Large shipments of wheat from Argentina made the market here weak at the outset, bear traders vigoransly attacking prices. It was not until late in the session that the pit discovered May contracts in particular had been heavily oversold. At this juncture reports became current that additional British war vessels had been ordered to Turkish waters and that Germany also was definitely moving to use force. There developed in quick order an active strong market that put short sellers in a tight place the rest of the day, although prices eased a triffe at the close.

Corn rallied on account of blying credited largely to provision interests, builish crop reports from Argentina were ineffectual early to prevent a decided setback.

Oats advanced to the highest point on the present upturn. The reison was that the pit auddenly became bare of offerings, profit taking by holders having come to an abrupt halt.

Oats advanced to the highest point on the present upturn. The reason was that the pit suddenly became bare of offerings, profit taking by holders having come to an abrupt halt.

There was only a narrow range for provisions. All upturns met selling orders that apparently came from sources other than apparently came from sources other than makers as a rule. than packers as a rule. Futures ranged as follows:

noted above, have been liberal, the de-mand has been large enough to keep the market on a good healthy basis through-out the week and at the same time to give prices an upward tendency. Thus at the close of the week it is possible to quote all kinds of killers, that is, cows and helfers, as well as beef steers, 10g 15c higher than the close of last week, with the demand active at the advance.

On the other hand fleshy feeders, whils they have been affected by the contraction. they have been strong every day, have shown little or no advance. It must be remembered, however, that cattle of that description were already very high at the beginning of the week and that there was

HOGS-Another fairly light run showed up this morning, there being about ninety-two cars or 6,820 head reported in. Today's supply, which by the way is the Today's supply, which by the way is the smallest for a Saturday since January 4. is considerably lighter than one and two weeks ago and only a little over half as large as one year ago. For the week, receipts have been moderate, being 8,000 head short of last week. 15,000 head lighter than two weeks ago and almost higher, but their purchases were rather small. As was the case on Friday, the market got better towards the close and market got better towards the close and prices were stronger at this time than they were earlier in the day. Trade was active throughout and nearly everything had been sold by 10 o'clock. Bulk of today's sales landed at $7.6597.70 and several loads brought $7.75, the top. There were fewer heavy hogs here today than during the early part of the week, and the number of sales at the bottom of the string is proportionately less.

For the week values are around $52300

For the week values are around 35440c higher. Bulk last Saturday was $7.2547.25, as against today's 55670c market and the top at the close of last week was $7.374, as compared with $7.5 today. as compared with $7.75 teday. Representative sales:

offered in the way of sheep so values are quotally the same as on Friday.

Increased supplies and a substantial advance in prices featured the trade the advance in prices featured the trade the past week. The total receipts for the week foot up around 44,900 head, being larger than last week and a year ago, but about 12,780 head short of two weeks ago. The moderate movement of sheep to the local market and the comparatively light receipts at the five leading stock centers coupled with a development of strength in the eastern dressed mutton the generally steady. Silks active trade helped the general situation in live mutons materially from the sellers' standpoint. The week opened, however, under unfavorable conditions as the packers displayed considerable indifference in filling their orders, remiting to a slow trade all day Monday. During the remaining five days the general demand gradually increased in breadth and or most days. most days was accompanied with a rise in the scale of prices. Current values of both lambs and sheep are anywhere from 356530: higher than at the end of las. Shersh: higher than at the end of las, week, the most improvement being on sambs and ewes. Last Friday some good fed western fambs changed hands at $2.25, as compared with a top vesterday of $8.85 for lambs on the Mexican order. The bulk of the ewes yesterday soid around $5.25 as compared with a top vesterday soid around $5.25 as compared with some prime fed westerns weighing around 120 pounds reaching $5.75. Furing the last week or so very few wethers and yearlings or so very few wethers and yearlings have been in evidence. A small bunch of Mexican wethers brought $6.40 yesterday it might be added that while the demand seems good for yearlings at the advance, buyers do not seem to want many wethers.
