TWIG SAVES WOMAN'S LIFE

Bullet Hits Limb of Tree and Its Force is Spent.

SMASHES THROUGH A WINDOW

Its Course is in Direct Line with Face of Woman Who Stands Looking Out Window at the Falling Snow.

Mrs. Parsons, wife of C. E. Parsons, assistant secretary and treasurer of the John Deere Plow company, owes her life to a twig, which prevented her being struck in the head with a bullet from a .2-caliber rifle.

She was standing near a front window looking toward the street when the bullet shattered the glass in the storm window and fell on the window sill.

The bullet was in direct line with her forehead. Before hitting the storm window the bullet came in contact with a twig on the limb of a tree, which prevented the missile from doing any injury.

The Parsons live at 1315 South Fourteenth street. The police were notified and Emergency Officer Emery learned that William Gatewood, a young boy residing at 1611 Martha street had done the shooting. The boy was shooting at birds across the street from the Parsons residence. The gun was confiscated.

Cannot Qualify After Long Walk to Enlist

After walking 120 miles in winter weather to enlist in the United States navy William E. Haynes of Cherokee, Ia., is preparing to walk sixty miles more to get back home, as he was rejected at the local navy recruiting station on account of a gopher. Haynes went to Sioux City nearly two weeks ago to enlist. He lacked nearly six weeks of being 21. He stayed at Sioux City while he wrote home to have his parents sign an age certificate. After waiting nearly a week and not hearing from his parents he was out of money. He walked home to Cherokee, got the certificate, and walked back to Sioux City. As the Sioux City office is a substation of the Omaha office the man was furnished transportation to come to Omaha for enlistment. The examination revealed a gopher, which disqualified him for the naval service. Under the recruiting rules he will be furnished transportation back to Sioux City. From there he said he would have to walk back to Cherokee, as he still has no money.

I received samples of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and they helped me very much. After using them I bought the regular size of each, and my face is now perfectly clear and smooth.
