GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Statistics and Crop News Cannot Be Setn on Accourt of Wire Stress.

CONFINED ONLY TO ORDERS

Until Congested Conditions of Telegraph Wires is Cleared Away Nothing but Orders for Grain Will Be Sent.

OMAHA, March 35, 1913.

The wires tributary to the Omaha market are again in working order. The messages are confined strictly to orders. Statistics and crop news being completely ignored as the amount of business is enormous. Commission houses are seming orders into Chicago and other gratu points that were given to them two and three days ago. The congested condition will not likely be cleared up for two or three days more. The Omaha market showed signs of life yesterday and trading was quite spirited at times.

CATTLE—Cattle receipts were of very fair proportions and buyers had little occasion to complain of the quality of the offerings. Demand from both packers and shippers was somewhat larger than on Monday and Tuesday, but there was no inclination to make any stronger. was no inclination to pay any stronge prices, except perhaps in the case of strictly desirable light and handy-weight beeves. The heavy cattle, unless choice, were very slow sale at unimproved fig-

As usual of late the supply of lows and helfers was rather limited and with a good demand from local packers and outside butchers the trade was active as far as it went and prices were fully steady to a shade stronger. Bulk of fair to good butcher and beef stock is selling within a range of $6.5087.50, with nothing of any consequence over $3.00 or under $4.00. Veal calves were in good request and strong and the same was true as to and strong and the same was true as to buils, stags, etc.

Business in stock cattle and feeding steers continues very narrow. Both supply and demand have been comparatively light this week and there has been an easier tone to the trade right along. Choice fleshy feeders and good stock calves are firmly held, but there has Receipts and disposition of live stock at the Union Stock vards South Omaha.

LONDON STIMULATES ADVANCE

List Did Not Hold Long at the Opening Level and There Was Considerable Bear Sell-

NEW YORK, March 30.-Under the changed. Foreign markets were strong and there was decided upward pull on this market from abroad. On the other hand the domestic influence was weak-

Early bids were anywhere from weak to a nickel lower than yesterday's general trade and just about steady with the close. Salesmen were of the opinion that values at this point ought at least to be steady, so that the early trade was very slow, and in fact the market was more or less of a drag all the way through. In the end sellers were forced to cut loose at figures that were weak to as much as a lower than yesterday's average. Latter on in the day buyers became very indifferent as to whether they bought the remainder of the supply and in consequence the market came almost The assumption that the end of the Balkan war was nearer found a reasonse in the London market, where Americans were marked up considerably. Although this market did not respond fully to Lendon was a secretal advance stimus don, there was a general advance stimu-lated by liberal London buying.

AN OLD FRIEND IS JAILED The "Spanish Prisoner" and Intertional Touch Put Out of

The St. Louis branch of the Society for the Relief of the Spanish Prisoner is about to close its membership roll. The reason is that the Spanish prisoner is at last really in prison, and has not the facilities be formerly had for sending his offers of $160,000 easy money to St. Louisians and other Americans.

Cable dispatches from Madrid have brought the information that the Spanish authorities have concluded that the choice offerings included in the supply, the movement was rather slow all the morning. As usual of inte, lambs made up a very liberal proportion of the receipts, consequently such offerings moved more slowly than matured muttons, a complete clearance not being made until well along towards the noon hour. The bulk of the lambs were on the fed westmysterious Russian banker in a Spanish prison" is an undestrable citizen and have arrested fifteen men for conducting the prisoner's voluminous correspond-complete clearance not being made until well along towards the noon hour. The bulk of the lambs were on the fed western order and sold largely around $3.50. Yes one half warmed up grades sold on shearing account at $8.30. Aside from six cars of ewen shipped direct to a packer buyer, nothing else in that line arrived at the yards. It was the consensous of opinion in trade circles that if any fresh supplies of ewes had showed up, prices would have been on a basis finally steady with Tuesday. A hunch of fed western wethers held over from yesterday changed hands at $6.50. Nineteen cars, or some $4.500 head, constituted today's entire supply, this being about the same as the supply on Wednesday of last week, $4.00 head, constituted today's entire supply on Wednesday of last week, but, a little less than two weeks ago and one year ago. "You can procure a modest fortune, saving at the same time that of my darling daughter," is the sentence which is calculated to appeal to the cupidity, or the romantic nature, of the recipient. The part of the story which says that the hidden money is in America is a variation introduced in the last year or so. The Spanish prisoner letters of two or three years ago used to intimate that 700 souths the money was in Spain or England, > HOOKING UP THE DRESS A Stupendous Feat of Engineering Which is Scoffed at by the Triflers.

Life for married men nowadays is just one damned hook after another. You pause in the midst of your second shave in twelve hours with the lather that will not dry on the face doing so, to wrestle with Polly's hooks and eyes. You cuss Lady Duff Gordon for the devilish flaps and cross bitching and over and under lairs that you only begin to master, as the gown is about to be discarded. When you cannot find at partner for a certain young book you surreptitiously hook him onto a hunk lace or a row of insane glass beads, without a halt in the rhythm lest Polly suspect!

And when a hook hange back and refuses to meet a willing eye across the two-lnch chasm you grunt and mutter. "Gee, you must be getting larger!" or, Why the deuce don't you pull those strings tighter so this dress will meet?" By the way, why is it that in momenta of emontional stress men will forget that they are "gowns" or "frocks" and not

There was no possibility of fraud. The doctor and his friends saw to that. Whatever the little girl did she did through unexplainable mental gifts. "Little Miss Miller undoubtedly has Beulah and her sister, Gladys, who is three years her senior, are visiting the home of a woman friend of their mother in this city for a week or so. This woman went with the two little girls "o Dr. Quacker.bos' home, 331 West Twentyeighth street. Neither doctor nor reporter had seen Beulah before.

The youngster, a slim, blue-eyed, brown-haired child, was so normal that she knelt on the seat of a subway train on the way uptown to look out upon the stations; and, before her crosstown journey, gazed with proper provincial awe at the Metropolitan tower, than which there could be nothing higher in her immature belief.

In Dr. Quackenbos' home, after a little onversation, in which Beulah gigglingly told her name and age and described har pet dogs and cats up in Warren, a pask of playing cards was produced. There were present while these were being shuffled Dr. Charles Nathan of Brooklyn, Dr. Quackenbos, his office nurse, is daughter, the hostess of the two Miller children, the World reporter and Gladys Miller.

Little Beulah was sent to the rear end of the library, where she might gaze out upon the backyard, while her hostess arranged the cards in rows. While her back was still turned Beulah was asked how many rows there were. "Three," she said, without nesitation.

The answer was correct. Then Dr. Quackenbos selected at caniom a card, showed it to the others of the company, buried it in the pack and asked Beulah to name it.

"It was a sing," she said. that right, huh? A king?" When told that thus far she was corect, she studied for a minute or so. and then said: "It was black, too. Wasn't it black, huh? It was a king of clubs.

That, indeed, was the card. But her feat in calling it off, the doctor said, wasn't particularly unusual. It was The merely a case of thought transference. Every one in the room except Beulah Guaranhad seen the card, and had held the teed vision of it in their minds. The Borrowing Neighbor.

Did you ever have one of those back-door neighbors who was always sending in to borrow a pinch of this and a dab of that—nothing important, but a lot aunoying? A neighbor of ours had such a neighbor and she tells us about this little incident. The other day her neighbor's little girl came in and said: "Can mamma borrow a half pound o' butter an' four eggs an' a few raisins?" Now, our friend—the one who told us this—was busy, and she answered: "No, I haven't any of those things." But an hour later she herself knocked on the borrowing neighbor's door and the borrowing neighbor's door and "I was busy when your little girl called, but here is the cake you wanted."

It was a delictous cake, containing some butter, some eggs, and raisins Cleveland Plain Dealer. Results of Spring Training Games.
