INSURANCE BILL UNDER WAY

Cordell's Measure Being Considered by the Senate. (From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, March 12.—(Special.)—S. F. 264, Cordell's insurance bill, is under consideration in the senate, after a long debate on a motion of Hoagland of Lancaster to postpone consideration of the bill until Tuesday morning, which was voted down by the decisive vote of 21 to 11.

When the senate met this morning two house bills, 166 by Banks of Knox, relating to a joint resolution to ratify proposed amendment to the constitution regarding election of United States senators, and 65 by McKisack and Schupp regarding improvement of roads by use of inheritance tax were advanced to third reading.

In committee of the whole with the senators of Douglas in the chair, the senate took up consideration of S. F. 264, by Cordell of Red Willow, relating to changes in the insurance laws of the state. Hoagland of Lancaster moved that the bill be put over for special order for some day next week. Haarmann of Douglas moved a substitute that the bill be indefinitely postponed. This was discussed a few moments and Haarmann then withdrew his substitute motion for indefinite postponement saying that it was not his object to kill the bill. Hoagland of Lancaster then changed his motion to specify that the bill should be taken up Tuesday morning stating that the bill covers ninety-one pages and he had not had sufficient time to look it over and see just what it contained. Placek wanted to postpone the bill long enough to enable him to look over and prepare some amendments. Cordell jumped to his feet and demanding to know why the Saunders county senator, a member of the insurance committee, had only attended one meeting of the committee. Placek replied that he had been under the weather and was unable to attend. Yeasty of Jefferson grew eloquent over the position of the insurance lobby attempting to put over this bill for consideration. Cordell said pressure had been brought to bear upon him to do something which would put the bill out of the running. Grossman of Douglas said the bill contained ninety-one pages and added to that were nine pages of amendments. "Those amendments were placed in our files last night," said the senator, "and are to be expected to take them up on this short notice and give them the consideration which a bill of this kind demands." He wanted more time to study the amendments. Shunway of Dixon, a member of the insurance committee, said there was in attendance at most of the meetings, but was frank to say that even then he did not understand many of the provisions of the bill.

Gills of Valley, spoke of the able attorneys who had labored for months preparing a bill which would stand the test of the courts and then the bill had been considered by the insurance committee and insurance men of all kinds had had an opportunity to appear before the committee and make their showing. The amendments prepared by the committee were prepared to meet existing conditions and to meet the wants of those interested, who had appeared before the committee, and embodied the provisions needed without danger of harming the bill or depriving it of its power.

Maefarland of Douglas thought home companies ought to be protected and for that reason he did not want to take up consideration of the amendments until he had had time to study them. Placek said that there was a provision in the bill particularly which he did not like. "That provision makes the governor, attorney general and auditor a commission to enforce the provisions of the bill," said he. "We are passing a bill to conform to a constitutional amendment voted by the people creating a Board of Control to take on duties of these same officers because they have too much on their hands, and now we go to work and want to pile a lot more work on them. I do not think that such legislation is consistent."

Hoagland of Lincoln believed that there was an organized effort on the part of the insurance lobby to kill this bill, but he would have to vote against it in its present form. He wanted to amend some of its provisions and therefore would vote for his Uncle Henry's motion for postponement. Hoagland of Lancaster objected to the insinuation that the insurance lobby was influencing him in any way. He had a few amendments which he would like to offer and would like time to study them to see what they contained. Kemp said that some of the senators were afraid that the senate was trying to slip something over by considering this bill at this time. "What I am afraid of," said he, "is that the lobby is trying to slip something over and not the senate."

Following is the vote on the motion of Hoagland to postpone consideration until Tuesday:

SALESMAN USES REVOLVER WITH WHICH TO END LIFE

HASTINGS, Neb., March 12.—(Special Telegram.)—W. D. Howard of Council Bluffs, traveling salesman, committed suicide in his room at the Klein hotel last night by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. His dead body was found this morning when the landlord went to his room. Among his effects was $19.75 and a note in which the man had written: "Am in hard luck, crippled and with poor eyesight. I have no home and no money. There are a few obligations I wanted to meet long ago. I have asked God to forgive this and other sins."

FARWELL MAN ARRESTED IN OFFICE OF GOVERNOR

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, March 12.—(Special Telegram.)—Governor Morehead had a caller this morning who claimed that he had a complaint signed by 8,000,000 people of the United States against a hypnotic machine. The sheriff was sent for and the man was taken to the county jail. He said his name was Matthew Matigka, and that his home was at Farwell, Neb.

STRO G ENGINE HEADLIGHTS

Iowa Legislature Passes Measure for Electric Orbs. MUST PENETRATE 800 YARDS Vice Inquiry Will Be Broad One and Is to Be Taken Up by Commission After Adjournment of the Legislature.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, March 12.—(Special Telegram.)—The legislature today sent to the governor for signature a bill to compel railroad companies to equip all locomotives in use in general train service in Iowa with headlights sufficiently powerful to show plainly an object at 800 yards. This means that they must put electric headlights on all engines. The bill today passed the house unanimously and had but two votes against it in the senate.

Vice Inquiry Broad One. A conference was held in the office of the governor this afternoon to discuss methods of starting an inquiry into social conditions in Iowa, and it was virtually decided that the inquiry shall be much broader than merely one to inquire into the so-called white slave traffic. It is probable a commission will be appointed which will sit after the adjournment of legislature and make thorough investigation.

M'COMBS WILL REFUSE POST

Olney May Decline.

Intimations have been received in Washington that Richard Olney might decline the post of ambassador to Great Britain offered him by President Wilson. Friends with whom Mr. Olney had been in communication thought today that the veteran diplomat would not accept the post, because his law practice had become so extended that he did not feel it possible to abandon that work at the present time. No word had been received at the White House early today from Mr. Olney. Telegrams have been dispatched to him by many close friends of President Wilson urging him to accept. National Chairman McCombs was among those who said today that he hoped Mr. Olney would find it possible to take the embassy.

President Wilson sent these nominations to the senate today:

John Skelton Williams of Richmond, Va., assistant secretary of treasury, Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of navy, Beverly T. Galloway, assistant secretary of agriculture, Edwin F. Sweet of Grand Rapids, Mich., assistant secretary of commerce, James A. Edgerton of New Jersey, purchasing agent of the Postoffice department.

All were referred to committees.

Hopes for Aid of Progressives.

The hope of democratic leaders that they may swing many progressive republican votes in the senate in the tariff fight has the hearty approval of President Wilson. It became known today that Mr. Wilson expects to have a conference with Senator La Follette of Wisconsin within a few days and that conference with other progressives will follow.

The first conference with Senator La Follette will be over questions of patronage.

The president expects to discuss all Wisconsin appointments with him. It will be the first visit of Senator La Follette to the White House in several years.

Other republicans will be consulted about appointments in their states.

Conferences about appointments are probable to lead to attention to legislative questions where Mr. Wilson thinks the democrats and progressives can stand together.

SENATORS LEAS AND SHIELDS OF TENNESSEE and a delegation from that state today formally urged the president to appoint former Governor Benton McMillin to be ambassador to Mexico. They said the Tennessee democracy was unanimously in favor of the appointment.

TREASURY PLACE IS FILLED

John K. Williams of Richmond, Va., Appointed First Assistant. WASHINGTON, March 12.—John Skelton Williams, a Richmond, Va., banker, has accepted an offer to become assistant secretary of the treasury and his nomination is expected to be sent to the senate today, according to a White House announcement.

Mr. Williams was for a long time president of the Seaboard Air Line railway system and was actively identified with its creation. He probably will take charge of the fiscal bureau of the treasury.

Robert W. Woolsey, who has been selected as another assistant secretary of the treasury, will succeed Sherman Allen, in charge of the miscellaneous bureaus of the treasury, including the revenue cutter service, public health service, life-saving service and the selection of sites for public buildings.

SENATE ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

James P. Clarke of Arkansas Is Chosen President Pro Tem.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Senator James P. Clarke of Arkansas, democrat, was today elected president pro tempore of the senate. Senator Clarke received 41 votes, Senator Gallinger, republican, 35 and Senators Clapp and Bristow and Borah 1 each. Senator Clarke was immediately sworn in and presided over the senate during the election of other officers of the new congress.

The senate elected James M. Baker of South Carolina secretary, Charles I. Higgins of Missouri sergeant-at-arms, Forest J. Prentyman of Washington, D. C., chaplain, and Thomas W. Keller of West Virginia assistant doorkeeper.

Vice President Marshall retired while the senate chose its officials.

Senator Clapp voted for Senator Bristow. The vote for Senator Borah was cast by Senator La Follette.

The work of the democratic "steering committee" of the senate in assignment of new committee places practically was finished today.

A short session of a subcommittee this morning perfected reports to be made to a full committee later and the committee assignments probably will be submitted to a caucus of democratic senators tomorrow.

Speculation still existed today as to a number of most important chairmanships.

The bitter personal fight made by Senator Tillman for chairmanship of the appropriations committee left that position in doubt, although it was believed Senator Martin would be the choice of the "steering committee." The question will go before the democratic caucus in that event, with the certainty that Senator Tillman will renew his fight there. Senator Martin is in line for the chairmanship of the commerce commission, but should be given the other, it is understood Senator Clarke of Arkansas may take the commerce chairmanship. The naval affairs committee, to which Senator Tillman would be assigned if not given the appropriations committee, would otherwise fall to Senator Smith of Maryland.

The chairmanship of the new committee on banking and currency will go to Senator Owen of Oklahoma, according to authoritative information today.

Senator Stone, who was talked of for this place, will retain membership on other important committees and receive the chairmanship of the indian committee. It was reported today that Senator Kern, the democratic leader, probably would be chairman of the committee on privileges and elections.
