G. Boyce, Jr., by Sneed, came as a sequel to the elopement.

Think of all the delicious things you can make with Cranberries

Cranberry Jelly, Cranberry Sauce, Cranberry Pies and Tarts—you can make all these any day in the year, just as good as can be, with

MAKEPEACE Evaporated Cranberries

These are the finest cranberries that grow, large and plump, ripened on the vine till red and juicy, picked by hand and thoroughly sterilized—with only the water evaporated. Add the water again and you have cranberries just as fresh and good as when they were picked. You don't have to "pick them over"; there is no waste; they will keep indefinitely.

All the great cooking experts and pure food authorities endorse Makepeace Evaporated Cranberries. Janet W. Hill, of the Boston Cooking School, says they are especially good. They have a flavor you can never find in ordinary cranberries sold in bulk from barrels.

Ask your grocer today for Makepeace Evaporated Cranberries. Cooking receipts inside the package—just follow directions—then if you don't say they are better than any cranberries you ever bought—simply take them back to the dealer and he will cheerfully refund your money. Comparison is the real test. You be the judge.

In the unlikely event of your dealer not having Makepeace Evaporated Cranberries, tell him to get them for you from his jobber.

NO PARALYTIC could possibly provide board, fuel, laundry and treatment and pay a woman $5 a week for less than $10 a month.

NO INVALID living could earn half the amount. No girl could take care of sufficient business during the SHORT magazine season to earn $700 a year in addition to the expenses of advertising.

WHAT IS MORE to the point, if an invalid mailed sufficient catalogues to insure a livelihood he would be CONDEMNED as an imposture. If I have escaped this fate I owe it wholly to my knowledge of the psychology of things.

I HAVE NEVER been really ill since my injury till recently, when I had convulsions in my sleep and chattered my tongue terribly as usually happens in spasms. This was merely the result of worry and enforced neglect of treatment and I was as well as ever within a day, but it illustrates my danger. Fact is, to GUARANTEE SERVICE and PROTECT my subscribers in case of death, I must pay two girls year round.

NO INVALID could meet such expenses. But by pledging $0.90 to CHARITY in three years I have COMPELLED publishers to bear the entire cost of fuel, clerical help and all business expense in COMMISSIONS which, considering that I live and sleep in my office has enabled me to live for almost nothing, else I could not have survived at all. But it has cost me the LOSS OF MY ENTIRE WORKING CAPITAL, which leaves me WORSE than destitute.

Let the Public Decide

I doubt if a single one of the 50,000 who read the ad could quote an incident where any invalid utterly friendless as I am ever achieved a livelihood. As a matter of fact, isolated as I am, I could not earn $10 a month for myself. But assuming a debt of several hundred dollars for printing, having mortgaged my office equipment for postage, my story will reach 50,000 strangers November 25.

Death is the price of leisure. But I wrote 6,000 subscriptions last year and 16 THE PUBLIC will give the SAME INTEREST to earn the $3,000 for THE INVALIDS' month each without a cent of expense to anyone.

Friend! Friend! What I have accomplished is a splendid tribute to the community: 100,000 people in Nebraska and Iowa alone subscribe for the Ladies' Home Journal, The Saturday Evening Post or The Country Gentleman. Thousands use these magazines for gift purposes. I must have 169 subscriptions in November to earn the first $750—thousands of other magazines expire.
