

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE
FOUNDED BY HOWARD ROSEWATER
VICTOR ROSEWATER, EDITOR
BEE BUILDING, FARNAM AND 17TH.
Entered at Omaha postoffice as second-class matter.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:
Sunday Bee, one year, $10.00
Daily Bee, one year, $5.00
Daily Bee, six months, $3.00
Daily Bee, three months, $1.50
Daily Bee, one month, 50c
Address all communications to the Editor.
Address all subscription orders to the Circulation Department.
REMITTANCE:
Remit by draft, express or postal order, payable to The Bee Publishing Company.
Only cash orders received in payment of small accounts. Personal checks, except on Omaha and eastern exchange, not accepted.
OFFICES:
Omaha—The Bee Building, 17th and Farnam.
Council Bluffs—14 North Main street.
Lincoln—25 Little building.
Chicago—1041 Marquette building.
Kansas City—1041 Marquette building.
New York—34 West Thirty-third.
St. Louis—40 Frisco building.
Washington—1414 Fourteenth, N. W.
CORRESPONDENCE:
Communications relating to news and editorial matter should be addressed Omaha Bee, Editorial Department.
FEBRUARY CIRCULATION:
50,823
State of Nebraska, County of Douglas, ss: Dwight Williams, circulation manager of The Bee Publishing Company, being duly sworn, says that the average daily circulation for the month of February, 1913, was 50,823.
Dwight Williams, Circulation Manager.
Subscribed in my presence and sworn to before me this 11th day of March, 1913.
ROBERT HUNTER, Notary Public.
Subscribers leaving the city temporarily should have The Bee mailed to them. Address changes should be changed as often as requested.
City charter convention election today.
March means to prove itself the best little lamb in the Nebraska fold.
The two remaining Madero brothers are talking of another revolt—just talking of it.
Mother Eve at any rate was not bothered with the problem of how to live virtuously on $5 a week.
Is the fellow who persists in jamming the aisle of the street car the one who complains most about "bad service"?
No wines or liquors are to be served at the White House in the next four years. Still, that will be no deprivation to most of us.
The immediate cause of our fatal hotel fire has not been discovered, but the effects are apparent enough to call for certain corrective methods.
The judges of the district court have told what fine fellows the lawyers are who practice before them. It's up to the lawyers now to say a few kind words about the judges.
Only five bills passed by the present session of the Nebraska legislature up to the governor so far. But then one of the five appropriated the money to pay the legislative salaries.
A California woman caused a serious explosion by lighting a furnace in which natural gas had accumulated. What if someone were to strike a match in the halls of the Nebraska legislature?
For sixteen years we had one Wilson in the cabinet, and now another Wilson sits at the table. With this record and precedent, no presidential cabinet of the future will pass muster as genuine without a Wilson in it.
Our amiable democratic contemporary already sees a good democrat appointed by our democratic governor to hold down that $3,000 election commissioner job, and cannot restrain his exuberant joy over the prospect.
Yes, The Bee is against labeling the voters of Omaha as more dishonest than the voters of other cities and towns in the state. If a Bertillon system is good for Omaha voters, why not let it be applied generally without favor or discrimination?
A young woman representing the federal bureau of labor as its special agent has come to Omaha to study retail prices in connection with the high cost of living. She should have no trouble in finding them providing she has brought a step-ladder with her.
Your city government touches you closer than your state government or your federal government. That is why you are vitally interested in the coming home-rule charter convention, and should help elect the men who are to make the charter.
Collier's Weekly declares we have reached the point in this country where the native birth rate must be speeded up to counterbalance an impending falling off in immigration. Yes, but the immigrants have as a rule been the ones who have expedited our native birth rate.

If You Do, Vote for Heafey.
If you want to continue to pay the present exorbitant water rates and endorse the reputation by the Water board of its promise to reduce them, vote for Heafey.
If you approve the secret water meter deal that makes you pay $3 profit for a $6 meter, vote for Heafey.
If you favor special rebates on water bills for personal pets, or political pull, vote for Heafey.
If you endorse that private sale of $7,000,000 water bonds for $200,000 less than could have been had through competitive bids, vote for Heafey.
If you favor the scheme to make the Water board separate and distinct, and superior to and beyond the control of the people of Omaha, vote for Heafey.
Federal or State Control.
The country is justified in assuming from President Wilson's inaugural utterances that he means to promote development and conservation of our natural resources along aggressive lines. He could not do less and live up to the platform pledges of his party in the campaign last year. The president deprecates our "inexcusable waste" and "shamefully prodigal" habits with reference to our resources, the human cost of which he implores the nation now to stop and count. But the question propounds itself, what will be the tendency of the president as between federal and state jurisdiction? Will he yield to a disposition of democrats in congress to divert a large measure of control to the states, or will he favor the more practical policy of national control of national resources? Both his inaugural address and the platform are silent on this point. The inference most natural from both is that federal authority will be paramount, with perhaps just a flavor of the old state's rights idea. The country has come to view conservation as a federal question and, while due rights of states must be recognized, it seems hardly probable that federal control will not become the policy of the new administration.
Commission Plan in Lincoln.
Having elected to come under the commission plan of city government, Lincoln is soon to choose the officers who are to inaugurate the new departure for the city second in size in the state.
As applied to Lincoln, the commission plan provides for five elective commissioners, or councilmen, who are to receive $2,000 a year, and are to conduct all the affairs of the city without any exceptions, and almost without limitations. One of the $2,000 commissioners will be good enough in Lincoln to run the water department along with several other branches of the public service, and in this Lincoln will have the advantage of escaping conflicts and clashes between independent municipal authorities, and avoid costly duplications of work.
Under the commission plan, too, Lincoln will for the first time employ the so-called nonpartisan ballot in a municipal election. It will be interesting to see whether the experience there, as here, produces a contest merely between groups of candidates self-linked together across party lines, and divided purely on local issues.
In an effort to arouse public interest in the impending change, the Lincoln Journal hits the nail on the head when it says:
It is now admitted that there is nothing miraculous about this system, and that it is just as important to have good men in the offices as it is under the old form of municipal government.
Hearst and Sulzer.
Mr. Hearst is pounding away in his newspapers at Governor Sulzer as vigorously as if he had always opposed him. He has recently excoriated him editorially under the black-type caption, "Sulzer Has Put the Job Through for Tammany and Well Street," with this declaration in the course of his fulmination:
Governor Sulzer's pretense of independence of the Tammany alliance with big thieves and little thieves was dispated at the first hint from Fourteenth street.
During the campaign for the nomination and election Sulzer was adopted as Hearst's special candidate and praised as the one patriot qualified by experience, association and aspiration for governor of the Empire state. His election was hailed as a Hearst triumph and was undoubtedly due in some measure to Hearst influence. But now the tables are turned and Sulzer is denounced as the pliant tool of Tammany and other evil influences.
The Dodge-Hitchcock-Howell Bertillon system of registering voters is specially designed to make it difficult for foreign-born citizens to vote, and to disfranchise those who have not had the privilege of schooling. It practically establishes new qualifications for voters in Omaha and South Omaha that are not demanded of voters outside of these cities.
Note that to save that part of their bill designed to make them immune from the home charter, the Water boarders are now ready to trade off the revenue from the stock yards, which they originally insisted was the only thing they were fighting for and would never yield.

Looking Backward This Day in Omaha
COMPILED FROM THE BEE
MARCH 11, 1913

Thirty Years Ago—
A feast was spread at the Millard hotel in honor of Charles McDonald, the Farnam street merchant, about to leave for New York for a prolonged absence, during which time he is to annex as his wife, Miss Anna Ryan, a beautiful and accomplished lady of that city. The gentlemen who gathered to give him a proper send-off were: Messrs. P. R. Shelby, John Itoh, N. B. Falconer, C. V. Gallagher, John McCreary, M. A. McNamara, C. F. Brennan, E. A. O'Brien, William Gentlemen, F. D. Cooper, Frank Deltone, John McMahon, S. P. Reynolds, R. E. Rickerby, Thomas Tallon, W. A. L. Gibson and M. McGuire of New York.
Henry Sier, one of the substantial members of the German colony, died, leaving a wife and three children.
A. William A. Hiestand, president of the Omaha City mission explains that part of the provisions collected at the schools for the mission have been diverted through misrepresentation, and appeals for further contributions to replenish the cupboard that is bare.
City Attorney Howe is of the opinion that the new viaduct law is unconstitutional.
Andrew & Vainin have been awarded the contract to construct in the basement of their new bank a series of safety vaults under the supervision of A. D. Avery of Chicago, to cost $12,000.
Twenty Years Ago—
John Rush, marshal of the day, gave out the line of march and a few other details agreed on for the celebration of St. Patrick's day, which was to be upon an elaborate scale. Richard O'Keefe was placed in charge of the procession.
Matt Gering, the Plattsmouth lawyer, addressed the Jaycees club in the evening on the "Issues of the day."
David Bennison of the firm of Bennison Bros. was making fine progress with the erection of his $12,000 residence on South Twenty-ninth street, just north of Leavenworth.
Rev. W. Franklin Smith, pastor of First Universal church, resigned.
The citizens in that part of the city known as Gibson made emphatic protests to Mayor Smith against the dumping of the South Omaha stockyards practices their offal there.
Ex-Governor James E. Boyd took occasion to deny knowledge or authorship of reflections upon Secretary of Agriculture J. Sterling Morton, attributed to him in a Chicago dispatch. He had never heard of or seen the assertion, he said, until he read them in the newspapers, and they did not represent his views of Nebraska's distinguished citizen.

Seeing Omaha
Beatrice Sun: Omaha will have a scene of investigation and a few fire escapes will be put up, and possibly somebody will pass some fine resolutions.
Nebraska City Press: Omaha has had a lesson and is now willing to do its investigating. For years it has been a notorious fact known by nearly all strangers with its gates, that Omaha hotel facilities are fifty years behind the times.
Albion Argus: A great deal is being said about the small wages girls are paid. While they are asking for higher wages and scrambling and crowding each other for places in stores and other public places, free room and board and light work wait them in homes of people who find it impossible to find competent and willing help to do housework. It is no trouble for a girl to get $5 a week in Omaha with room, board and extras thrown in, two afternoons and all evenings out, and only part of the work to do, but the girls don't want to do the work that by heritage and tradition they should do and could do safely and profitably, both from financial and propriety reasons.
Elgin Review: The fire ought to be an incentive for hotel keepers to take every precaution for the safety of their guests. The Omaha Bee has detailed a special reporter to visit all of the Omaha hotels and each evening prints a couple of columns about the hotels and tells of the conditions as they exist. By reading these descriptions it is seen that Omaha has very few hotels that are fireproof and still fewer are provided with adequate fire escapes. The Bee is doing a great service in showing up the conditions, and should result in a great amount of good.
Pender Times: The Omaha Bee is playing peanut politics when it continually charges up every little act of the Nebraska house of representatives (it doesn't like), to democratic inefficiency. The legislature is getting along nicely; it is passing some good measures and will probably enact a law or two that it shouldn't have, but this thing of browbeating legislatures is getting chesnutty and makes intelligent people weary.
Fremont Tribune: It has been discovered that the Omaha Water board bought several thousand dollars' worth of meters at a secret session. Doubtless another rebate proposition. The question is, who gets it?
Bridgeport News-Blade: The Omaha Bee Tuesday had a cartoon showing a company of suffragettes marching to the music of life and drums; but the women were all standing on their heads. And the editor of The Bee is a married man, too.
Grand Island Independent: There is always something new under the sun. Who, for instance, ever anticipated such a bitter quarrel at Omaha over water?

The Bee's Letter Box
About the Water Board.
OMAHA, March 10.—To the Editor of The Bee: I am addressing this letter to all honorable legislators. The 10th of February, 1913, I received a monthly bill from December 15, 1912 to January 15, 1913. According to the meter 100 cubic feet was consumed, the minimum tax is 50 cents per month. It is visible I was forced to pay 50 cents per 100 cubic feet or 21 cents more for nothing. March 8, 1913, I received a water bill, from January 15, till February 15, 1913, the water bill states that 300 cubic feet of water was consumed. I read the water meter every week. February 15 I read the water meter, 200 feet of water was consumed, worth 53 cents. They demand now 79 cents. This makes 25 cents to pay for nothing—25 and 24 cents—I am skinned of 50 cents for nothing.
The present water board is a pestilence; it will drive the small consumers to rebellion. We have a republic, but this Water board is a disgrace to our republican system. The Water board charter has no room in a sensible republic. The despotic Water board drives the inhabitants from Nebraska.
To improve the bad condition the city government must have the supervision of everything that belongs to the city; hence the Water board must be abolished. It was an unpardonable folly to establish a separate Water board independent of the city government. We have home rule. Every honest and intelligent legislator in Lincoln without question will support home rule.
The legislature may enact a law that the Omaha Water board has no right to enact a new regulation without consent of the city council. The above sentiments are endorsed by scores of consumers of water.
M. TELTHICK.
627 North Twenty-first Street, S. O.

JOLLIES FROM JUDGE.
The harp that once through Tara's halls
Sent forth its thrilling tone
Neglected hangs on Tara's walls—
They've got a graphophone.
"Does your wife want the vote?"
"No, she wants a larger town house, a villa on the seacoast and a new automobile car every six months. I'd be pleased most to death if she could fix her attention on a small matter like the vote."—Washington Star.
Gerald—Prattley is an awful tightwad!
Geraldine—Is he?
Gerald—I should say so much! He won't even tell a story at his own expense!
"One hundred ways to cook an egg," read Mrs. Newby from a new cook book. "Oh, dear! I can only cook this one once!"
He—If I call her "pop," why can't I call her "mop"?
She—If you do, she'll wipe the floor with you.
Gladye—Hein certainly looked happy in church this morning!
Mae—Evidently she had nothing on her mind but her Easter hat!
"A famous actor bought Shakespeare's favorite chair at a sale in London recently."
"At any rate, he will find Shakespeare's shade easier to fill than his shoes."
Spenser (meeting acquaintance)—Hello, Smith! Oh, I say, do you believe dreams go by contraries?
Smart—I do.
Spenser—Well, I dreamt last night that

I asked you for the loan of $10 and you refused.
Smart—Then that proves my theory—you're not going to ask me. Good day! Boston Transcript.
"Paw," inquired the humorist's small son, looking up from his picture book, "what is a torador?"
The humorist rubbed his Momusary hand for a minute.
"Well, my son," he replied, with deliberation, "a torador is a bully boy of Spain."
AN ANALOGY.
Boston Transcript.
"A man resembles a pig."
"Heard (interjects): 'You're being to meet his match some day.'"
Just so, and then the man flaps up.
And like the "weed" gets rid.
Which as a rule precedes the fact.
Each soon doth lose his head.
A man, like a pig, gets "sloppy."
Some are like actors, though well puffed.
They can't be made to draw.
Some are like actors, though well puffed.
They can't be made to draw.
Wives are neither likeness still.
(Through this their husbands flout)
A man, like a pig, is spoiled.
If he is let go out.
And finally, this analogy.
Their finish does not mar.
Both come to ashes in the end.
The man and the cigar.

Apply Intelligent Treatment to Constipation
CONSTIPATION seems to the ordinary person a very simple thing. He doesn't worry about it, takes any old remedy, and considers himself "cured." The reason for this is that the many advertised remedies try to impress upon the public that it is easy to overcome with their product. One has a candy, another a business tablet or a salt, and another a stomachic, and so on.
CONSTIPATION cannot be cured with a rubber hose, nor by any other remedy. Your bowels should move every day, and they should move in the morning before you get up. There should be a quick action, without discomfort, and no continuous reminders that you have taken something. There is such a remedy—a natural remedy, too—BRYAN'S LAXATIVE WATER. PAINLESS, SURE, and safe. It is pleasant on the stomach; it is active within an hour or so. Get a bottle at any Drug Store to-day.

Publicity Pointers
Your printed matter is absolutely without value if it is not read.
If it is well illustrated, you will be sure people will read it. Furthermore, a picture often tells the story at a single glance.
If you have your cuts and illustrations made in a newspaper engraving plant, you may be certain that they will print well. The requirements of making cuts for newspaper illustration are so severe that it requires the very best ability and machinery.
Our artists, our plant, consisting of the finest, newest and latest equipment, and our skilled workmen are at your command at the very lowest rates for all kinds of art and engraving work.
Bee Engraving Department
BEE BUILDING—OMAHA

Twice Told Tales
He Blessed It.
A teacher of a Sunday school class tried to impress upon her young charges the necessity of blessing the food before eating.
"Bless," she asked of a little fellow whose father was an elder in the church, "what prayer does your father say before you eat your dinner?"
"I dun know."
"Well, what did he say this morning before breakfast?"
Billy meditated; suddenly he remembered and beamed.
"He said, 'You kids go slow on the butter now! It's 40 cents a pound!'"—Judge.
Family Exclamations.
A Cleveland man who makes a practice of choosing his words with care, a practice which he has endeavored to instill into the family circle, made a memorandum of the misused words uttered by his son and daughter during a recent breakfast. Here is the result:
Elegant, eleven times.
Dandy, six times.
Fierce, four times.
Great, two times.
When the meal was over the head of the household called the family around him in the library and gravely read the totals to them.
"Gee, that's fierce!" said the son.
"Isn't it awful!" said the daughter.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
Unusual Choir.
An old farmer and his wife lived near the village church. One warm Sunday evening while they sat dozing on the porch the cricket set up a loud chirping.
"I just love that chirpin' noise," said the old man drowsily, and before the cricket had stopped he was fast asleep.
Soon afterward the church choir broke into a peevish chant.
"Just listen to that!" exclaimed his wife, "ain't it beautiful?"
"Yes, murmured the old farmer sleepily, "they do it with their hind legs."—P. I. P.

People Talked About
Uncle Joe Cannon is going on a trip around the world. Pleasure becometh the old warrior to scenes that will blot out of his mind Washington's spectacles of war.
Parading suffragists are urged to temper their indignation with the thought that the democrats haven't had a real blowout for sixteen long, weary years, and just naturally overdid things in Washington. A few finers of the wise of charity will help some.
Medicine Hat doffs its cady to Calgary as a weather factory. During a recent fire in the latter town, Medicine Hat vouchers for the states that a stream of water directed at a third-story window was frozen on the spot and the imperiled people on that floor slid down the ice pole to safety. Can you beat it?
Dr. O. W. Richardson of the department of physics in Princeton university, has been elected to membership in the Royal Society of Great Britain, an honorary scientific body. Dr. Richardson is honored because of his important experimental discoveries fundamental to the electric and kinematic theory of matter.
One of the eleven-hour jokes of the late congress struck Senator O'Quinn of New York in a tender spot. The senator objected to the extravagant size of the pork barrel, which carried $300,000 for a public building in New York City. The accommodating house struck out the New York item and turned the knocker into a screamer.
Including the vice president among the officers manning the democratic ship of state there are seven of the twelve trained for the law, two are educators by profession, one an editor and publisher, one a manufacturer and one a miner. Only two of the lawyers followed the profession up to the present time, three were officeholders and two—Bryan and McAdoo—drifted into other lines of activity. Ten of the twelve are native born.
"I have been insulted by a congressman," exclaimed a speaker at the Equal Suffrage league meeting in Chicago a few evenings ago. The sympathetic assembly for over an hour poured vocal wrath on the head of the absent statesman, and was about to adopt ringing resolutions of censure when a demure suffragist asked the nature of the insult. The offended woman explained that her daughter, seated on a symbolic float, and been jeered at and when she complained to the congressman he simply said, "Madam, you should have kept your daughter at home." Whereupon the league adjourned to think it over.

Political New Brooms
Nevada has ratified the amendment for popular election of senators.
Mother's pension bills have been squelched in the senate of the Indiana legislature.
Salary raising bills are the most popular brand of statesmanship on exhibition in the New York state capital.
A "blue sky law" on the Kansas plan has passed both houses of the Iowa legislature and by the legislature of Vermont.
A slam at the middleman whom "no-body loves" these days, is proposed by a bill in the Wisconsin legislature, providing for an industrial commission, which will procure and distribute information which will bring producer and consumer together.
A bill for an act to make justice free for poor people is pending in the Kansas legislature. It grants authority to officials of cities, towns, villages and counties to appoint a judge, who will serve without pay, to hear and settle such matters as small debts, individual wage disputes, etc. No lawyers, no technicalities, no fees. Parties to the dispute will do their own talking to the judge in his office or at his home as may be convenient. The object is to stop court costs in minor cases. Illustrated by a bill of $100 taxed against a wage dispute involving $5.
Not a Sure Sign.
Cleveland Plain Dealer.
The fact that President-elect Wilson gave up his seat in a car to a woman doesn't necessarily mean that every man who hereafter practices this act of courtesy is necessarily a federal officeholder.

Editorial Snapshots
Washington Post: The famished crowds at the pie counter make New York's famous bread line look like a picnic tea.
Chicago Record-Herald: Probably Colonel Bryan meant nothing by his reference to his tenure of office as "uncertain." He has lived long enough to know most things are "uncertain" and politics doubly so.
Cleveland Plain Dealer: At the same time it will be many moons before the name of the new secretary of agriculture becomes as much of a household word as was that of his predecessor.
Chicago Record-Herald: It mayn't be a "legal lumbar" like Mr. Taft, but the fourth estate gets its dues, with Editor Bryan, Editor Daniels and former Reporter Lane in the seats of the mighty.
Houston Post: Our patriots want to serve because they love service and not because they love money. Of course, they will want their vouchers to come promptly in order that the business reputation of the administration may not suffer.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The chief distinction of the new attorney general is that he assisted a republican administration to prosecute, convict and dissolve some of the greatest of the trusts. And that is not a small distinction, by the way.
Indianapolis News: Notwithstanding the change of administration, there are still some democrats that are not happy. And they won't be happy until they know whether they are going to get a government job or will have to keep on working for a living. And maybe they won't be happy even then.

CHOOSE, MADAM! HAIR FADED AND GRAY OR BEAUTIFULLY DARKENED WITH SAGE TEA.
Says Sage Tea Mixed With Sulphur Restores Natural Color and Lustre.
Gray, faded hair turned beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight, is a reality, if you'll take the trouble to mix sage tea and sulphur, but what's the use, you get a large bottle of the ready-to-use tonic, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at drug stores here for about 50 cents. Millions of bottles of "Wyeth's" are sold annually, says a well known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.
You just dampen a sponge of soft brush with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after just one application the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautifully—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.
This is the age of youth, gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with the Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be amazed at your youthful appearance and the real beauty and healthy condition of your hair within a few days. Inquiry at drug stores here shows that they sell lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and the following list are enthusiastic.
Rheymann & McDonald Drug Co., 101 So. 15th; 254 So. 15th; 277 N. 16th; 24th and Farnam Sts.—Advertisement.

DR. BRADBURY DENTIST
1306 Farnam St. 20 Years Same Office. Phone Doug. 1730.
Extracting 25c Up
Filling 30c Up
Crowns $2.50 Up
Bridgework $2.50 Up
Plates $2.00 Up
NO PAIN
Missing Teeth supplied without Plates or Bridge-work. Nerves removed without pain. Work guaranteed ten years.

Protect Yourself
— Ask for ORIGINAL GENUINE —
Horlicks Malted Milk
The Food Drink for all Ages—Others are Imitations