No change in general conditions surrounding the situation can now be seen, but these dull periods are generally followed by stirring times. Some of the conservative men in the trade were advising caution on the short side of wheat in a big way, feeling as they did that the lower temperatures will doubtless create a buying furore under present conditions. Outside of a norsable crop scare there is little in the wheat market for bears or shorts to fear. There is abundant moistue for the ere is abundant moistrue for the wing plant, but great vitality would necessary for the young wheat plant withstand killing weather. The hears home, as well as those in importing intries, are pointing to the big wheat up of Argentina and to its excellent ality as well as to the fact that the rowers there are pressing their grain for ale, owing to the inadequate storing actilities. The question of a weight standard has been settled with Europe and here is no question but the shipments from South America will be much larger from this time forward. A help that is needed to strengthen the wheat to an improved demand for the carket is an improved demand for the sah article, as general duliness was re-orted in all sections of the world yester-ay. Only 30,000 bushels was sold in Chicago and that is the leading market of the universe.

Besides the cold wave, the reported withdrawal of the Turkish envoys from London had a disturbing effect on wouldbe sellers of wheat. Estimates of larger world shipments served only as a temporary check to the buils. Prices at no time reacted to last night's level. Instead the top prices of the day were in full force when the bell cleared the pit. Coarse grain advanced for the same reason as wheat. The cold wave was expected to increase feeding especially of corn. Demand for oats, however, proved relatively small.

In provisions, there was a sharp break due to heavy selling by stock yard houses. The only rally of consequence appeared in January pork, for which shorts were com-

No Trace Appears of Previous Day's Bullish Enthusiasm.

WHOLE MOVEMENT IRREGULAR

American Can Stocks Break Sharply Following Unofficial Statement of Plan for Paying Off Accumulated Dividends.

NEW YORK. Jan. 31.—There was no trace today of the bullish enthusiasm of yesterday in stock market speculation and, although a fair degree of strength developed in the fore part of the session, the movement as a whole was halting and irregular. There was a marked falling off in the amount of business.

The failure of the bears in the first hour was followed by increased activity on the long side, with the result that Reading. Union Pacific and Steel were marked up a point or more. But in the afternoon prices sagged back again and changes on the day among the important stocks were small.

The week's trade had been characterized by light receipts which might be attributed to the big slump in values during the latter part of last week. The supply during the first live days of the week fed considerably short of the same lime last week and two weeks aso, and was last week and two weeks ago, and was even smaller than the supply during the corresponding days last year. Notwithstanding a light supply during the first days of the week, the trade on Monday and Tuesday experienced another big reduction in prices. This was due to the continued weak condition in the eastern trade in dressed mutton. While the live mutten trade has shown a little improvement from the first of the week, the general situation both on the local market and at other points does not seem encouraging. encouraging.

Lambs are now anywhere from EMESSc lower than a week ago, with yearlings showing a decline of Doc. For the week ewes are little if any lower. Few if any wethers are coming.

YELLS MAKE WALLS TREMBLE

George N. Lyons, Jr., Recites Holmes' Poem-T. H. Mills Reads "Gunga Din" - John R. Webster Talks.

Three hundred alumni of American colleges and universities gathered at the University club Thursday for the first fraternal banquet given to graduates not members of the club. The commedius he's rooms fairly trembled for three hours. while the enthusiastic diners voiced the glories of their alma maters. Praises of Harvard, Yale, Princeton.

Jolumbia, Cornell, Michlgan, Nebraska, Creighton and others were sung by good singers and singers with cracked voices. by young men who were boys for the night and older men who were young again; by fat men and thin and tall and short.

And through all the rejoicing at the reunion of old pals sounded the insistent note of the men of Nebraska, who declared they wanted the "campus moved." There was no dissenting voice. "Move the campus! Move the campus!" was the constant refrain. Long before the lounging rooms were crowded to their capacities the comfortable club became a scene of conflict Rivairies which never have ceased needed no revival and there burst out a might's babel as the clans clashed. Yell leaders swung the alumni of their own schools into line and with brandishing megaphones directed the onslaught.
