

BIG SEAL SALE ON MONDAY

Red Cross Stamps to Be Sold in Nebraska Next Week.

SALE CONTINUES FOR A MONTH

Mrs. Edholm, Secretary of the Nebraska Society, Receives Orders Faster Than She Can Fill Them.

Despite the fact that Red Cross seals were placed on sale in almost every state in the union Friday in accordance with the announcement of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, the little stickers will not be placed on the market in Nebraska until Monday, December 2.

Mrs. K. B. Edholm, secretary of the Nebraska Society, announced that over 10,000 Red Cross seals have been sent out, and the orders are coming in her so fast that she is forty-eight hours behind with her work. Last year a few stamps over 20,000 were sold, and Mrs. Edholm hopes to get rid of at least 100,000 of the 750,000 on hand before January 1.

In order to create some rivalry among the individual sellers of these stickers the Nebraska society will give prizes of books on health to the persons selling a certain amount of stamps. The books are beautifully bound and retail for from $1 to $2. Subscriptions to outdoor magazines may also be put up as an inducement for selling the stickers.

The entire proceeds from the seals will be turned over to the tuberculosis dispensary, which is in charge of Miss Stiff at Jacob's hall, Seventeenth and Dodge streets. The graduate nurses of the state have contracted to sell a certain number of seals before January 1. Last year this organization sold almost $1,000 worth of the seals in various parts of the state.

Over 200 Omaha merchants have agreed to sell these stamps. There is no object other than a desire to aid the good cause which prompts the merchants. The merchant makes not a cent of the proceeds. Mayor Dahlman has entered into the spirit and will issue a proclamation asking the people to aid the society in selling.

Old Case Kept in Court by a Clever Ruse by Attorney

Mrs. Barbara Zitnik, who for four years has been struggling to recover damages from the Union Pacific for the death of her husband, a trackman, under an engine's wheels, narrowly escaped another setback in district court Friday.

The suit is on trial for the third time. In order to save federal court expenses Mrs. Zitnik's attorneys kept the case in district court by making John Mullen, a Union Pacific engineer, who lives in Omaha, a co-defendant. Otherwise the case would have been removed to federal court because the railroad is a non-resident corporation.

Trial had proceeded so far that the widow's attorneys dismissed the suit against Mullen. There was little evidence against him, as it appeared he had followed his instructions and was not responsible for Zitnik's death. Immediately the railroad attorneys filed a motion to remove the case to the federal court.

Had this motion been sustained the district court trial would have ended at once and a trial in federal court could not be had until next year.

Mrs. Zitnik's attorneys quickly reinstated the case against Mullen, effectually defeating the motion. The case will go to the jury tomorrow.

County May Be Sued for Price of Jail

Courts probably will be asked to decide whether or not the new Douglas county jail conforms to the plans and specifications and whether the county should pay the builders the contract price for the building—$90,000.

The Board of County Commissioners probably will reject the jail as not up to specifications; the Pauly Jail Building company then will sue for its money, contending the board is in error.

A. J. P. Bertachky, an expert in mechanics, has inspected the jail and will report to the board. The principal feature of his report will be that the rivets in the steel work are not countersunk.
