OMAHA, February 4, 1918 Wheat traders were inclined to take a rather bearish view of the situation last night. With sufficient snow covering over the winter wheat belt, a slow cash demand and lack of outside buying, they believe wheat will work irregularly lower, unless the foreign reditional structure are OMAHA, February 4, 1911. inless the foreign political situation as-umes a threatening aspect. The best osted traders expect nothing more than narrow trading affair until some new a narrow trading affair until some new features are injected into the situation and jar the market out of the rut M. J. Diffeubaugh, one of the biggest wheat handlers of Kansas City, and who is in Chicago for a few days, says the re-ports to Kansas City houses abow 30 to 35 per cent of last year's Kansas prop-still on the farms. One county in Kan-sas shows 30 per cent still held in the country. The car shortage early in the season restricted the movement and now the farmers are disposed to hold for higher prices. Cash wheat Weille higher. the farmers are disposed to hold for higher prices. Cash wheat Wgglige higher. There was guite a suir in corn orecles on the Board of Trade yesterdar by the cables received from Argentina. At least three of the leading Chicago grain houses with correspondents in that country re-ported corn as damaged greatly by the long drawn out drouth. One cable said the drouth continues and it is doing se-ious damage. It places the exportable surplus at 100,000,000 bushels, but says that early rains would increase the surplus to surplus at 100.000.006 bushels, but says that early failing would increase the surplus to 120.000.006 bushels. Reports on the export bushees in this country were somewhat conflicting. One report, and which was generally accepted by the trade, said 26. 000 bushels were sold late Saturday and yesterday, and that 300,000 bushels were for shipment abroad. One of the conservative handlers of each corn in the Chicago market said last night that the demand for this grain was for deferred shipment only.
