ORDER TO RUSH THE NEW WORK

Contractors Are Urged to Hasten Grading So Steel Can Be Laid Before Next Winter Sets In.

The Burlington has ordered the resumption of construction work on the Powder river bridge on the line from Thermopolis to Orin Junction, Wyo. Last fall when this structure was partially completed the men were laid off and it was announced that it was doubtful when it would be resumed. Along with the order that the Powder river bridge is to be completed comes the information that the Burlington has let the contract for grading and bridging the new line from Thermopolis to Orin Junction. This line was ordered last year and most of the work finished from Thermopolis to Powder river. From that point the survey was made all the way through to Lander, but later it was said the building plans had been abandoned, as an agreement had been made with the Northwestern to use its tracks on a rental basis.

Early last fall this agreement was cancelled and the survey between the two points completed by the Burlington. With the information that the grading is to be done comes the additional news that the contractors are instructed to complete the line within the shortest possible time in order that the steel may be laid this year.

The new line runs close to the Northwestern all the way from Powder river to Orin Junction, and it is said that the Burlington intends to make Casper the big town. It has bought a large tract of land just outside the corporate limits of the city and will use it for terminals and shop grounds.

Benefit to Omaha. Among railroad men the opinion prevails that the construction of the Burlington's Wyoming line will be of great benefit to Omaha, for it will open a new and short route to the North Pacific coast, as well as placing all of central Wyoming in close connection with Omaha and the Omaha market.

It is about 120 miles across the country from Powder river to Orin Junction, where the Burlington will strike its own line, which, in conjunction with a short stretch of the Colorado Southern, another Hill road, gives a short cut to Omaha. The 120 miles to be built across Wyoming is through a comparatively level country, where the grade would be light. Railroad engineers who have been over the line say that if a large force is put on the road could easily be built and in operation inside of six months.

An Epidemic of Coughing is sweeping over the town and young and old are alike affected. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a quick safe reliable family medicine for coughs and colds. A. S. Jones, of Lee Pharmacy, Chico, Calif., says: "I consider Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has no equal, and is the one cough medicine I can recommend to my friends, as containing no narcotics or other harmful properties." Refuse all substitutes and take only Foley's Honey and Tar compound. For sale by all dealers everywhere.—Advertisement.
