MRS. EATON UNDER ARREST

Widow of Late Rear Admiral is Charged with Murder.

HIS DEATH DUE TO POISON

Officials Are Now Busy Trying to Ascertain Where the Drug Was Obtained—Statement by Prosecutor.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., March 20.—Mrs. Jennie Eaton was looked up in the county jail here today pending a hearing on the charge that she murdered her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, by poisoning him.

She was brought here from Hingham, where she had been arraigned earlier in the day following her arrest. Through her counsel she pleaded not guilty, waived the reading of the complaint and was held without bail for examination March 21.

It has not been determined whether the inquest into the sudden death of the admiral will be resumed. It was initiated tonight that Mrs. Eaton might not be brought to trial. The possible appointment of a commission to pass upon her sanity was suggested.

District Attorney Barker had a conference today in Boston with Chief Justice Aiken of the superior court. It was thought his errand might be in connection with the convening of a special grand jury to consider the case.

When Mrs. Eaton, who is a stout woman 46 years of age, entered the jail here she was dressed in the black suit she wore at her husband's funeral. A mourning veil partly hid her face. She had been weeping, but generally maintained the composure that has characterized her bearing from the first.

Died at His Home.

Admiral Eaton died in his bed at the home in Norwell, where he lived with his wife, her mother, Mrs. George Harrison, and his stepdaughter, Dorothy Almsworth. The death was unexpected and came, the other members of the family said, at an attack of indigestion, which followed a too hearty meal of roast pork.

Circumstances led to an investigation, and according to a statement by District Attorney Barker today, evidence of ar-senical poisoning was discovered by Prof. William F. Whitney, who analyzed the contents of the stomach. The formal report of Prof. Whitney has not been made and the arrest was ordered upon a verbal communication to the district attorney.

For ten days the authorities have known that the admiral died of arsenical poisoning and their efforts have been directed to finding where and by whom the poison was obtained and to laying bare the home life of the Eaton family.

In the first quest they have not been successful, the district attorney says. Along the second line of inquiry a wealth of evidence has been furnished by friends of the family and neighbors. The admiral and his wife, who was twenty years his junior, did not always agree. It is said, regarding those who should be received at their home.

son building, a group photograph of the Indians, Mr. and Mrs. Abbott and their two children was taken, the Indians being most particular in the proper set of their garments and the arrangement of their hair.

Valentine Sends Request. Senator Hitchcock received today a resolution of the Commercial club of Valentine urging upon congress the enactment of currency legislation during the session soon to convene.

Floyd Seybolt of Lincoln, formerly of Geneva was appointed national bank examiner today to fill a vacancy.

John T. Bressler of Wayne, Neb., is in Washington on a short visit.

Republican Plans. That the republicans in the west are much interested in the proposed national republican conference looking to the rehabilitation of the republican party was a statement made today by Senator Cummins of Iowa, who just returned from Washington. While he was away he met many politicians in Iowa and Illinois, all of whom spoke with enthusiasm over the plan of reorganizing the republican party.

Senator Cummins said he believed the call for the conference should not be postponed very long. It is his belief that the party has been reorganized by the republicans who left the old party and joined the progressive party will come back into the fold.

SUFFRAGISTS BURN MANSION

Militant Women Also Set Fire to Golf Club House.

ARSENAL TAKEN INTO COURT

Miss Olive Hocken is Placed on Trial on Charge of Burning Pavilion in Rockhampton Park.

LONDON, March 20.—Two "arsenal squads" of militant suffragettes succeeded in destroying £1,000,000 worth of property early today.

A squad burned down the country residence of Lady Amy White at Englefield Green, near the Thames. The other squad fired the buildings of the Golf Club at Weston-Super-Mare, a fashionable summer watering place in Somersetshire.

Lady White is the widow of Field Marshal Sir George White, the hero of Lady Smith in the Transvaal war. Her house was a big mansion standing in spacious grounds. The flames were discovered at 1 o'clock this morning and at that time had such a start that the efforts of the local fire brigade were hopeless.

Traces of oils and inflammable materials were found scattered about the house while around the grounds were papers inscribed "Stop Torturing Our Comrades in Prison!" "Votes for Women!" "By Kind Permission of Charles Hobhouse!" The last being a reference to the recent taunt of Chancellor Hobhouse that "Women lack the real revolutionary spirit of men who burn and sack in support of their cause."

Two women on bicycles were seen in the neighborhood half an hour before the fire was discovered. The house was unoccupied. The incendiaries of the golf pavilion also escaped. There are many suffragettes now in that neighborhood owing to a meeting of the National Teachers' conference at which Viscount Haldane, lord high chancellor, is scheduled to deliver an address.

Arsenal Taken Into Court. Miss Olive Hocken, the militant suffragette, who is charged with firing the pavilion of the Rockhampton Golf Club, appeared on trial today. Miss Hocken appeared to glory in the notoriety she had achieved. She stood in the prisoners' enclosure wearing a bright sash in the suffragette colors and smiled contentedly as the government lawyer detailed her activities in the field of arson and in the destruction of mail.

A large assortment of suffragette "weapons" was introduced as exhibits against Miss Hocken. Some of these were found in the militant suffragette "arsenal" in London on March 11. Others were from a grip sack alleged to have been dropped by Miss Hocken in her flight from the golf links. The list of exhibits included telegraph wire cutting apparatus, bottles of acids and corrosive fluids, hammers, flints, tools for forcing windows, false identification plates for automobiles, ropes, cotton wool, fire-lighters, candles, paraffine, a suit of workmen's overalls and a set of pole climbers.

"These women have now sunk to climbing telegraph poles," said the government counsel, Dr. Ely, as he called attention to the leg irons.

Among Miss Hocken's correspondence the government found a letter from Mrs. Pankhurst "openly inciting her followers to acts of lawlessness and outrage."

HOUSE MEMBERS KILL KECKLEY'S RATE BILL AFTER CLOSE VOTE

this legislature," said he "which will increase the salaries of the county officials $5,000 and I am opposed to any such waste of the people's money."

Who Pays Taxes. Dodge of Douglas wanted the senators to know that he was a taxpayer of Douglas county. "I pay more taxes in one year than Grossman has paid in his whole life."

"I could say the same thing," shouted Grossman. "If I had married a millionaire."

"I want this senate to understand that I have forgotten more about taxation than Grossman has ever known," retorted Dodge.

"I don't think it is fair that a man who has been unfortunate should be twitted of his poverty by this body," shouted Grossman, "and I object to such personal filings."

"I want to say that every cent I own has been gained by my own personal exertions," said the blond senator. "I came to Omaha a poor boy and what I have I have earned and none of it has been accumulated other than by my own hands."

At one time Grossman, Dodge and Macfarland were on their feet at the same time and the chair was compelled to call for order.

Placek Sarcasm. Placek said he did not live in Douglas county, but he believed that if the officials of that county needed their salaries raised that the county commissioners were the men who should be called upon to do it.

"The Omaha bunch come down here every session pleading for home rule," said the Saunders county senator, "and now here is a chance to put a little of that into effect and not be taking up the time of the senate asking for something they can take care of themselves and which is of no interest to the state outside of Douglas county."

Another bill which brought out considerable discussion and which was responsible for the weeping of the Dawes county statesman was business' bill providing that 10 per cent of wages were subject to garnishment.

Pleas for Poor Man. Grossman made a plea for the defeat of the bill, in the interests of the workmen who had a hard row to hoe. He said that an attorney for one of the wholesale firms of Omaha had frequently gone out to collect from some groceryman who had failed to pay the amount due the firm, but in many cases they had taken advantage of the exemption law of the state, which provided that 100 worth of goods were exempt and refused to pay the bill.

chance with the man who would take from him his wage.

Heavy of Jefferson also pleaded for the poor man, who had to depend upon a miserable wage, perhaps, to sustain himself and family.

Macfarland said: "In a lonely manger in far away Bethlehem, 1,913 years ago, was born a man who uttered those words which have been the motto of the world. Do unto others as you would that they should do to you. The poor man who has a wife and children to support is in need of the assistance of those more happily situated, and I do not believe that the law should be brought to bear to make him suffer. There are many poor workmen in Omaha who are owing me today, but I do not propose to go to them and make them suffer in order to help me out."

"If I could wipe from my eyes the tears that have gathered there while I have listened to the addresses of the three eloquent attorneys who have just spoken," said Reynolds of Dawes as he arose to his feet. "I would attempt in my feeble way to tell why I am in favor of this bill." The speaker said that there was no man who was honest and really tried to do what was right would ever be compelled to pay a bill if his circumstances were such that he could not.

Robertson of Holt moved an amendment that the garnishment only apply to debts incurred for food and clothing, which was adopted.

Macfarland moved to indefinitely postpone the bill.

Hoagland of Lincoln, moved to pass the bill over for a time and take up consideration of House Roll No. 151, a similar bill which had passed the house, which was carried, and the latter was immediately taken up and ordered engrossed for third reading after a motion by Macfarland to indefinitely postpone it was lost, 25 to 4. Grossman, Macfarland, Placek and Robertson voting against it, Dodge and Haarmann being absent.

It will do no harm to deny the tax payers a right to vote on a question which affects them, and their pocketbooks, materially. And he hopes also, to convince them that "Home Rule cuts no figure, even though a platform pledge and a democratic cry for years.

The fact that the Water board candidate for membership on the charter commission was overwhelmingly defeated, is not taken by him to mean a repudiation of the present Water board, but simply another argument why the Water board should not be left in the hands of the people who have to pay for it.
