

BRIEF CITY NEWS

Turns' Celebration January 27.
Stack-Palmer Co., Undertakers.
Have Most Brilliant New Season Press.

To Discuss Street Opening—The advisability of opening Twenty-second street from Dodge to Farnam will be discussed at the meeting of the city commission in committee of the whole Monday.

The State Bank of Omaha pays 4 percent on time deposits, 3 percent on saving accounts. The only bank in Omaha whose deposits are protected by the depositors' guarantee fund of the state of Nebraska, 15th and Harney streets.

Dr. Flank at High School—Dr. Fred Morrow Flank is to discuss "The International Relations of the European States," in the third of his series of lectures at the high school auditorium Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Illustrated Sermon on Africa—Rev. Thomas Bibb, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, will preach a special sermon on "The Land of the White Helmet" this evening. It will be illustrated by stereoscopic slides showing present conditions in Africa.

To Argue Light Case—City Corporation Counsel Baker and Assistant City Attorney Lambert will leave Sunday for Washington to argue the electric light and the Old Colony case which comes up before the supreme court of the United States will be decided within the next two weeks.

Bohemians to Meet—Tel Jed Sokol has called a meeting of all Bohemians at Tel Jed Sokol hall, Thirteenth and Martha streets, for Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock to take up the advisability of a Bohemian day at the Made-in-Nebraska show. South Omaha Bohemians are invited next week. It is believed the vast as well as Omahans.

Savidge Denounces the Men Who Desert Girls in Trouble

Holding his bright-eyed, laughing baby, Rev. Charles W. Savidge at the Gayety yesterday morning pronounced a malediction on the men who desert girls who babies or leave their wives and families destitute.

"Some of Omaha's Christian homes raise these men," he said, "and when I was pastor of a church in that capacity I saw old women who were the mothers of such men. God help the girl who meets such a man, who will sing to her his song of love and devotion and then desert her."

"Lately I have seen the forsaken girl and her baby in a new light. They have come to me seeking sympathy and they have found it. Let me tell you that today I stand in this theater and swear to God that henceforth I will preach less gospel and devote more time to helping these people who need help."

"To the girl who has been deserted by the man who has seduced a woman after promising a world of love and a tower of protection I want to say this: Stand up and fight. You say they who make the word shall perish by the sword? Not God will reward these girls and will never help them until they try to help themselves."

"We ought to be more charitable toward them. Help give them work and help them keep in the straight and narrow path when they try. And brothers, fathers and sons, show no sympathy to these scoundrels who deal in such merchandise."

Rev. Mr. Savidge closed his sermon with the affirmation that "I am now 63 years old and there's not a picture in the halls of my memory that I must turn to the wall, and if there were I would go and fall down before that picture and pray to God to help me live down what it represented and be of more use to mankind because of it."

PATROLMAN BRINGS LONE DUCK TO THE STATION

Charged with using "fowl" language a "lame duck" was arrested and brought to police headquarters yesterday morning by Officer E. B. Ferris. The officer said he came out his home yesterday early on the sidewalk found a wild duck. The bird, according to the officer, was using language which is forbidden by the city authorities. At police headquarters it was found that the bird was suffering from a broken wing. Ferris took unto himself the role of judge and sentenced the bird to death for using foul language, and tonight the unfortunate one of circumstances will adorn the table of the patrolman.

Scalded by Steam or scorched by a fire, apply Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Cures piles, tuck, and the worst sores. Guaranteed. Only 25c. For sale by Beaton Drug Co.—Advertisement.

The Persistent and Judicious Use of Newspaper Advertising is the Road to Business Success.

A WHOLE FAMILY MEAL FOR 5c

A 5c package of Faust Spaghetti will make a whole meal for a family of five. And it will be a real meal—nutritious, tasty and satisfying.

A 5c package of Faust Spaghetti contains as much nutrition as 2 lbs. of beef. It is a glutinous food—gluten is the food content that makes bone, muscle and flesh.

You have no idea how many different ways Faust Spaghetti can be served to make fine, tempting meals—write for free recipe book. Sold in 5c and 10c packages—serve it often.

MAULL BROS. ST. LOUIS, MO.

It Refreshes and Cheers

Wagon Triumph BEER

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE WORK

Wholesale Surrender of Fraternity Members in Chicago Schools.

BOARD RULES VINDICATED

Midwinter Activities in the Various State Colleges—Season of Lectures and Debates—Educational Notes.

With the doors to high school advancement closed and parental authority presiding at the rear, members of the high school fraternities in Chicago tearfully trooped to headquarters during the last week and surrendered. Resignations were presented as rapidly as the Greek letter society officers could sign the papers, and two-thirds of the known members have been reinstated. Even the founder who remarked that the Board of Education was a "joke" headed in to that body and apologized. Humility succeeded defiance, and school discipline has been vindicated.

The matter of suspension and reinstatement of pupils will run on for a week or so longer, said Mrs. Young, superintendent of schools, "but by the end of that time I think we will have rid ourselves for good and for all of this sorority and fraternity nuisance."

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA.

Examinations, Registration, Debates and the Junior "Oatillon."

Every effort is being exerted by the chairman of the junior-senior prom to make this first "oatillon" the biggest and most spectacular of the season. The city Auditorium has been secured for the dance and the floor will be put in much better shape before the date of the affair. The contracts for the programs and favors will be made this week. The decorators and musicians have already been secured. Tickets can be secured in Omaha at the University club.

The inter-class debate board met last week and decided on the following question for the discussion, "Resolved, That American Coastwise Vessels Should be Allowed to Pass Through the Panama Canal Toll Free." The first tryout will be February 11. On Wednesday, February 13, the freshmen met the sophomores, and the juniors the seniors in the preliminary contests. The final clash will be held at chapel hour Phil Beta Kappa day, March 13.

The "Rag," the official college paper suspended publication Saturday in order to give the diligent scribes and other members of the staff a chance to attend one or two of their numerous examinations. Publication will be resumed February 4, under the management of the newly elected staff.

Dean Fordyce will represent the University of Nebraska at the conference in secondary education that meets in New York City, February 22 and 23. He will speak before the session on "What Constitutes Efficiency in Teaching."

Registration for the second semester starts Wednesday and continues until Saturday. No classes will be excused, students being expected to meet the assignment committee at some hour, when none of their classes are in session.

The classes in law to take the final examination will be the first to occupy the new law building, for next semester classes are scheduled to meet in that building regularly.

Five members of the different fruit, stock and grain judging teams, of the college of agriculture, were awarded jobs last week. Dean Burnett presented the trophies to the men at a meeting of the Agriculture club.

The cast of the Junior play, "Nathan Hale," has been chosen and practice will commence at once. The play will be given February 21, in the Temple theater.

BELLEVUE COLLEGE.

Various Activities Enliven the Winter Season.

Dr. Alexander Corkey was on the hill and delivered his monthly lecture to the sociology class Wednesday, January 22. Thursday morning he delivered a brief address to the student body in chapel on "Winter," dwelling upon the blessings of the season of the year dreaded by many and showing the increased capacity for work and action which it bestows.

The Adelpian Literary society held its customary banquet and initiation Friday evening in Adelpian hall.

The monthly meeting of the student council was deferred, owing to the proximity of examination week. The topic to be discussed at the meeting being announced as "The Literary Societies and Their Relation to the Life of the School."

The January number of the Purple and Gold is off the press and was distributed to the students Monday of last week. A striking cover design is one of the features of the issue.

The literary societies and staff of the Purple and Gold, Young Men's Christian association and Young Women's Christian association had their pictures taken at Hinehart's studio last Saturday for the college annual "The Indian."

The members of the track team have started cross-country runs in preparation for the spring work. New material seems scarce and the old men will largely be relied upon to uphold the school colors of the cinder path the coming season. Captain Johnson in the high jump and pole vault, Ohman and Dowden in the distance runs and Paul Ohman in the weight events being the nucleus of this year's team.

Examinations for the semester, ending January 21, will be held this week in all departments, regular classes being suspended and from one to three days being devoted to examinations in the various departments.

KEARNEY STATE NORMAL.

Some Activities Marking the Close of the Semester.

Miss Cora O'Connell, principal of the Model High school, was called to her home in Tecumseh on account of the sudden death of her sister, Miss Margaret O'Connell.

Mrs. C. L. Alden of Kimball, Neb., was the guest of her sister, Miss Carrie Loudon, last week.

The change of semesters occurs January 2. Many new students have signified their intention to enter at that time. January 23 and 24 were devoted to end-of-the-semester examinations.

A professional meeting of the faculty occurred on Monday evening at the home of President and Mrs. Thomas.

President Thomas made a business trip to Lincoln Friday.

The boys' basketball team of the Normal played the Hastings college team on Thursday at Hastings, York college at York on Friday, and Grand Island college at Grand Island on Saturday.

The English club of the Normal secured the services of Miss Mary Sullivan of the Omaha High school to deliver her lecture on "The Private Theatricals of Shakespeare's Time." Miss Sullivan delivered the lecture before the members of the English club, the literary societies and the faculty of the Normal on Friday evening, January 24.

FREMONT COLLEGE.

Increased Attendance and Interest in All Departments.

The opening of the new term marked an increase of attendance in all departments, the greatest increase being in the teachers and commercial classes.

Much effective work is being done in the school of expression. A series of pupils' recitals under the direction of Prof. Graham, were given last week. All were largely attended and much enjoyed. A new feature in this department is the evening classes now being organized.

The first social event of the new term was the reception Monday night for the new students. Prof. Ray directed the program which consisted of musical numbers, readings and addresses, followed by a social hour.

The Shakespeare class has finished reading "Winter's Tale," and is now reading "Macbeth."

F. B. Knapp, president of the First National bank, addressed the students of the commercial department Tuesday evening, taking as his subject, "Essentials to Success."

The present class in pharmacy under Prof. Jordan, is one of the largest and best equipped classes in the history of the department. Many new numbers have enrolled this term, among whom are J. C. Wyatt of Texas, and Messrs. Baldwin and Devries of Fremont. Last Friday Miss Blanche Hurley and George Bailey received their diplomas and the degrees that go with the completion of the pharmacy course. Each of these young people have the choice of several good positions.

President Clemmons attended the banquet at the Lindell hotel given by the pioneer teachers of Nebraska, where he responded to the subject, "Reading as Taught Twenty Years Ago."

DOANE COLLEGE.

Preparations for Interscholastic Debates and Musical Production.

The oratorio for the chorus has been chosen at last. They expect to sing "The Seven Last Words of Christ" and will begin practice on it next week. Several good singers in the town will be given an opportunity to join the club if they desire.

Last Monday was Dr. Cowan's birthday, and since he is pastor of the Congregational church a surprise was planned for him. A large number attended, including a number of college students. The male quartet of the college and Miss Hester, reader, rendered a short program.

Plans are on foot for the interscholastic debate at Doane. The Stephens' cup, a beautiful trophy, that goes to the society that wins both debates in the tri-annual between the three societies, is the object which is worked for in this contest, though, primarily, the efficiency and practice in debate is what is sought for.

Rev. Calvert of the Methodist church visited chapel Thursday morning and made a short talk from the chapel platform.

Friday evening occurred a public lecture, given by the pupils of the conservatory faculty, and the program rendered was of a high order. An unusually good crowd for such an event was in attendance.

Educational Notes.

The University of Pennsylvania has 441 students working their way, who in 1912, earned $2,470.

Chicago's school budget for the coming school year foots up $11,072,886, an increase of $200,000 over the budget of the present year.

Colorado college wants a modern gymnasium, and Mrs. A. D. Juillard of New York City, has promised $100,000, provided the college itself raises $20,000.

Andrew Carnegie has given Andrew D. White, former president of Cornell university, $25,000 to be used at Cornell as a think tank. This money probably will be used to help needy students.

Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery, one of the first presidents of the Pennsylvania Suffrage association, is grandmother, is studying to be a farmer at the University of Wisconsin. She is a freshman while her daughter is a sophomore.

Home economics, the specialty of Mrs. Mary Davoren Chambers, who is the new head of the department of home economics at Rockford college, Illinois. Dean Chambers is a graduate of Pratt institute and of Columbia university.

Gilman Parker, the 18-year-old Chicago boy who started October 8, 1911, with four words in his head, is now chief clerk in the world, has been teaching school in the Philippines since last August. He has recently been promoted to supervising teacher of the district of John A. Boling in schools, forty Filipino teachers and about 2,000 pupils under his supervision.

Nebraska Wesleyan Notes.

Prof. O. H. Verner of the English department spoke at a teachers' gathering at Beatrice last Saturday.

The skating pond on the athletic field is furnishing much amusement, although the ice is rather soft during this warm weather.

Examinations for the first semester will begin on Friday. Registration for the second semester will begin at the same time.

The faculty men have organized a volleyball team and spent a pleasant hour two or three times a week at this beautiful spot.

Miss Moine Bradbury, a former Wesleyan student, was married last Wednesday evening to John John A. Boling of Waukegan, Wash., where they will make their future home.

Chancellor Fulmer is collecting a series of stereoscopic views which will be used in advertising the university. The series comprises campus scenes and pictures of student groups and college activities.

The action of the county commissioners of Lancaster county in refusing to levy a tax for a county library after the referendum carried by a large majority at the November election, has led to increased agitation for the establishment of a city library here. The library, if built, will be independent of the Wesleyan university.

Peru Normal Notes.

On Friday evening of last week the Philanthropic society gave an openhouse program which included several musical and elocutionary numbers and a farce entitled, "Which Way?"

President Hays, Prof. Beck, Duncan and Rouse, and Mrs. Crawford attended the Schoolmaster's club meeting in Lincoln on Friday night. Prof. Beck is the pioneer teacher of the lot, as he holds a certificate dated in 1872.

The Everett annual play was given on Saturday night of last week and was entitled, "A Rose or Plymouth Town." Prominent parts were taken by Messrs. Pillsbury, Overton, Verner and Fry; and by Misses Schaeffer and Gass.

The Best Cough Medicine.

"I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since I have been keeping house," says L. C. Hanes of Macon, Ala. "I consider it one of the best remedies I ever used. My children have all taken it and it works like a charm. For colds and whooping coughs it is excellent." For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

WOMEN WASTE THEIR TIME

So Declares Father John Williams at St. Barnabas' Church.

CARDS RIGHT AT RIGHT TIME

There Can Be No Deep Religion Without Self-Denial—World in Danger of Too Much Shallowness.

"The way our society women spend so much time in idle pursuits of pleasure, principally to have themselves advertised in the society columns of the newspapers is pitiful," declared Rev. Father John Williams in a short sermon at St. Barnabas church yesterday morning.

"Perhaps a game of cards is pleasant and a recreation after a hard day's work," he continued, "it is all right to seek to relieve the mind of care in the evening, but to play whist and bridge in the broad daytime, mainly in order that it may be published and the world shown that they are in the swim, is disgraceful to these women."

"The world is not so much in danger from crime and lust, he said, as it is from shallowness, because shallowness and worldliness strikes at those who are above crime and lust and may bring them down to that."

Father Williams' sermon was principally on self denial which, he said, so many persons nowadays considered nonsensical. He added that there can be no true, deep religion without it.

TO OVERCOME DISAPPOINTMENTS

God Never Disappoints Faith and He Is Able and Willing.

Rev. C. N. Dawson preached on "Disappointments" in the Diets Memorial church Sunday morning. He took up first, temporal disappointments, and then spiritual disappointments. After calling attention to some of the common disappointments both temporal and spiritual he concluded by giving assurance that God does not disappoint his people.

Under temporal disappointments he called attention to such disappointments as the loss of employment, defeat in an election, and others. Under more serious disappointments he classed such as moving into a community that did not come up to one's expectations. Under the worst of temporal disappointments he classed such as disappointment in marriage and others.

Under spiritual disappointments he classed such as the discovery that one who was believed to be a Christian is not a true Christian, a refined and serious person in distress receiving a rough job instead of sympathy, finding prayer meetings and church services to lack the real spiritual life, etc. Along this line he called attention to church services that contained "no bread" as he called it figuratively, or no Christ. "Again the preacher may have his bread too dry, or too crusty," said the pastor.

"God never disappoints faith. God is able and willing. He may withhold some things with a view to giving something better. A parent may forget. God never forgets. A parent may be unable. God is always able. Seek and you shall find. Knock and it shall be opened unto you."

WILLING SPIRIT BRINGS CHEER

Rev. E. W. Leavitt Talks of the Law of Obedience Sunday Morning.

Rev. E. W. Leavitt, pastor of Plymouth Congregational church, Twentieth and Spencer streets, preached a very interesting sermon yesterday upon the laws of obedience. He pointed out in the first place the necessity of such a law and in the second its harmony with our very existence. In the course of his explanations he showed how the willing spirit always brought us better cheer and helped us over the rougher places of life's journey. Dipping into history, he recited a few of the cases where disobedience prevailed to the immediate punishment of the transgressor. Starting with Adam the law has remained immutable. "Many have lived," recited the pastor in exasperation, "but none have ever been able to overcome that silent thing we know as our conscience and not meet with resulting pain and remorse."

WOMAN LOSES HER PURSE WHILE ATTENDING CHURCH

Some thieves do not even bar churches from their lines of work, according to a statement made to the police yesterday morning by Mrs. Ada Worthing, 228 Dodge street. Mrs. Worthing went to early communion yesterday at Trinity cathedral. She left her purse on one of the benches and when she was to leave discovered it was gone. She thinks it must have been taken while she went to the chapel to partake of holy communion.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

C. H. Hahn, who twenty-five years ago was a clerk in the Union Pacific head-quarters here, but who is now chief clerk of the general freight and passenger agents for the same company, with headquarters in Kansas city, is in Omaha renewing acquaintances.

Toroot out deep-seated COUGHS COLDS and BRONCHITIS TAKE SCOTT'S EMULSION It increases human strength and resistance.

Scott's Old Saxon Drau

IT'S ALL THE RAGE

Light Franchise Case to Be Argued in Supreme Court

Four Omaha attorneys left last night for Washington, D. C., where they are to argue before the United States supreme court the question of the franchise of the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson is to represent the Old Colony Trust company, trustees for the bondholders, and Edgar H. Scott represents the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

The action is in the form of an appeal by the light company to the United States supreme court from adverse decisions rendered against the light company in the past by both the United States circuit court and the United States circuit court of appeals. While both courts decided against the light company, in the litigation, Judge W. D. McPherson