A MANUFACTURER of established reputation is desirous of securing representation in Omaha for a mechanical specialty selling to the best class of business houses. This is not a house-to-house canvassing proposition, but requires the services of a keen, clean-cut specialty salesman. We will consider only men of that caliber who can measure up to our requirements and who can handle our proposition on a straight commission basis. Later, if the man shows that he is qualified we would consider establishing our own branch. Don't write unless you can handle the business on the lines you can handle the business on the lines indicated above. Positively no advances W. A. McDermid, 2344 East 166th St., Cleveland, O.*

A Speed Marvel

To see a 12-year-old boy take faster dictation, after only seven months study on this wonderful machine, better than veteran shorthand reporters, and still not use a shorthand dash or hook or curve or dot—to write records in type-writer type, proved a revelation to large audiences at Boyles College in Omaha and Council Bluffs during the past week. One slip of a girl, only 17 years of age, recently accurately recorded dictation at the rate of 614 words per minute, and she had been studying Stenotypy just eight months isaac S. Dement, the greatest shorthand writer the world has ever seen, wrote only 356 words per minute, and you cannot find one shorthand court reporter in a thousand who can take down words fester than $56 words per minute. down words faster than 250 words per minute

The Stenotype!

Purthermore, it is easy to make m stakes in shorthand. On the Stenotype it is almost as difficult to make a mistake as it is to make a mistake on the Adding Machine. In fact the Stenotype makes its operators as much more accurate and faster than shorthand writers as an Adding Machine makes its operator more accurate and faster than just a human being "adding up" with paper and

Again, any typewriter operator who knows the Stenotype code, which can be learned in a week by one who cannot operate a Stenotype, can take the Stenotype notes from the Stenotypist just as you dictate and transcribe same on the typewriter, as easily as if he or she were reading out of a newspaper, and all the while the busy business man can be continuing on with other dictation to the Stenotypist

Stenotypy is the future method of recording dictation. There is no ques-Classes are being formed in Stenctypy, and in all other departments of Boyles College, daily. Large classes have already registered to begin tomorrow. Why not join

We will be pleased to furnish you with a demonstration at any time in the day or any evening that you find it convenient to call. At any rate you should send for our catalogue and special advertising literature on Stenotypy.
