

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Downward Movement of Wheat Continued Unchecked Monday.

CORN HOLDERS ENCOURAGED

Advance in Price at Western Markets Give Traders Belief that Still Higher Prices Will Prevail.

OMAHA, March 18, 1933. The downward course of wheat was unchecked yesterday and another new low was reached.

The downward course of wheat was unchecked yesterday and another new low was reached. The Chicago market was that many of those who were rampant bulls around the dollar were to be seen on the bear side.

While those of a year ago showed that wheat holders throughout the greater crop producing sections of land were letting go of their grain because of the crop promise in the southwest, which was never exceeded at the season of the year.

Primary receipts were 74,000 bu., and shipments 402,000 bu., against receipts of 58,000 bu. and shipments of 388,000 bu. last year.

QUESTION OF STOCK INSURANCE

St. Patrick's Day Observed by Large Meeting at Which Arthur Mullens Is Orator—Charter Bill in Bad Shape.

Groundwork for another fight on the stock tariff was laid yesterday when the railroad served notice on the shippers.

Heretofore the roads have had a fixed rate of remuneration for the shipper whose stock or cattle was killed or injured while in transit.

If the present freight tariff is accepted by the shipper it means that the value according to loss of stock in transit is the value of the stock at the time of shipment.

St. Patrick's Day celebration in South Omaha concluded last night at the high school auditorium with Arthur Mullens as orator of the day.

The high school auditorium was filled with a program of music and song, interspersed with eloquent tributes to the Irish at home and abroad.

For the evening Arthur F. Mullens, an Omaha attorney, was the chief speaker. The following was the program: Welcome by chairman, Rev. James Aherne, company chaplain, Ancient Order Hibernians.

Speeches by Rev. D. W. Moriarty of Benson, local solo, Miss Mary Hallinan; Miss Lenora Moriarty, Miss Mary Moriarty, Miss Lenora Moriarty.
