GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Dragging Wheat Market Changes to One of Activity and Strength.

CORN NOT QUITE SO BEARISH

Private Cable from Bennos Ayres Says Recent Rains Bave Not Been Safficient to Do Corn Much Good.

OMAHA, Jan. 25, 1913. From a dull and dragging, as well as a weak wheat market, there was a quick shange to activity and strength late yeachange to activity and strength late yea-terday. A demand developed in less time than it takes to tell it and with the wheat pit almost bare of offerings those wanting wheat were obliged to bis up for it. Con-siderable uneasiness was shown over the deposition of the old ministry of Turkey, and the war sentiment expressed by the incoming cabinet. The late buying was led by some of the leaves review in the and the war sentiment expressed by the incoming cabinet. The late buying was led by some of the larger nouses in the rade. Professional traders were also buyers with the May and July options both being eagerly sought for The strained condition abroad caught the market in an oversoid position, and sentiment was changed from a hearish to a buillah one. And while the political situation abroad was given a great deal of attention in the United States as well on the foreign exchanges, the grain people of Liverpool seemed to be asleep to this one question, as wheat futures there closed tad lower, and cash was unchanged to tad lower. The fact was fully demonstrated in the face of strength shown by wheat yesterday that receipts at primary and other markets are larger than the demand can possibly take care of at the present. The technical position of the market last night was regarded as weak, as the Chicago crowd had covered and gone long. Cash wheat unchanged. Wheat unchanged.

Wheat unchanged.

Prank beianey, the well-known grain man, received a Buenos Aires cable after the close yesterday, which said that the recent rains have been insufficient to do the growing corn much good. The gossip, while considerably bearish in some quarters, was not as general as on the previous day. Con-servative people were disposed to adservative people were disposed to advise caution in selling short on breaks, but they believed sales can be made with safety on any further bulge, barring a general was abroad and the complete failure of the Argentine crop. A point called attention to by the bears was that receipts in Chicago Monday and Tuesday are almost certain to be very large, which, with the slow cash demand would prove a weight on the market, corn was unchanged. Cash

Outs rallied easily yesterday with corr and wheat and at no time showed a weak feeling. Cash oats was unchanged. Clearances were: Wheat and flour equal to 34,000 bushels: corn, 255,000 bushels: oats, 12,000 bushels.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Bone I of Trade. CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Corn and outs to-day were steady, provisions firm and wheat heavy.

Wheat attained the best prices of the Wheat attained the best prices of the day early on an advance at at meaviness developed later when corn falled to hold all of its advance, and the trade became ponvinced through various reports that stocks of flour in the principal cities of accumulation are very large. The close was at a net decline of payies for May. Clearances in wheat and flour equalled $6,000 bushels, while primary receipts were 1.185,000 bushels against 700,000 bushels a year ago. ushels a year ago. Corn owed its early strength principally

Corn owed its early strength principally of an advance at Buenos Ayres and effectation of reports that the recent rain in Argentina was insufficient. The Buenos Ayres advance, however, was nostly lost and traders took cognigance of the fact that most of the bullish crop reports were coming from the Argentine speculative market rather than from the corn belt proper, following which the local market receded from the op and May closed only a shade over op and May closed only a shade over yesterday. Spot corn dull.

Trade in oats was small and fluctuations followed those of wheat and corn, May closing a shade up. The best buying was by shorts, while the selling seemed to

CATTLE-Cattle receipts this week nave been very liberal, being the largest of any time since the second week in December and a little larger than last week's liberal run and considerably larger than

The week opened with beef steers in good demand, but under the influence of liberal receipts and a poor demand for the product at eastern consuming centers there was a general downward movement in prices at all selling points. This market did not escape the general decline and at the close of the week beef steers are right around 25c lower than last week. Cows and helfers not only opened strong at the beginning of the week, but they showed considerable advence. at the beginning of the week, but they showed considerable advance, prices early Wednesday being especially strong and the highest for some time back. Before the close of the day values began breaking and the downward movement continued until the close of the week. All the gain made earlier in the week was wiped out and the market is now 100 lower than last week's close.

Stockers and feeders followed along the same lines as beef cattle. The market opened strong and active, the beginning of the week, but as the country proved to be a very poor buyer the market gradually eased off for the lack of country support and closed around 25c lower than

HOGS—A moderate run of about 7,749 hogs found a good market this morning, the packer buyers coming into the trade at an early hour and bidding prices a nickel higher than yesterday. Shippers and speculators were also on the early market, but bought less hogs than on the last few days. While a large share of the offerings changed hands on a nickel higher basis, in a good many cases the sellers managed to get prices a little betsellers managed to get prices a little better than the earlier trade, and in spots as much as a dime higher. The bulk sold at $7.2567.35, as compared with $7.1567.30 on Friday, thus making the general trade at least a big nickel higher than yesterday. Some choice grades sold up to $7.40, as against $7.35 for a top on the previous day. While the advance was yesterday. Some choice grades sold up to $1.40, as against $7.35 for a top on the previous day. While the advance was pretty general all along the line, the light kinds seemed to sell to the best advantage, the decent light hogs selling largely around $7.25, while $7.20 or under took the less desirable ones. The majority of the heavy packing grades was disposed of at $7.309.7.35. As the quality of the offerings was a little below that of the last few days, trade conditions are really better than figures indicate. On the whole the market was fairly active from start to finish and bidding was comparatively even throughout, a clearance being effected at an early hour in the forenoon. While only a moderate supply ghowed up as compared with last Saturday and two weeks ago, the receipts exceeded the same day one year ago by about $25 head.

The course of the market during the last week has been satisfactory from the sellers' standpoint, the bulk of the sales at the close of the week being around $7.3297.35, as against $7.2397.36 last Saturday. The top price a week ago was the same as today. The week's receipts foot

114 4.00 SHEEP-As often is the case on the

ence of continued liberal supplies and the big break in prices on the eastern mutton market. The unseasonable weather in the east lessened greatly the consumptive demand for dressed lamb and mutton, which resulted in a general depression in the trade. Ever since the middle of the week the trend of values for live mutton has been lower, at must of the live stock centers and there are no bright prospects for next week unless receipts are held down and more favorable weather materializes. Current prices for lambs are fully 26035c lower than a week ago, with the most decline on the half fat or the most decline on the half fat of medium kinds. While fat ewes have alr

SHEEP—As often is the case on the last day of the week, nothing in the way of sheep arrived at the yards, consequently the market remains nominally the same as on Friday.

In spite of a generous supply of lambs and sheep in the early part of the week there was a general boom in the trade, with prices advancing materially over the close of the previous week. A WONDER IN SHORT DRESSES

Ten-Year-Old Girl Displays Remarkable Gifts as a Mind Reader.

Beulah Miller, a girl of 10 years, is just now startling the population of Warren. R I, with her telepathic powers, She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Miller of Market street and her remarkable faculties have been developed in the last two years to a point interesting to her relatives and the devotees of metaphysical sciences.

The girl's mother says that neither on her own nor Mr. Miller's side of the fanily has anyone, so far as known, possessed any ability in mind reading, but Beulah has, nevertheless, demonstrated that she can tell whether its honey or money the minister has in his pocket: the numbers written on papers which she does not see, the date on coins in one s pockets and after a deal in wards in which hand any particular card may be. The discovery was made some time ago through Beulah's playing cards with her brothers and sisters. When a hand had been dealt in old maid one day she aunounced that she knew who held the old maid card.

"Who is it?" she was asked, and Beulah pointed out a player on the opposite side of the table. The same question was put again and Beulah was equally successful When Rev. H. H. Watjen, minister of the church attended by the Millers, called one day on his way home he said to Beulah, "You can't tell me what I have in my pocket."

"It was the first time he had ever had a cake of honey in his pocket when calling at the Millers. Beulah hesitated a minute. 'H-o-n"-she said, and hesitated; adding quickly, "I know, honey."
