

APPAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Henry C. Murphy Addresses Large Republican Meeting.

SAYS CANDIDATES ARE CAPABLE

"Pat" Martin and Perry Wheeler Speak in Glowing Terms of All the Republican Candidates.

An "enthusiastic and largely attended meeting" of the South Omaha Republican club was held last night at the club rooms, at which the candidates made short speeches. The club is taking an unusual interest in this year's election, especially the selection of two men to go out into the field for the vacancies on the Board of Education.

City Attorney Henry C. Murphy, candidate for re-election, presided over the meeting. He made a short talk, commending the republican party and the representatives they have in the field for public office, stating any one of them was capable of fulfilling the trust of the people.

Patrick Martin, candidate for nomination as city treasurer, and City Clerk Perry Wheeler, who is running for re-election, spoke in glowing terms of the republican candidates. Both men said they were confident the republican ticket would be victorious on election day.

On primary day the polls will be open from 12 o'clock noon until 3 p. m. While there is a law of long standing requiring the polls to remain open only during these hours at primary elections, except those in the fall of the year, it has never been enforced until the present time.

E. R. Lee, A. A. Wright and Fred Mauer were appointed as a committee to confer with the mayor and city council this evening in reference to the appointment of the election boards.

Man Asks for Aid. With his feet and hands nearly frozen and half dead from exposure, Walter Fleming of Oakland, Cal., crawled into the police station last night on his hands and knees and begged Night Jailer Bill Cordeiro to allow him to get warm.

He was given medical attention and a warm bed was provided him in the cell room. While the long exposure to the cold had greatly weakened him, his condition was not serious enough to send him to the hospital.

Fleming is on his way from Chicago to his home in California. He boarded a freight train in the western part of Iowa this afternoon and crawling into an empty car fell asleep. He did not wake up until late last night. He was so cold he could hardly get out of the car, which was on a siding in the yards. He managed to stagger up to the street viaduct and inquire the way to the police station. Two blocks from headquarters he became so weak he had to crawl on his hands and knees.

Employees Organizing. It is anticipated that the 5,000 packing house employees of South Omaha, who are being quietly organized by labor leaders, will ask for a higher wage scale about May 1. The organizers claim to be in touch at the present time with 2,000 employees and expect to have them all united by April 15.

Minimum Wage of 19 cents per hour for unskilled labor will probably be demanded. There are about 2,500 of this class. Twenty-five cents per hour will be asked for broken time. Skilled labor, paid at present between 25 and 35 cents per hour, is to be raised to from 30 to 40 cents per hour.

Six hundred women are now employed at a minimum wage of 15 cents. A 15-cent minimum is to be asked with 18 cents for broken time. The packers are aware of the movement, but expect no trouble. The students of the public schools are to take up the work of making South Omaha the city beautiful and an exhibit of pictures of the work being done in other cities by the school children along the line of home and school gardening will be shown at the high school auditorium tomorrow afternoon and evening and Saturday morning.

Omaha initiated the work several years ago and Lincoln is enthusiastic over this enterprise. Business organizations and civic leagues have given prizes to encourage the work. The business men in the city have already taken an interest in the work and say it will prove a great benefit to the city.

The store building in the Partridge block occupied by Yehout & Hediaka, hardware, is to be reconstructed with extensive improvements. The firm began business only a short time ago and has now found that the store room must be enlarged to accommodate the business, and the owner of the building, Mr. J. J. Partridge, has plans completed for an addition which will cost more than $100,000. Work upon the improvement will begin at once.

Mr. Partridge is one of Omaha's capitalists and has large holdings in both Omaha as well as Omaha. South Omaha people recognize Mr. Partridge as one of the heavy investors who always shows great faith in South Omaha property. In connection with the improvement Mr. Partridge said: "My South Omaha investments always have been more than satisfactory to me, and I always have found the results of my investments very attractive. The Partridge block is one of the finest business buildings in the city."

The Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. B. Thomas, 329 B street.

Miss Margaret Greenblatt is in Minneapolis visiting friends. Before returning home she will spend some time in New York City and Chicago.

The Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church will serve dinner at the church, Twenty-ninth and J streets, this evening from 5:30 to 7:30.

There will be a meeting of the literary department of the Mother's club Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Berry, 111 North Twenty-sixth street. The members are asked to bring reference books No. 8.

I wish to announce to my friends and to the citizens of South Omaha in general that within a week I will be out of the hospital and that I am still in the race for the republican nomination for Board of Education. Yours respectfully, A. H. Kern.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN BEG FRIEDMANN TO TREAT THEM

NEW YORK, March 20.—Four hundred women and children hemmed in the automobile of Dr. Frederick E. Friedman this afternoon, begging him to treat them for tuberculosis. The crowd surrounded the German physician outside the Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases, and a squad of police reserves had to be called to make a path for him to the hospital door.

Physicians from all parts of the United States earlier in the day gathered at the Mount Sinai hospital to watch Dr. Friedman administer his vaccine, but were refused admission. The only other medical men at the clinic were three representatives of the government, at whose request other physicians were excluded. The hospital authorities explained the government physicians feared that premature reports of the clinic would be made before they presented their official report to the government.

Dr. Friedman, it was said, had not made any request to have the others excluded.

CO-OPERATE ON KOSHER SHOP. Jews at Mass Meeting Decide to Fight High Meat Prices. DECLARE A COMBINE EXISTS. Local Kosher Markets, Speakers Say, Are Together on Prices—Meeting Called by Workmen's Circle, No. 173. A co-operative kosher meat market was decided upon last night at a mass meeting of Jews in the swaying B'nai Ansh Sholem synagogue, Twenty-fourth and Nicholas streets, as a means of reducing the present high prices. The meeting was called by the Workmen's circle No. 173, an organization of Jewish socialists, which became provoked at the announcement that koshered meat is to be advanced soon to 30 cents a pound, while a year ago it sold for 14 cents. The various kosher shops throughout the city were represented at the meeting and a fight was made against the co-operative plan. Arguments were advanced that Jewish consumers of meat could get it cheaper if they would help the butchers do away with the cost of delivery by coming to the shops. This plan was opposed by the socialists, who declared that kosher shops are too far apart and many customers would have to go too far after their meat. Finally a vote was taken and a majority of those present favored a co-operative market and pledged their support to it. Other meetings will be held in the near future to work out the details of establishing the market and keeping it on a business basis. It was said that such a shop could supply all the Hebrews of the city and the expense would be lessened partly by the employment of only one rabbi to kill the meats. At present, it was said, each kosher market hires its own rabbi and by combination this expense would be reduced. The butchers who talked against the co-operative plan were: S. Sabour, Twenty-fourth and Charles streets; H. Forel, Twenty-fourth and Indiana; L. Levenson, Twenty-fourth and Clark; and E. Fleishman of Fleishman & Co., South Omaha. L. Levenson, a rabbi and butcher, declared it impossible to reduce the price of meat. The commodity could be reduced, he said, if the consumers would take it without cutting bones and trimming. Several speakers declared there existed in Omaha a combine of the kosher markets and suggested a "strike," or boycott, on meats until the prices could be reduced. A majority was opposed to this and then came the proposition of co-operation. Those who promoted the co-operative plan were S. Agurek, A. Silver, A. Herman, S. Kenyon, M. Minkin and E. Jacobson. Minkin was chairman of the meeting. These told of the difficulties the Jews are having in getting meats at kosher prices. They alleged that the few kosher shops of the city were opposing them and holding up prices as effectively as a combine. The butchers, on the other hand, told of the difficulties and added expense of koshering meats that are not met by the Gentile shops. Since the Jews eat only the forequarters of beaves and mutton and on these certain surgical cuttings are necessary, such as the tedious removal of veins, the expense is higher than the Gentile butchers meet. These butchers also said in much detail for which the butchers have to pay. The speakers also declared there was no way out of the high prices by eating fish, since fish with scales, the only kind they may eat, are higher than other kinds, and also in these there is waste. Thugs Rob Snow, Injured on Walk. Taking advantage of an accident to C. F. Snow, a barber, living at 504 South Tenth street, two thugs fell upon him as he lay helpless on a sidewalk at Broadway near Twenty-seventh street, Council Bluffs, and after brutally beating him, robbed him of $90 and his watch. Snow reported the affair to the Omaha police last night, when he returned. He said he was waiting for a street car when he slipped on the icy pavement and as he fell, the men sprang upon him. He was able to give descriptions of the men and the Bluffs authorities were notified to keep on the lookout for them. Slippery pavements due to the fall in temperature after the rain yesterday, caused two accidents in Omaha last night. C. P. Maxwell, a bartender, living in Des Moines, fell at Thirtieth and Douglas streets, and as he did so his head struck a plate glass window. The falling glass made several cuts in his face and police surgeon C. B. Foltz was forced to take eight stitches. Edward Pilican of 1119 Douglas street, fell at Thirtieth and Leavenworth and was brought to headquarters for treatment. His injuries were slight.

VIADUCT MATERIAL COMES. Work to Be Pushed on Nicholas and Locust Streets. WILL PUT MANY MEN TO WORK. Construction Work is Expected to Begin Inside of Thirty Days—Nothing Done About the Dodge Street Structure. The Missouri Pacific has begun shipping in material for the Nicholas street viaduct and the work of clearing obstructions from the sides of the proposed bridge over the tracks will begin at once. It is expected that construction will begin inside of thirty days. According to the plans worked out, the Missouri Pacific will not wait for the completion of the Nicholas street viaduct before beginning work on the one along Locust street. Large gangs of men will be put on both viaducts and both will be rushed to completion. The Locust street viaduct will be the longer of the two. The west approach will begin but a short distance east of Sherman avenue and the bridge will extend more than a block east of the Standard Oil works. This is necessary in order to get the required elevation over the tracks along what would be Twelfth and Thirtieth streets were they extended.

LEADER OF BOX CAR THIEVES BELIEVED TO BE CAUGHT. WIDOW OF FAMOUS RABBI BURNED TO DEATH. DENVER, Colo., March 20.—Mrs. Elizabeth Arager, 86 years old, widow of Rabbi Solomon Arager, once a leader of the Jewish faith in the west, died this morning from burns received last night when she accidentally overturned a lamp in her apartments. The fire was discovered by two girls, Annie Jassart and Margaret Hansen, who broke into the blazing room and dragged the aged woman out, but too late to save her life.

Wife of U. S. Judge Leaves Strange Will. LOS ANGELES, March 20.—The will of Mrs. Ida Hancock Ross, wife of United States Judge Erskine M. Ross, filed for probate today, contains the unique provision that all of decedent's silverware and jewelry, one of the costliest collections in the state, be made into a monument for altar use in a Los Angeles Catholic church. It is directed that the silverware be "melted and remoulded as may be necessary and all my diamonds and other gold and precious stones shall be set in said monument." George Allan Hancock is made chief legate under the will, which disposes of an estate appraised at upward of $1,500,000. Numerous bequests are made to churches and charitable institutions. To Judge Ross, the husband, are given $6,000 shares in an Arizona mine of which little is known here and each servant in the Ross home receives $100. The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy. THE Village Sewing Circle met to gossip, in their little set, but one opinion seemed to hold despite the tendency to "scold." When vexing problems, such as say, "What shall we do on Cleaning Day?" confront the Housewife, she may feel that Gold Dust tackles them with zeal. The Envid Housewife. Staid matrons told of what a bore it was to scrub each dirty floor; young housewives thought that dishes claimed more worry than some others named. All uniformly took a "bit" from household work and argued it, while all in turn were loud in praise of what a part their Gold Dust plays. Those tasks which, anyway, are mean, decrease with Gold Dust on the scene. Those "Cost-of-Living" puzzles put the chairman of the club on foot. Said she:—"The Cost-of-Cleaning," too, should mean a mighty lot to you. If all of us combine, to buy those goods that have a "REASON WHY," ere long our husbands needn't fuss. They'll leave financing games to us. The pennies count, as you must know, and cleaning makes the pennies go. If Gold Dust cuts the toil in two and makes economy come true, why not adopt the "Cleaner way" and join the "Gold Dust Club" today? The Gold Dust Twins
